BRITISH OPEN SILESIAN DRIVE

ULSTER OPENS IRELAND'S FIRST HOME CONGRESS

Parliament Meets in Belfast.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]

BELFAST, June 7.—A nation was born here today when in the new Belfast city hall the members of the new parliament of northern Ireland—the first home rule parliament—met and organized, elected Maj. Hugh O'Neill speaker, and started six of the thirty-two counties of Ireland on a self-governing career.

It was all very drab and business-like, as befitted organization of a parliament to represent this progressive business community—a community which, despite its passionate loyalty to the British empire, has always despised ceremonial trappings and the pomp of royalty.

Affair Purely Formal.

It was just an assembly of business men gathered to take charge of their own affairs. Even in the streets the same business air was noticeable. Most of the flagstaffs flew the Union Jack, but there was no extravagance in the decorations. The crowd in the street was small.

Perhaps there was something about the fact that the British viceroy, Viscount Fitzalan, who came to represent the king is a Catholic, which dampened enthusiasm. At any rate there was not a single cheer as the viceroy and vicerine drove through the streets to the city hall.

Parliament Is Seated.

Inside the city hall there was the same sober atmosphere. Parliament met in the oak paneled council chamber, which was lent by the Belfast corporation for the occasion. The lord mayor's chair was used as the viceroy's throne, and another chair at the end of a long table was used by the speaker after his election.

Only forty of the fifty-two members were present. The absent twelve were Nationalists and Sinn Feiners who refuse to recognize the partition of Ireland, and therefore are not taking active parts in the Ulster parliament. Instead they will go to Dublin to sit on Dail Eireann, the revolutionary parliament, which claims to represent the whole of Ireland.

Soldiers in Evidence.

Outside the city hall cordons of soldiers were posted with fixed bayonets long before the meeting hour. There were rumors last night that the Sinn Fein would attempt interference and the authorities took no chances.

Inside armed police were posted on the stairs and the corridors giving onto entrances to the council chamber.

When the stage was set for the meeting, Sir James Craig, Ulster's premier designate, seated himself at the table with H. M. Pollock, who is to be his chancellor of the exchequer, and E. A. Archdale, another minister designate.

The Most Rev. Charles Frederick D'Arcy, the Protestant primate of all Ireland and archbishop of Dublin, sat opposite the premier and beside Arthur Irwin Dasent, who was elected clerk of the imperial parliament, in his wig and gown.

Archbishop Reads Prayers.

On the stroke of 11:30 o'clock Archbishop D'Arcy read prayers for the king and for the success of the new parliament.

Then the viceroy entered at the head of a short procession and took his seat on the throne to read the proclamation summoning the parliament. He then declared the first business was election of a speaker, after which the viceroy left the chamber.

Mr. Dasent then pointed silently at William Coote, member for Fermanagh and Tyrone, who nominated Maj. Robert William Hugh O'Neill, descendant of famous O'Neills of Ulster, for speaker. The nomination was seconded by Neil McGuffin, a Belfast labor leader, and Maj. O'Neill accepted in a short speech full of feeling and dignity. No vote was taken, as none was necessary, as it was evident Maj. O'Neill was the unanimous choice of the assembly.

Viceroy Approves Election.

When the viceroy reentered, Maj. O'Neill reported to him as representative of the king his election as speaker and in a dignified speech laid claim to all the powers and privileges of the members of the legislative body which it was his duty to defend.

The viceroy then gave formal approval of the election, announced it was necessary for all members to take the oath of allegiance, and withdrew.

Then, after a long wait, an impressive scene occurred when following

Policeman, in Peace Role, Is Shot to Death

One policeman was killed last night and another locked in a cell with his brother, who is being held for murder, as the result of a drunken brawl. Policeman Joseph Kurtz, 924 West Thirty-fifth street, was shot and killed by Louis Brinzing, 618 Barber street, when Kurtz and his partner, Policeman James F. Hennelly, sought to end the fight in which Brinzing and his brother, Policeman Arthur Brinzing, who was off duty, were pommeling a citizen at Seventeenth and Canal streets.

Kurtz had been on the force but thirty days. He had no uniform and was traveling in civilian clothes with Hennelly, who was in uniform. They came upon the sght in which the Brinzing brothers were engaged and Kurtz and Policeman Brinzing grappled.

Calls to Men to Stop Fight.

Hennelly recognized Officer Brinzing and called to him that Kurtz was also a policeman. He also informed Kurtz who his adversary was and told both to stop fighting. He had seized Louis Brinzing about the waist to restrain him.

Louis reached into his pocket and drew out an automatic pistol. He fired once at Kurtz, who was still attempting to subdue the other policeman, the bullet striking him in the breast. Hennelly than disarmed Louis. The stranger with whom the Brinzings were fighting got away in the melee. None could tell the man's name.

Hennelly took Policeman Brinzing and his brother to the Maxwell street station, where they were locked up. Both were under the influence of liquor, according to Lieut. Ira J. McDowell.

Dies on Way to Hospital.

Jerry J. Memec, 553 West Sixteenth street, driving by in an automobile, rushed Policeman Kurtz to the County hospital, but he was dead before it was reached. The body was taken to the county morgue and Nemec returned to the police station to report the death. He said he did not see the quarrel or the shooting. No one was found who knew the cause of the quarrel.

Policeman Brinzing lives at 618 Barber street. He has been on the force about six months and also is attached to the Maxwell street station.

CONSCIENCE OF MAN MAKES HIM CLEAR UP DEATH

An inquest in the Shakespeare avenue station was drawing to a close yesterday. The jury was about to return an open verdict in the death of George Noonan, an electrician, who lived at 3700 Fullerton avenue. Walter Hirschberg, owner of the saloon at 3435 Fullerton avenue, in front of where Noonan's body was found Saturday night, was about to put on his hat to depart.

A man rushed into the room. He cried, "Wait a minute; I have something to tell."

The coroner's assistant restored order and placed the man, Charles E. Hall, 2325 Sawyer avenue, on the stand.

"I have not been able to sleep since Saturday night," he said. "I knew that witnesses would come here and tell the story that Hirschberg found Noonan's body in front of the saloon, and was not to blame for the death, but my conscience has been bothering me.

"The fact is that Hirschberg and Noonan had an argument. There was a fight and Noonan was pitched out on the sidewalk. He died at the Alexian Brothers' hospital a short time later of skull fracture."

Hirschberg and others in the saloon at the time had testified that Noonan had been discovered on the sidewalk when the saloon man opened the door. After Hall's testimony the inquest was postponed until tomorrow and Hirschberg was placed under arrest on a charge of manslaughter.

SMALL WOULD DESTROY STATE CIVIL SERVICE

Backs the Wheeler Bill Abolishing It.

Springfield, Ill., June 7.—[Special.]—Gov. Small, in a formal statement issued tonight, declared himself strongly in favor of Senator Wheeler's bill introduced this morning. The announced purpose of this bill, as stated by its author on the senate floor, is "to kill state civil service."

"If there is any other job that any of you can think of that I can put in this bill, tell me and I will put it in," the senator said.

He tried to have the bill sent to second reading without committee conference, but this was defeated through the efforts of Senators Barbour and Sadler, and the bill went to the civil service committee.

It is reported that Senator Kessenger is rounding up votes for this bill and it is said the organization has slated Kessenger for state treasurer.

The Governor's Statement.

Gov. Small's statement tonight is a complete defense of the Wheeler bill. It follows:

"I pledged the people that I would do my best to secure for them a dollar's worth of service for every dollar spent.

"To accomplish this purpose, state employés must be loyal to the people, efficient and competent. This administration proposes to employ only those who so qualify. No employé who gives honest, conscientious service need fear losing his or her position. Incompetency, however, must be weeded out.

"Experience has shown that the civil service law has not in all cases aided in attaining that end. The last administration found it impossible to enforce the civil service law and permitted managing officers of state institutions to select practically every employé outside the civil service.

Says Experience Counts.

"From practical experience I know that real experienced farmers will manage the state farms more successfully and grow greater crops for the state than young, inexperienced men.

"I know that a real experienced miner, who received his schooling underground, will save more human lives and more valuable property as a mine inspector than a mere student, without practical experience, whose civil service mark might be 100.

"It has been repeatedly charged, and never doubted, that the cement trust aims to place in every highway department in the United States as civil service employés its secret agents who will serve its purposes.

"I believe that in building cement roads the state should be able to avail itself of the service men who are willing to work, who know how to build roads, and who will co-operate with state officials rather than with the cement trust.

Destroys Right of Selection.

"If our public utilities commission is to reduce excessive rates it will be necessary to have the best engineers and the best accountants that it is possible to get. The man we will need cannot be secured through civil service examination.

"When administrative officials are denied the right of selection as between applicants for employment in the public service, it becomes difficult, if not impossible, to fix responsibility for failure should failure result. Team work and co-operation spell success for any joint undertaking.

"I believe we should not keep upon the statute books laws which cannot be enforced. If laws are impracticable and wrong, they should be repealed or amended."

STATE TROOPS CALLED TO END KENTUCKY FEUD

Barbourville, Ky., June 7.—State troops were called out here tonight to stop a threatened outbreak following a fight today in which William Lee of Upper Knox county was shot and killed by Bart Reid, former army officer.

Meanwhile John Bailey, who, on April 7, was credited with renewing the feud of twenty years between the Bailey and White families when Beverly White was shot and killed in Knox county, remains in jail in Louisville.

Judge Asks for Troops.

Frankfort, Ky., June 7.—Adjt. Gen. Jackson Morris this afternoon ordered Maj. James K. Gillion of London to take a detail of soldiers to Barbourville, where the White-Bailey feud is reported to have broken afresh.

Canadian Presbyterians to Unite with Methodists

Toronto, Ont., June 7.—The Presbyterian general assembly late today decided on union with the Methodist and Congregational churches of Canada by a vote of 410 to 94.

Leaders of the movement predicted that the actual union would not take place for three years, owing to the necessity of passing special federal and provincial legislation to satisfy the transfer of church properties.

HOLD UP TAVERN; ROB 100 GUESTS AND TILL OF $16,000

Thugs Terrorize Roads Northwest of City.

Two bands of robbers operated in suburbs northwest of the city last night, terrorizing motorists and tavern customers.

A hundred patrons of the Lincoln Tavern in Morton Grove late in the night were robbed by six auto robbers, who, after cutting the telephone wires, at the point of revolvers forced men and women to hand over their money and jewelry. The Evanston police reported the total loot might reach $16,000.

While four of the robbers stood guard the other two went through their victims. Jack Huff, owner of the tavern, was lined up against the wall with his patrons.

Carry Away Cash Register.

The robber leader, finding he could not open the cash register, said to have contained $2,800, carried it to the car. The others backed out and all sped away.

Mrs. Huff ran to the telephone exchange and called for the Evanston police, who notified the detective bureau. Squads from the bureau and patrol wagon from north side station were sent out in the hope of capturing the robbers.

Four Other Robberies.

Nine armed men in an automobile, believed to have been stolen, robbed auto parties on the road south of Wheeling during the night. They are known to have committed four robberies. The first man to make a report said he was from Chicago, but gave no name. He said he had been robbed of $60.

In the other robberies several women were forced to remove their diamond rings and men were compelled to hand over their money.

TAXI MEN FIGHT IN LOOP; SEVERAL HURT, ARRESTED

A Yellow taxi driver was struck on the head with a jack handle; several Yellow and Checker chauffeurs received bloody noses, cut lips and blackened eyes; several were arrested, and a few cabs were damaged in last night's battle among rival cab drivers.

The warfare, which has been going on for some time, centered around the Hotel Sherman and the police had to ride their horses onto the sidewalks several times to keep back the crowds of spectators.

The jack handle victim was Kubetz, 1912 North Nebraska avenue. Louis Dann, 1641 South Spaulding avenue, a Checker chauffeur, was arrested on a charge of assault.

Daniel Cohen, a Checker chauffeur, also was held. Abraham Katz, said to be a Yellow superintendent, was booked for alleged violation of the Sadler act.

Several times the police forced the cabs from the front of the hotel. They circled the block and came back. After several hours of these tactics the warfare was abandoned without further casualties.

SECRET COUP TO STOP RAIDS BY POLISH REBELS

Hurl Troops Across Invaders' Lines.

[Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable.]
[Copyright: 1921.]

OPPELN, June 7.—At 10 o'clock tonight the British started a big push against Korfanty's Polish insurgents in an earnest effort to cut the Gordian knot of the Upper Silesian mess by drastic independent action.

After a clever strategic feint of sending small bodies of British troops by train through the late Polish line at Gross Strelitz to Gleiwitz, in apparent defiance of the French high command in Upper Silesia, the British commander in chief, Gen. Henniker, late tonight hurled thirty-two lorry loads of Black Watch Highlanders, more than 700 fighting men, in a surprise night attack against Rosenberg, twenty-five miles northeast of Oppeln.

The Highlanders should be entering surprised Rosenberg at this writing.

Expect Quick Success.

No word has reached here as yet that the momentous operation has been carried successfully, but no doubt of its success is entertained in well informed circles here.

Of course, there is a possibility the Poles may fire in the dark on the British, mistaking them for Germans, but in an eventuality the Highlanders' orders were to occupy Rosenberg, peacefully if possible, by storm if inevitable.

The Poles were not notified in advance of the English troops coming; in fact, so secretly was the operation planned and troop concentration completed that it is understood the French general staff is being caught napping.

The occupation of Rosenberg initiates a big flanking and frontal push having as its objective to rid Upper Silesia of Polish insurgents, restore police power, and government to lawful wielders under the Versailles treaty, namely: the inter-allied plebiscite commission.

BRITISH ADVANCE LINES

OPPELN, Silesia, June 7.—[By the Associated Press.]—Detachments of the Royal Irish infantry, the first British troops to cross the lines established by Polish insurgents in Upper Silesia, detrained at Gleiwitz yesterday. They assumed control of the city, and will be in charge of the garrisoning and policing of the place in future.

As the troops, consisting of one battalion, with full field equipment, entered Gross-Strehlitz, northwest of Gleiwitz, it encountered the first Polish outposts. Machine guns had been trained on the station by the Poles, but when the British appeared the Poles withdrew and were not seen again. One French officer, accompanied by a number of French noncommissioned officers, accompanied the British.

ALLIES IN HARMONY

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, June 7.—[By Wireless.]—The first real proof of an Anglo-French split over Upper Silesia came today when Quai d'Orsay announced that Prime Minister Lloyd George had rejected Germany's offer to send troops into the plebiscite region to reinforce the interallied contingents.

"The allied forces in Upper Silesia soon will be strong enough to stamp out the present outbreaks, and as a result acceptance of the German proposals to reinforce the British troops would only result in increasing rather than diminishing the difficulties of the situation," was the sharp reply of Downing street to Wilhelmstrasse.

Use of Reichswehr.

Announcement of the British reply is the first intimation that Chancellor Wirth actually asked permission to send the reichswehr into Upper Silesia, despite Premier Briand's statement such an action would constitute a cause for war, in the French viewpoint.

Mr. Lloyd George's refusal to accept support of the German troops marks a reversal of the attitude of the British, who furthermore have accepted the French advice to delay the meeting of the supreme council until the Upper Silesian situation is clarified and comprehensive reports are received from the interallied mission at Oppeln.

The French reply accepts postponement of the conference, and June 20 or 25 is mentioned as a probable date.

Packers File Plea to Slash Workers' Pay

Approximately 60,000 workers in the packing industry are affected by a petition filed yesterday by Attorney James G. Condon for the packers asking that a reduction in wages be permitted. Judge Samuel Alschuler, the arbitrator agreed upon by the employers and employés, probably will hold a hearing on the petition this week.

The request is for a reduction of 5 cents an hour for hour workers and a proportionate cut for piece workers, effective on June 19.

About two-thirds of the packers come under what is known as the Alschuler agreement. It is the claim of Attorney Condon that those packers not in the agreement have already made wage reductions and he gives this as one reason that those in the agreement must reduce wages in order to compete with the others.

The petition states that changed economic conditions have resulted in giving labor an inordinate portion of what it is producing and that it should be willing to coöperate in bringing about a readjustment.

Commenting on the petition, G. F. Swift Jr., vice president of Swift & Co., said:

"There must be a normal relationship between prices, wages, and profits. Data and statistics in the brief filed before the arbitrator show that the return which labor gets from industry is so large as to work injury to the other factors of the business—the farmer, the consumer, the investor."

BLOODHOUNDS TO TRAIL SLAYER OF TENNESSEE GIRL

Kingsport, Tenn., June 7.—This town, electrified by the murder of Elsie Lawson, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lawson, tonight awaits apprehension of her slayer. Plans to trail him include the use of bloodhounds, which have been ordered from Johnson City, Tenn., and Pulaski, Va. Pending arrival of the dogs, no one was allowed to touch the body, and crowds were kept away from the spot where she had fallen.

The body was found practically nude under the bleachers of the baseball park here early today. Her head had been crushed, apparently with a short, heavy stick of timber, which lay near the body.

Youth Is Arrested.

Bristol, Va.-Tenn., June 7.—Ewen Quillin, 19, is held in the Erwin, Tenn., jail tonight in connection with the murder of an 11 year old girl at Kingsport, Tenn. Quillin was captured near Kingsport this afternoon when bloodhounds followed a trail from the ball park to his home. He was taken to Johnson City, but fear of mob violence led to his removal to the jail at Erwin.

A Negro also was arrested today in connection with the murder.

JUNE QUOTA UP, SO IMMIGRANTS STAY ON SHIPS

New York, June 7.—Nearly 1,500 Italian immigrants tonight were marooned on steamers here because their country's June quota under the new restrictive immigration law had been exhausted.

Commissioner of Immigration Wallis said he feared that this congestion would lead to an epidemic of sickness as well as great discomfort unless congress enacted emergency legislation.

Commissioner Wallis advocated deducting the excess number of immigrants now here from Italy's July quota of 8,400.

Draggist, Facing Torture by Hot Iron, Yields Opium

Three young men desired drugs so badly last night that they threatened to torture a druggist with a red hot iron bolt. The druggist, J. P. Golienski of 2633 West 47th street, gave them three pounds of opium, heroin, and morphine.

The men had taken $400 and had carried out three cases of whisky. Then they demanded drugs.

Golienski told them he had none. One stood guard while others searched the store. It was only when one of them began to heat an iron bolt over an alcohol lamp that the druggist surrendered.

Pershing Says Harding Is Working for Disarmament

Lincoln, Neb., June 7.—Gen. John J. Pershing, chief of staff of the United States army, declared here tonight before the State League of Women Voters that he prefers limited armament to disarmament. He quoted President Harding as follows:

"I am authorized by the President to say that if we could secure a concord of nations he would be happy to lift the burden of excessive armament," the general said. "He told me that he had taken steps through diplomatic channels to get the thing started with that end in view."

HUGHES' NOTE WARNS MEXICO TO RESPECT U. S.

No Recognition if Seizures Go On.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., June 7.—[Special.]—Mexico, to obtain recognition by the United States, must enter into a treaty of amity and commerce in which she will guarantee American property rights within Mexican territory against confiscation.

Secretary Hughes, following cabinet discussion of Mexican relations today, made public the administration's policy which calls upon President Obregon for a showdown as to the exact intent of the Mexican constitution of 1917, with respect to property acquired by Americans and other foreigners within its borders prior to that enactment.

If Obregon will agree to the proposed treaty Mexico will automatically acquire recognition by the United States and a restoration of international relations.

It was this proposed treaty which George T. Summerlin, American chargé d'affaires in Mexico, took to President Obregon two weeks ago.

Hughes Outlines Policy.

In his statement Secretary Hughes said:

"The fundamental question which confronts the government of the United States in considering its relations with Mexico is the safeguarding of property rights against confiscation. Mexico is free to adopt any policy which she pleases with respect to her public lands, but she is not free to destroy without compensation valid titles which have been obtained by American citizens under Mexican laws.

"A confiscatory policy strikes not only at the interests of particular individuals but at the foundations of international intercourse, for it is only on the basis of the security of property validity possessed under the laws existing at the time of its acquisition that commercial transactions between the peoples of two countries and the conduct of activities in helpful cooperation are possible.

Protection Is Vital.

"This question should not be confused with any matter of personalities or of the recognition of any particular administration. Whenever Mexico is ready to give assurances that she will perform her fundamental obligation in the protection both of persons and of rights of property validly acquired there will be no obstacles to the most advantageous relations between the two peoples.

"This question is vital because of the provisions inserted in the Mexican constitution promulgated in 1917. If these provisions are to be put into effect retroactively, the properties of American citizens will be confiscated on a great scale. This would constitute an international wrong of the gravest character, and this government could not submit to its accomplishment. If it be said that this wrong is not intended, and that the constitution of Mexico of 1917 will not be construed to permit, or enforced so as to effect, confiscation, then it is important that this should be made clear by guarantees in proper form. The provisions of the constitution and the executive decrees which have been formulated with confiscatory purposes, make it obviously necessary that the purposes of Mexico should be definitely set forth.

Must Forget 1917 Manifesto.

"Accordingly, this government has proposed a treaty of amity and commerce with Mexico, in which Mexico will agree to safeguard the rights of property which attached before the constitution of 1917 was promulgated. The question is not one of a particular administration, but of the agreement of the nation in proper form which has become necessary as an international matter because of the provisions of its domestic legislation. If Mexico does not contemplate a confiscatory policy, the government of the United States can conceive of no possible objection to the treaty.

"The proposed treaty also contains the conventional stipulations as to commerce and reciprocal rights in both countries. It also provides for the conclusion of a convention for the settlement of claims for losses of life and property, which, of course, means the prompt establishment of a suitable claims commission in which both countries would be represented, in order to effect a just settlement. There is also a provision for a just settlement of boundary matters.

Recognition Will Follow.

"The question of recognition is a subordinate one, but there will be no difficulty as to this, for, if Gen. Obre-gon is ready to negotiate a proper treaty, it is drawn so as to be negotiated with him, and the making of the treaty in proper form will accomplish the recognition of the government that makes it.

"In short, when it appears that there is a government in Mexico willing to bind itself to the discharge of primary international obligations, concurrently with that act its recognition will take place. This government desires immediate and cordial relations of mutual helpfulness, and simply wishes that the basis of international intercourse should be properly maintained.

"Accordingly, on the 27th of May last, Mr. Summerlin, American charge d'affaires at Mexico City, presented to Gen. Obregon a proposed treaty covering the matters to which reference has been made. The matter is now in the course of negotiations, and it is to be hoped that when the nature of the precise question is fully appreciated the obstacles which have stood in the way of a satisfactory settlement will disappear."

U. S. Women to Visit Mexico.

New York, June 7.—The women's international chamber of commerce will participate in the international trade congress of chambers of commerce to be held in Mexico City June 20 to 26, it was announced today. Invitations for the women to attend were received both from the Mexican government and from the confederation of Mexican chambers of commerce.

Mrs. Kathrine Clemons Gould, president of the women's international chamber of commerce, accompanied by other officers, will leave Washington for Mexico City on June 12.

MEXICAN KILLS AMERICAN.

Guadalajara, Mexico, June 7.—[United Press.]—J. H. Hunken, one of the most widely known American railroad men in Mexico, was shot and probably mortally wounded by a maniac today at Irapuato, according to advices from that city. Hunkin was superintendent of the Durango division of the Mexican Central railroad. He was attacked by an insane man interned in a private car, and was shot twice through the head.

G.O.P. COMMITTEE TO ELECT ADAMS CHAIRMAN TODAY

Washington, D. C., June 7.—[Special.]—Members of the Republican national committee arriving here for the session tomorrow which will elect John T. Adams of Iowa chairman, to succeed Will Hays, are filled with one idea from the folks back home. Everywhere committeemen gathered today, and particularly when they were in contact with members of congress the subject under discussion was taxation and alleviation of the burdens on the people.

"Out our way," was the invariable comment of committeemen when members of congress asked about conditions, "the people want to know how congress is getting along with reducing the taxes."

PUEBLO RALLIES AND BEATS OFF HUNGER, DISEASE

Food Plenty, No Contagion, Everybody Works.

Pueblo, Colo., June 7.—[By the Associated Press.]—Pueblo made strides today in its recovery from Friday's disastrous flood, which killed a large number of people and caused a property loss of from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000.

There is plenty of food; shelter has been provided in a refugee camp to relieve the congestion in churches, schools, and private homes, and an army of men has been at work clearing the streets of debris, removing dead animals, and clearing out buildings.

Part of the city is again electrically lighted. The gas company has preparations nearly complete for supplying gas. The city water plant is functioning, and tomorrow a water purifier will provide 5,000,000 gallons of water daily.

Combat Contagion.

Dr. John C. Cornell of the United States public health service says danger of contagious and infectious diseases is remote, despite the fact that hundreds of bodies of horses, cattle, and hogs are decaying in the flood swept area. Only two cases of diphtheria have developed, according to the health service, which has made a house to house canvass. This is attributed to the fact that the floods virtually wiped out the poorer residence district.

Additional troops tonight are on the way from Boulder and vicinity. Trucks, wagons, mules, drivers, and equipment have been ordered from Fort D. A. Russell at Cheyenne and from Fort Sam Houston, Tex. Knowledge that congressional aid is assured has given a new air of confidence.

Entire City Put to Work.

The military order compelling all able bodied men to work brought out today an army of laborers to unload trucks of food, carry blankets and transport cots and equipment to the new camp for refugees, besides shoveling mud and débris, carting it away all day from the flooded district.

The city has been remarkably free from lawlessness under the circumstances. Only a few arrests have been made. Occasional shots have been fired, but the only fatality from this source, occurring last night, was the mysterious death of E. E. Withers, prominent business man. It was found that there was no patrol on the corner where the shooting took place and the shooting remains wholly unaccounted for.

Partial resumption of railway service between here and Colorado Springs made possible transportation of food supplies and troops into the city. No general resumption of railway service, however, will be possible for weeks, railroad officials said. Permission has been obtained to carry the D. & R. G. railroad's tracks through Mineral Palace park temporarily.

At a meeting of the heads of the various departments of relief which are functioning under the supervision of the Red Cross chapter, a civilian committee of twenty citizens of Pueblo was appointed to assist in the coördination of relief work.

GREAT PUEBLO FLOOD AS SEEN FROM AIRPLANE

Looking north over the flooded city of Pueblo—In the right background is seen Fountain creek, swollen and overflowing its banks, adding to the tremendous flood of the Arkansas river. The water covered the peppersauce bottoms to a depth of 20 feet or more, sweeping houses and railroad cars before it. In the left center of the picture is shown the railroad bridge, with only one span remaining.

OFFICIAL LIST OF DEAD

Forty-two bodies of flood victims were in the morgues tonight. Five additional bodies were recovered, one of the unidentified bodies was identified and some of the discrepancies in the lists previously announced were traced today. J. W. Pressy, in charge of identification, stated tonight that a number of dead reported were not flood victims but died of natural causes.

"Undoubtedly many others drowned whose bodies have not been recovered, and many will not be recovered," Mr. Pressy said, "but there have been so many false reports that we are announcing only the names of those whose bodies have been actually received at the morgues."

The official list of dead follows:

John Fujaros, Pueblo.
Dorothy Wirts, Pueblo.
A. E. Clark, Pueblo.
Minnie Traylor, Negro, Pueblo.
T. Hall, Pullman conductor.

NATION OPENS PURSES TO HELP STRICKEN PUEBLO

Red Cross Rushes All Its Stations Into Action.

Answer to Pueblo's "let's go" cry for relief and reconstruction was given yesterday from town and countryside as funds poured into Red Cross headquarters for the flood sufferers.

Authorization to accept funds to be used for the stricken populace at Pueblo was sent throughout the nation by the national headquarters of the Red Cross. Local chapters were advised to forward contributions to James L. Fieser, manager of the southwest division, in charge of the relief work at Pueblo.

On receipt of the authorization the Chicago chapter, 58 East Washington street, began receiving money. The first donation was for $5. It was from Edward Kuypser, an ex-service man.

Supplies Can Be Shipped at Once.

In response to telegrams from Mr. Fieser, Walter Davidson, manager of the central division of the Red Cross at 308 North Michigan avenue, has wired authorities on the scene a list of supplies available at once which can be shipped to the flood area.

The central division has nine disaster relief units which can dispatch immediately supplies of blankets, cots, bedding, clothing, and tents from Chicago, Des Moines, Lincoln, Neb.; Milwaukee, and Minneapolis.

Rotary Clubs Busy.

Coöperation in raising funds was asked of the International Association of Rotary clubs by the Red Cross. Local Rotary clubs from all over the country are sending funds to the international office in Chicago, Richard M. McClure, secretary, announced.

Hundreds of Chicagoans dispatched packages of clothing and blankets to the flood zone. To stimulate relief shipments, the American Railway Express company announced that it will handle free all shipments of money or merchandise destined for flood sufferers.

Announcement that the Knights of Columbus are caring for homeless people in the flood area was made yesterday by William J. McGinley, supreme secretary. The organization is also providing funds for the care of Negro children in Tulsa, Okla., where the race disturbance wiped out hundreds of Negro homes.

CONGRESS VOTES AID

Washington, D. C., June 7.—A joint resolution was adopted late today by the house and the senate authorizing the secretary of war to extend all possible relief to Colorado flood sufferers.

Previously Senator Phipps of Colorado had announced that he and Representative Hardy of the state would seek an appropriation of $1,000,000 for flood relief.

The resolution directs the secretary of war to take all possible sanitary measures to safeguard the health of the population in the flood district, to furnish subsistence, and quartermaster supplies belonging to the military establishment, and make available and issue the same to such destitute persons in Colorado as have been rendered homeless or are in needy circumstances.

New York Appoints Committee.

New York, June 7.—Mayor Hylan today appointed a committee to raise funds for relief of flood ravaged Pueblo. The board of estimate voted to place at his disposal any moneys left over from previous funds collected for similar purposes. Rodman Wanamaker, deputy police commissioner, was named chairman. A representative will be sent to Colorado.

Elks Give $10,000.

Dubuque, Ia., June 7.—Fred C. Robinson, grand secretary of the B. P. O. E., today wired $10,000 to Rush L. Holland, past grand ruler at Colorado Springs, as the grand lodge's contribution for the relief of Pueblo flood sufferers. In his message Mr. Robinson stated that further funds would be wired as needed.

WAR SECRETARY'S "BIG ARMY" WINS SENATE BACKING

Votes to Keep U. S. Force to 169,000 Men.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., June 7.—[Special.]—The senate today rejected the drastic army reduction voted by the house and decided to back the administration pleas for a sufficient military establishment to keep the nation from falling back into the state of unpreparedness preceding the war with Germany.

By a vote of 34 to 30 the recommendation of the senate military affairs committee for an army of an average strength of 180,000 men during the next year was adopted. The amendment will require gradual reduction of the army from an estimated strength of 215,000 on July 1 to a minimum strength of 169,000 men on Feb. 15, 1922. The house bill providing for an average army of 150,000 men would require a reduction to 120,000 men by the end of the next fiscal year.

Provides for Large Force.

The showdown as to the size of the army came on the appropriation for the pay of enlisted men. The house bill provided only $72,000,000. The senate committee proposed to increase this to $83,000,000 in order to prevent a reduction of the army below 169,000 men, which Secretary of War Weeks declared would result in utter disaster.

The lineup of the senate was as follows:

May Ask New Roll Call.

Another roll call probably will be demanded before the question is finally decided. Because of the slenderness of the senate margin and the insistence of the house on cutting both army and navy appropriations to the bone, great difficulty is expected in adopting the senate amendment in conference. Advocates of the senate amendment are hopeful that the president will throw his influence on their side.

The army bill became today the vehicle for sharp attacks on the Republican failure to promptly enact the resolution restoring the status of peace with Germany and Austria. Senator Reed of Missouri and Senator Watson of Georgia, both Democrats, charged that the Republicans had not fulfilled their campaign pledge to make peace as soon as they got into power.

Wants Soldiers Brought Home.

"We have in round numbers 15,000 soldiers somewhere in France and Germany," said Senator Reed. "What are they there for? Why does not the present administration bring these soldiers home? It is no excuse to say they were sent over by another administration. I defy any living man to tell me a good reason for keeping 15,000 men in Germany."

ZIONISTS SPLIT INTO 2 MEETINGS AT CLEVELAND

Cleveland, O., June 7.—While Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president, and the majority members of the World Zionist organization met in the main convention of the American Zionist organization today, Julian Mack and his supporters were engaged in another hall organizing themselves in to an aggressive minority.

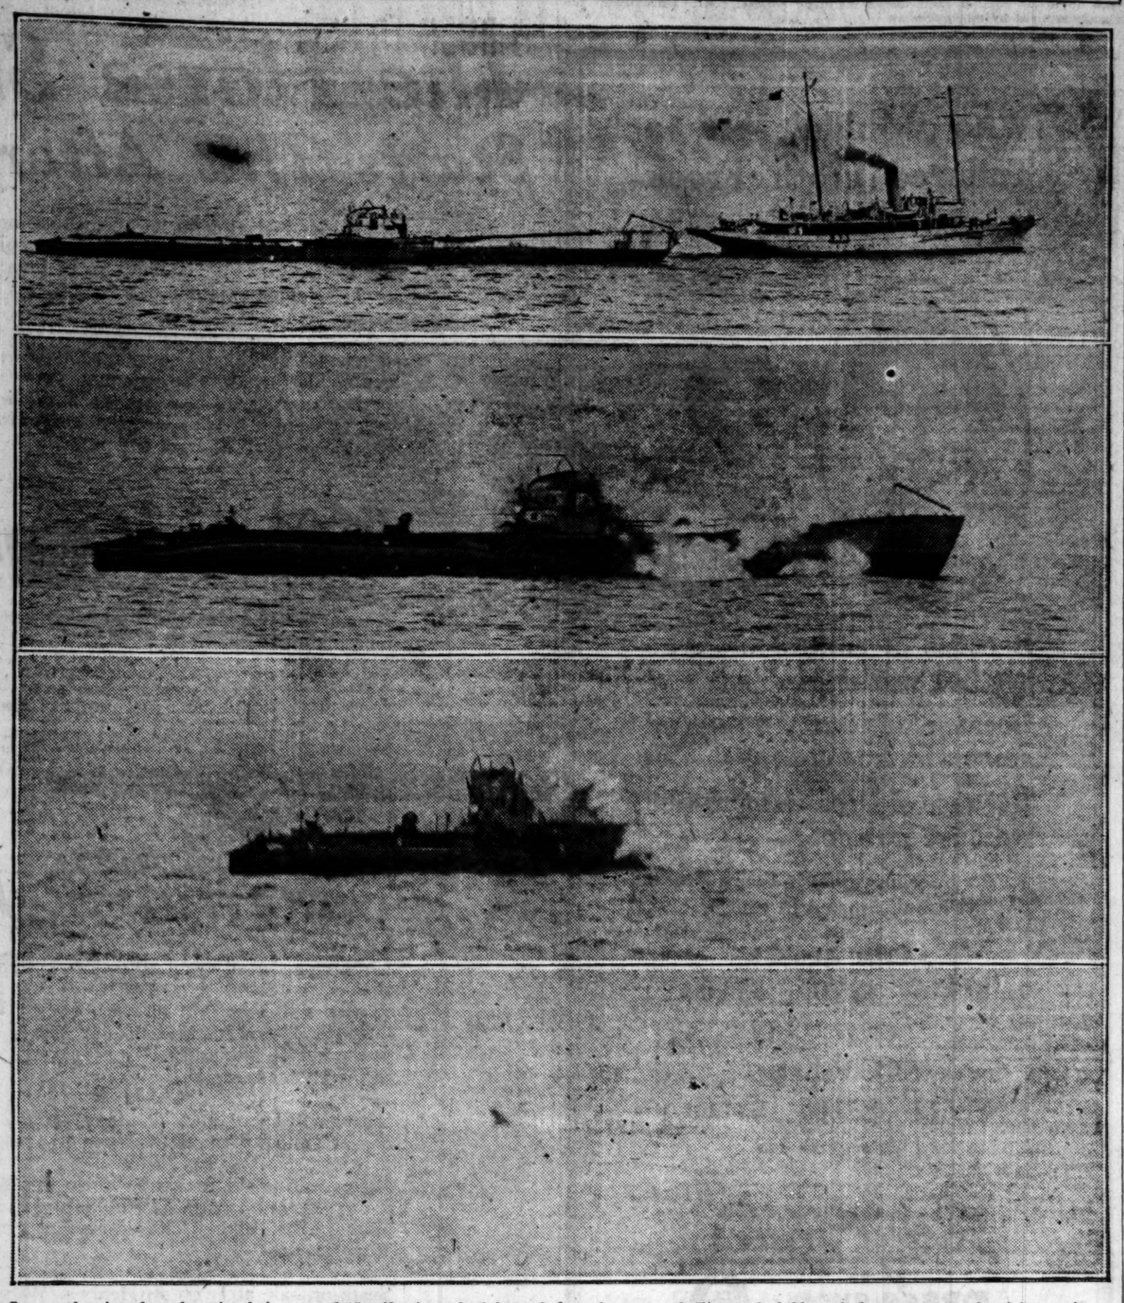

Dr. Weizmann placed the dispute between the World Zionist organization and the American organization on President Mack and his administration. He declared he was given no aid.

Others who spoke in defense of the administration were M. M. Ussischkin, head of the Palestine Zionist commission; I. H. Naiditch, head of the Keren Hayesod, and Dr. B. Mossensohn, director of the Hebrew gymnasium of Jaffa.

Mr. Mack and his followers considered plans to do constructive work in Palestine independent of the Keren Hayesod association (Palestine foundation fund).

A committee was appointed to meet Justice Louis D. Brandeis in New York Friday morning, when a program will be formulated and submitted to 130 of the American organization.

THE BATTLE OF LAKE MICHIGAN

Scenes showing the submarine being towed 35 miles into the lake and the subsequent shelling and sinking of the once terror inspiring craft.

The gunners who fired thirteen shells into the condemned German submarine were J. O. Sabin (at left), who fired the first American shell in the great war, and A. F. Anderson, who fired the first torpedo in the war.

U. S. SHELLS SINK GERMAN U-BOAT IN LAKE MICHIGAN

Freighter Crew Startled, but It's All Regular.

Somewhere on the northern part of Lake Michigan there's a captain and crew of a giant freighter who sat up most of last night talking about the strangest experience of their lives. A freighter, you know, is a sort of prosaic kind of boat which ordinarily dawdles along the more peaceful lines of traffic.

But this one—well—yesterday it had left Gary for points unknown and had gotten about fifty miles or so up the lake when——

A German U-boat—U-C-97—was seen off the port bow. The captain looked, and looked again—then signaled for half speed. Then, tearing to the scene, came a gunboat, a converted revenue cutter, and a submarine chaser. Overhead an aeroplane roared into view.

Real Shells Fly from Gunboat.

From the port bow of the gunboat—it was the U. S. S. Wilmette—there came a puff of smoke. The center of the U-boat dissolved in a yellow vapor, while the echoes sent back roar after roar.

Time after time this happened—the little puff of smoke and the corresponding roar. Then the U-boat slid on its last plunge below the waters. It left a lot of bubbles, a trace of oil, and tangled bits of shattered wreckage as a momentary monument.

The freighter captain sent a white flag fluttering up to the masthead. It went unheeded. Their duty done, the gunboats and the aeroplane fled shoreward, each to different havens.

And last night the freighter captain and his crew——

U-boat Sunk Under Treaty.

The U-boat was the last of a group brought to this country from Germany at the conclusion of the armistice. It was sunk in accordance with the decree of the peace treaty signed at Versailles, which provided for their destruction before July 1. It took thirteen four inch shells to send it under the water—it disappeared exactly at noon.

The man who fired the first shot was Gunners' Mate J. O. Sabin of Muscatine, Ia. He fired the first shell of the war from the S. S. Jupiter way back in 1917. He fired the last shot yesterday.

The man whose "hit" sent the submarine into its death struggles was Gunners' Mate A. H. Anderson—and on the United States submarine M-4 he fired the first torpedo of the war—at another German submarine.

Old Eastland in Action.

The steamship Hawk of Milwaukee towed the U-boat into position twenty miles due east of Fort Sheridan. It then wirelessed the steamship Wilmette the position. Subchaser 431 at the Great Lakes Naval station caught the message and brought Commander Wurtsbaugh to the scene.

The gun crews on the Wilmette—which, by the way, formerly was the ill fated Eastland—were given a purse of $100 by civilians watching the sinking.

It was the first time a United States naval gun had fired an explosive shell on any of the great lakes since Perry whipped the British on Lake Erie in September, 1813.

COMET TO MISS US BY ONLY TEN MILLION MILES

Cambridge, Mass., June 7.—Winnecke's comet, the expected approach of which to the earth this month has caused much comment, will probably not come within 10,000,000 miles of us, according to information received at the Harvard college observatory from astronomers in various parts of the world who are studying its motion closely.

The comet will make its nearest approach to the sun on June 13, and will be at its brightest at about the same time. It is doubtful, however, whether it will be visible to the naked eye, as it will be of approximately sixth magnitude.

Several astronomers predict a meteoric shower on June 27 as a result of the comet's approach.

Pending an investigation Deputy Coroner Kennedy yesterday continued the inquest over Michael Walsh of 357 West 47th street, who was shot and killed Monday by Policeman Michael Merriman in front of a polling place at 209 West 47th street. Walsh, it is charged, was swearing in the presence of several women and when told to stop became abusive and attacked the policeman.

SISTER CITIES JUBILANT OVER ROUT OF BIG BILL

Use Beating as Warning to Own Machines.

St. Louis, Mo., June 8.—The Globe Democrat, under the caption "A People's Victory," says editorially today:

"A great victory for real, popular government has been won in Chicago. It is a triumph of an aroused public arrayed against the evils of a dominating political machine. For years the Thompson-Lundin machine has controlled the government and the politics of Chicago. With an organization so vast and so perfect in its operation that it has been undefeatable until now, it has carried repeated elections by majorities of scores of thousands against the opposition of the best eleemnts of the city.

"Last year it was strong enough to dictate the nominees for state officers on the Republican ticket. They were nominated at the primaries by the vote of Chicago alone, though defeated in virtually every county in the state. Yet in spite of its power this machine was overwhelmingly defeated in the judicial election on Monday.

Strictly Machine Ticket.

"The Thompson-Lundin ticket was strictly a machine ticket. The twenty-one candidates for judicial positions were picked by the machine without regard for the public interests, which is the way with machine nominations everywhere. Led by the Chicago Bar association and THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, an independent Republican newspaper, a coalition ticket was formed. The Democratic party organization worked for it, and so did the thousands of Republicans who were opposed to machine domination of the judiciary and who were led by ex-Gov. Deneen and Attorney General Brundage. It was the poeple against the Republican party machine, and the people won.

"The people of Chicago are not free under the autocratic domination of the Thompson-Lundin machine. These political machines in our great cities, always pernicious and never beneficial, must go. It will take time and resolution to eliminate them, but they must go."

Makes New York Happy.

New York, June 7.—The Times, discussing the Chicago judicial election, says:

"At last Chicago has signally beaten the Thompson-Lundin Republican machine. William Hale Thompson was first elected mayor in 1915. In spite of his notorious record as an official and a pro-German, he has prospered continually. Last fall his sway was extended over the state government and the legislature.

"He needed only the courts to complete and insure the mastery. This year he tried to control the courts. It was a fatal error. As experience has often shown elsewhere, a community that suffers too long under a boss will turn and rend him when he dares to impose his creatures upon the courts.

"This nonpartisan vindication of a nonpartisan judiciary, this disaster of a sordid party machine, is a victory for the friends of good government here and everywhere as well as in Chicago. It shows the power of the awakened civic conscience. It shows that only by union of all the elements that desire clean, effective conduct and administration in all administrations of a municipal government can such administration and conduct be attained."

Editorial in World.

The New York World says: "The Chicago judiciary elections, in which every Thompson candidate was swept to defeat, were a signal triumph for decency. For six years Mayor 'Bill' Thompson had ruled supreme, unshaken in power. The Republican machine had come to believe that public opinion was not worth considering.

"The government of the city had been a notorious scandal throughout the country, but the people of Chicago tolerated it for want of the effort to force a change. It was not until the mayor undertook to turn over twenty-one judgeships of the Circuit and Superior courts to political lawyers of his following that public feeling was aroused and expressed itself in majorities for every candidate on the coalition ticket.

"Chicago had great provocation. It had more than enough reason long ago to disown Mayor Thompson, and always had the power, but it lacked the will to serve its own interests. Having found the way, at the next opportunity it can hardly hesitate over cleaning house for good."

IF LAW CONSIDERS WOMAN AS A MAN, SHE CAN BE JUROR

MARGARET FAY.

If a woman may be considered legally as a man, she will be allowed to serve on Illinois juries.

This was brought out yesterday before Judge Marcus Kavanagh during a hearing on a petition to compel the jury commissioners to include the names of women in their lists for Circuit, Superior, and County court juries. Levy Mayer, counsel for the commissioners, pointed out that trial by jury meant "a trial by twelve good men and true."

Attorney Margaret Fay, representing Mrs. Ebba Ekberg, the plaintiff, said a clause in the Illinois law provides "jurors shall be chosen from the electorate." As women vote, she maintained they are part of the electorate.

$130,000,000 TO BE SAVED TO FIRE POLICY HOLDERS

New York, June 7.—An annual saving of about $130,000,000 to fire insurance policyholders in the United States may follow sweeping reforms by stock fire insurance companies. The latter's representatives today notified the Lockwood committee, which recently conducted an investigation into the practices of the New York Fire Insurance exchange, that they would make certain concessions, and while these do not cover all the terms drawn up by the committee it is believed they will save policyholders a vast sum.

The conclusion of the negotiations between the Lockwood committee and the underwriters' committee, representing forty-three leading insurance companies, was hailed by committee members as one of the greatest constructive achievements of the housing inquiry.

Concessions Obtained.

Samuel Untermyer, senior counsel to the Lockwood committee, announced the suspension of the inquiry into the fire insurance companies and their capitulation on the following points:

A. All making of rates to be subject to revision by the state superintendent of insurance with an appeal to the courts.

B. The superintendent of insurance shall have similar supervision as to the recognition of fire prevention appliances accepted by the bureau of standards in Washington.

C. All companies licensed by the state to be eligible to membership in all rate making organizations.

D. Companies in all fire insurance exchanges to be permitted to reinsure in state-approved companies in and out of the exchange.

E. All brokers are to be permitted to do business with all approved companies, and no preferential commissions to be paid to brokers for making contracts exclusively with exchange members.

Balk at These Demands.

The companies would not promise the committee to support legislation intended to restrict their investments, as those of life insurance concerns are regulated, nor would they acquiesce in proposals that they be required by law to invest part of their assets in bonds secured by mortgages on unincumbered real property.

The committee will make a vigorous campaign for such laws, however, either at a special session of the legislature or at the next regular session, their counsel, Mr. Untermyer, announced.

VICTORS PLAN TO KEEP UP FIGHT ON CITY HALL

Coalition May Continue for Next Campaign.

Leaders of the forces which swept the candidates on the Coalition Non-partisan judicial ticket to victory on Monday by pluralities approximating 190,000 yesterday began to make plans for continuing the work of their organization.

While no definite steps were taken, it was generally agreed that the combination which had smashed the Thompson-Lundin machine at the polls must be maintained. On what basis the coalition can be continued was not determined. The fact remained that the Lundin machine had been given the trouncing of its life—all its twenty-one candidates for the bench being beaten to a frazzle.

The first immediate result of the determination to maintain the alliance between the Democrats and the anti-Thompson Republicans will probably be shown in the city council. The Democrats are able to control that body without the assistance of any Republicans. It was their announced intention yesterday to keep up the fight against the Thompson-Lundin machine. In this they will be assisted by several of the Republican aldermen.

Effect on 1922 Campaign.

There was considerable talk during the day of the effect that the coalition victory would have upon the county election of 1922. A new county treasurer, sheriff, county clerk, county judge, and president of the county board are to be chosen at this election. In addition, several other offices will be filled and judges of the Municipal court will be elected. The offices named are the most important in the county.

It was suggested yesterday that it was possible that the coalition could come to an agreement by which these nominations could be divided between the Republicans and Democrats. The chance of such an agreement is made the better because of the present way in which these offices are divided.

How They Might Be Divided.

The Republicans have the sheriff and the county judge, the Democrats hold the other offices. Neither the sheriff nor the county treasurer is eligible for reëlection, but it is probable that some sort of an agreement could be made by which the Republicans could select a candidate for sheriff and the Democrats a candidate for county treasurer.

County Judge Righeimer is a Thompson-Lundin satellite. He got in trouble by his rulings in favor of the Thompson-Lundin machine during the last campaign and both the Democrats and Republicans are anxious to oust him. If the Democrats are conceded the presidency of the county board the chances are that they would be willing to let the Republicans of the coalition name a successor for Righeimer.

Primary Law an Obstacle.

The difficulty in the way of a coalition agreement as to the county offices is that nominations for them must be made at a direct primary and that it would be difficult for Republicans to win nominations in a Democratic primary even if they were agreed upon and supported by the Democratic organization. It was suggested, however, that a way out of this difficulty could be found by letting Democrats run at the Democratic primaries and then withdraw from the ticket later, leaving vacancies which could be filled by the county committee.

Republicans Are Confident.

There was a feeling among the coalition Republicans that it might not be necessary for them to accept Democratic nominations to win county offices a year from next fall. They believe that the blow dealt to the Thompson-Lundin machine may so weaken it that there will be a chance of defeating it in the Republican primaries. However, there are more of them who are inclined to continuing a working agreement with the Democratic organization for the present at least.

WENDELL BARNETT.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Wendell Barnett, a Hoosier boy 15 years old, is probably the youngest student at the University of Chicago this term. Wendell is still in short pants. He comes from Charlestown, Ind. He is doing work of an exceptionally high grade at the university. He graduated from high school when he was 14, but stayed away from the university a year because he thought he was too young. Since his birth his mother attended normal school and Indiana university. His two greatest ambitions are to don long pants and to "make" the university honor society. He thinks the university work is easy, too.

MICHIGAN CITY VOTES FOR CITY MANAGER RULE

Michigan City, Ind., June 7.—[Special.]—City manager form of government was adopted by Michigan City today by a majority of 230 votes. Michigan City is the first city in the state to adopt this form of government. The women turned the tide.

No New Tax for Freeport.

Freeport, Ill., June 7.—Stephenson county defeated a proposition to levy a special tax to establish a patrol system of road maintenance. O. M. Heard, Harry Edwards, and F. J. Stransky, Republicans, were reëlected to the Circuit bench.

Reëlect Peoria Judges.

Peoria, Ill., June 7.—Returns from all but seven precincts in the Tenth judicial district show reëlection of the three sitting judges, C. V. Miles, Republican, Peoria; T. N. Green, Pekin, and J. M. Neihaus, Peoria, Democrats.

Thompson Wins at Quincy.

Quincy, Ill., June 7.—Belated totals from counties in the Fourth Supreme court district indicated a plurality of 12,000 for Justice Floyd Thompson, Democrat, over Claude E. Chiperfield, Republican.

CLINNIN'S AIDS SIFT FRAUDS AT BENCH ELECTION

Lawyers Hold Jubilee as New Chief Goes In.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Although the coalition ticket won overwhelmingly, the Chicago Bar association, which was largely responsible for the vigorous battle against the city hall, is laying the foundations for a special investigation of fraud at the polls on Monday.

Col. John V. Clinnin, who had charge of the fraud prevention and detection work of the organization, is having written reports prepared by the twenty-four teams of lawyers who worked under him on election day. It is believed that the evidence, collected as it was by trained men, will warrant a request upon Attorney General Brundage for the impaneling of a special grand jury and the appointment of a special prosecutor.

Col. Clinnin also has asked that all workers for the coalition or other citizens who detected dishonesty at the polls send to him a clear statement of the events they observed.

New Bar Chief Takes Reins.

At the annual dinner of the association at the Mid Day club last night, John R. Montgomery, who, as president, took the the first step to bring the organization into the campaign as a real fighting body, turned over his office to his successor, William T. Alden, whose election by mail ballot was announced.

In his remarks as retiring president, Mr. Montgomery explained that he did not wish to indicate the course to be followed by Mr. Alden, but he predicted that the standing committee on judicial candidates, consisting of nine former presidents headed by Amos C. Miller, will be continued as a permanent institution.

Lawyers Turn It Into Jubilee.

That the dinner fell on the day following the election led to its being turned into a jubilation. New reservations came in so rapidly that a number of them had to be rejected. A resolution adopted upon the motion of William R. Moss indicated the spirit of the gathering.

"The citizens of Cook county," it read, "will long remember June 6, 1921, as a day when civic consciousness triumphed over political immorality."

The resolutions closed with praise for the work of the political organizations, the civic bodies and the women's associations in the election. It was adopted unanimously.

Rotary Club Is Host to Four It Will Send to College

Four Chicago high school boys who were chosen by the Rotary club as honor students to attend the University of Illinois at the expense of the club, were guests at a club luncheon yesterday in the Hotel Sherman. The boys are E. L. Berlman, Parker High school; James Williams, Hyde Park; Francis Embrey, Englewood, and John W. Schaff, Senn. The boys will take agricultural courses.

AX FOR 'FAITHFUL' LOOMS THROUGH CITY HALL GLOOM

'People Have Spoken,' Mayor Says.

Fear and trembling pervaded the city hall cohorts yesterday and an air of expectancy that the ax will fall within a week or two in punishment for the machine henchmen's failure to deliver at Monday's judicial election prevailed everywhere.

Mayor Thompson spent eight hours in his office, surveying Monday's wreck and planning for the future. Few of the main cogs in his machine visited him, apparently having decided that the time was far from propitious. Asked to comment on the election as he left his office at 6:30 last night, the mayor said:

"The people have spoken. I'll abide by what they have said. There is nothing more to do and nothing more to say. However, 250,000 votes were cast for the Republican ticket. That's no small vote."

Mum on Predicted Ax.

The mayor said he had no comment to make on the report that those who failed to deliver their precincts and wards on Monday are to be decapitated politically.

City hall leaders passed over as unimportant the moral issues of the campaign, and declared almost unanimously that the largest single stone in the machine's path on Monday was the payment of $2,742,666.09 in expert fees to Frank H. Mesce, Austin J. Lynch, A. S. Merigold, Edward C. Waller Jr., and Ernest H. Lyons.

Having first elicited a promise that their names would not appear in print, the mayor's friends talked freely on this point.

"What else could the voters do?" asked one of them. "In one hand they had their increased tax bills, which they are now paying. In the other, every morning, was a copy of THE TRIBUNE, telling of the big payments to experts. These payments were never satisfactorily explained either in our literature or by our speakers. The result was inevitable."

Bitter Against Experts.

City hall department heads with records as excutives of which they are proud, were bitter in their condemnation of Mesce et al., who, they declared, "have brought us into disrepute through their own selfishness."

"The trouble is that certain experts and department heads were not satisfied with the automobile," said another executive. "They wanted to get away with the garage as well."

Another attempted to explain the ghastly trimming administered Monday as follows:

"Considering everything, we didn't do half bad. We had two-fifths of the Republican party against us, the weight of federal Republican influence, THE TRIBUNE, and the News, and were carrying the back-breaking expert load as well. Some load, I'll say, and at that we polled nearly 250,000 votes."

Tabulating by Precincts.

Four copies of a tabulation of the vote in each of the county's 2,491 precincts are being made at Mayor Thompson's orders. One copy is to be turned over to the mayor, another to the election board, a third will be retained for filing, and the fourth will find its way into the hands of Fred Lundin, the power behind the city hall throne.

These detailed tabulations will enable the mayor and Lundin to put their fingers on the leaders, large and small, who failed most miserably at the judicial election. The housecleaning is expected to follow a thorough analysis of these 2,491 sets of figures.

Among the most prominent of the many being mentioned as slated for the discard are William A. Bither, attorney for the school board and committeman from the Third ward, whose threatening letter to the school teachers is regarded in and out of Thompson circles as the "prize boner of the campaign," and Henry W. Starr, recently appointed to the election board.

Whether E. S. Davis, president of the school board, is to go could not be learned. His circular letter to school principals practically ordering them to have the teachers get out and work for the Lundin gang's ticket is regarded as unprecedented.

ULSTER OPENS IRELAND'S FIRST HOME CONGRESS

New Parliament Meets in Belfast.

sergeants-at-arms from Westminster, who bore the mace of the city of Belfast, the new speaker entered the chamber wearing his gown and full bottomed wig.

The oath was administered first to the speaker, next to Premier Sir James Craig and then to the members in groups of three.

After the ceremony the whole parliament lunched with the viceroy in the city hall.

Sir James Craig gave a reception later and a number of parties were held in the evening.

The one thought concerning the members of the new parliament seems to be "What will the south do?" This is the question on every one's lips in Belfast, and every one unfeignedly is anxious that the south will consent to organize its own parliament under the home rule act and work for early unity of Ireland.

H. M. Pollock, the new finance minister, expressed earnest desire tonight for an early settlement of the Irish quarrel which would enable the business men of all Ireland to work together for the good of the whole country.

Rakes Rebel Activities.

The viceroy made a sensational speech at the city hall banquet in which he attacked vigorously Irish "republican" activities. He characterized the Sinn Feiners as "murderers," denouncing the leaders who countenanced their acts.

"Has Ireland or any other country the right to be prosperous when sin is rampant throughout large portions of it?" he asked.

"Before we can hope to see Ireland prosperous, the murderers have got to be eradicated.

"One of the most deplorable and most pathetic things is that many young men perpetrating these crimes are taught by their leaders that they are committing no sin."

The viceroy also declared that, while the black and tans had committed some crimes, it would be unjust to blame the whole force for the actions of a few.

Before the luncheon Sir James read a telegram from the king, formally accepting an invitation to open the parliament on June 22.

ADMIRAL SIMS RAKES SINN FEIN AT LONDON CLUB

Also Attacks American Sympathizers.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, June 7.—A vigorous attack on the Sinn Fein was a feature of Rear Admiral William S. Sims' speech made at the English speaking union today.

"The Sinn Feiners did not have the material nor the equipment to attack us directly," he said, "but they attacked us indirectly and most dangerously by causing forces to be diverted from their duties of escorting transports and merchantmen. The diminution of escorts resulted in many ships being sunk and many lives lost.

"There is a class of people on the other side who, technically, are American citizens. Some are naturalized and some are native born, but they are not Americans because they are carrying on war against America. They are carrying on war against you because they are trying to hold up relations between the two countries.

"I have not hesitated to say to these Sinn Fein sympathizers in America that the whole truth of the matter is that the blood of English and American boys is on their hands.

"These men are two faced. They are Americans when they want money and Sinn Feiners on the platform. They are like the zebra, either a black horse with white stripes or a white horse with black stripes. Americans know they are not horses and suspect they are asses. Each ass has a vote and there are a lot of them."

Referring to the joint action of the British and Americans in the great war he said if there were only the same cooperation between the peoples now there would be no such trouble today. He said if the two English speaking peoples could get together they could run the world.

Stone Now Chief Justice of State Supreme Court

Springfield, Ill., June 7.—Chief Justice Cartwright of the Illinois Supreme court this afternoon relinquished his title and moved from the seat of honor in the center of the bench to make room for the new chief justice, Clyde E. Stone of Peoria. Judge Stone takes the place by rotation. His place until this term has been at the extreme left of the bench.

SPIRIT OF GREAT WHISTLER AIDED HER, ARTIST SAYS

Peoria, Ill., June 7.—[Special.]—Peoria is all excited today over the announcement by Benjamin H. Serkowich of the Peoria Art league, that a canvas, painted by a woman in her dream, with the hand of the immortal and long since departed Whisler guiding her brush, is on display in a local theater's mezzanine floor which gave space to the annual exhibit of the league.

Mrs. William Hawley Smith, wife of Dr. W. H. Smith of Peoria, is the woman. She and her husband are among the wealthiest and most prominent families in Peoria.

Several weeks ago Mrs. Smith says she was sleeping soundly when Whistler appeared in a dream. The famous artist commanded her to arise, don her artist's smock and get her brushes, paints and palette.

Then she translated to canvas the instructions he imparted, and frequently his hand guided her brush.

She worked feverishly all night, and in the morning awoke fatigued, but the picture was finished.

Local art critics say that the painting is a remarkable one, and believe implicitly the story.

ALVIN T. HERT, LEADER OF MEN, DIES SUDDENLY

Was a National Figure in G. O. P. Politics.

Washington, D. C., June 7.—[Special.]—Alvin Tobias Hert, Republican national committeeman from Kentucky and a national figure in Republican politics, died suddenly of apoplexy late this afternoon in the New Willard hotel. He was talking to some friends while lying in bed when he gasped and his head fell back upon the pillow.

Mr. Hert arrived here yesterday, apparently in good health, and during the afternoon paid a visit to Senator Ernst of Kentucky. This morning he said he did not feel well and would remain in bed.

In Midst of Jollity.

A number of friends visited him during the day, and at 4 o'clock this afternoon Matt Chilton, who had accompanied Mr. Hert from Louisville, E. T. Fyffe, former postmaster of Owensboro, Ky., and Reps. J. M. Langley and J. M. Robinson of the Kentucky delegation in the house, were all in his bedroom.

Mr. Hert was in good spirits just before he died and the party was laughing and joking over the name of a candidate who sought office but who was not highly looked upon.

Mr. Hert was born in Owensburg, Ind., and reached the age of 56 years on April 8 last.

In private life he was president of the American Creosoting company of Louisville, where he made his home.

Offered High Posts.

He played an important part in the Republican presidential campaign last fall and since the inauguration of President Harding was offered an ambassadorship at a post not named, also the position, now held by Walter Brown of Toledo, at the head of the commission studying a consolidation of government departments, and was often mentioned as the probable secretary of the navy.

Alvin Tobias Hert
Born April 8, 1865. Died June 7, 1921.

Red Caps at Englewood Seized as Rum Runners

Henry C. Hill and Charles A. Teeban, ushers in the Englewood union station, were arrested yesterday by Joseph Callahan of Prohibition Supervisor John Kjellander's office. The two "red caps" had three suit cases containing forty quarts of whisky shipped "through the underground" from Pennsylvania. Callahan said the men were part of the booze ring engaged in getting liquor into Chicago from the east. Both were released under $2,000 bonds by Commissioner Glass.

Women Held to Grand Jury as Robber Gang's Lures

Two women, who acted as lures, and six men charged with robbery were held to the grand jury yesterday in police courts. Judge Howard Hayes set the bonds at $5,000 each for the six members of the McLane-Kurtz gang after witnesses testified Mrs. Marie McLane, 5503 Cottage Grove avenue, and Miss Margaret Emmerson, 6753 Evans avenue, had lured them to Washington park, where the men robbed them.

FRANCE SHARES NEW PROSPERITY WITH GERMANY

Conditions Brighter, It Cuts Reparations.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, June 7.—[By Wireless.]—The decreased cost of living, the reduction of wages, and prices of raw materials and the rise in value of the franc are all helping enormously to reduce the cost of restoring the devastated region in France, said Minister of the Liberated Regions Louis Loucheur, France's richest man, following a three day tour of the districts in the north.

Whereas a year ago it cost six times as much to replace a shell shattered building as the structure cost before the war, it now costs only an average of four and a quarter times as much, M. Loucheur expects the ratio will be reduced to three times the prewar figure within a few months.

This is the French governments reason why the London reparations figures of 132,000,000,000 gold marks was accepted, instead of the vastly higher sums which the situation was declared to have merited.

German Labor Issue.

M. Loucheur stated that financial reasons prevented France from accepting German labor for use in reconstruction. If 300,000 or 400,000 German laborers had come to France they would have been paid partly in paper marks, which would have so depreciated in value that they would have been inadequate even to buy food. As a result, the French would have had to supply food, costing a tremendous sum, for the huge army of laborers.

"After the armistice I toured the mining district, and every one of the 140 mining shafts which I visited were destroyed," said M. Loucheur. "There were 1,700 miles of galleries to be reconstructed and 110,000,000 cubic meters of water to be pumped out. In the Courieres mine alone there were 25,000,000 cubic meters of water. Approximately 18,000 miners' cottages were destroyed and 12,000 more practically destroyed. The Germans destroyed engine machinery which generated 800,000 horse power.

"At the present moment the production of the mines in the devastated regions amounts to 400,000 tons monthly, or 5,000,000 tons for this year. These figures refute the German allegations that the French are purposely conserving the ruins to astonish foreign sightseers, particularly Americans.

"Of the 4,700,000 inhabitants of the devastated regions prior to the war 4,100,000 have returned there. Of the 600,000 homes completely or partially destroyed 250,000 have been temporarily repaired or made habitable. Ninety-five per cent of the land on which the war raged has been cleared and leveled, and 80 per cent is under cultivation.

"Of 1,400 miles of railway destroyed 90 per cent has been reconstructed, and practically all the bridges which were blown up have been rebuilt.

Half of Factories Opened.

"Fifty per cent of the factories in the district are operating, as there is absolute necessity of reestablishing French industry first. The government sought to indemnify industry at first, to prevent unemployment, with satisfactory results, there being fewer unemployed last November than there were in November, 1918, after the armistice.

"The agricultural districts were not forgotten, the government having appropriated 2,500,000,000 francs for this department.

"Up to date France has spent a total of 25,500,000,000 francs, including 3,000,000,000 for the reconstruction of highways.

"Of the 20,000,000,000 francs damages suffered to the industries in northeast France, 3,815,000,000 francs have been paid—about 18 per cent. The government has also made advances in kind—material delivered from Germany—valued at 3,415,000 francs, or 17 per cent more. Thus 35 per cent of the damages to industry has been covered.

How France Has Paid.

"The payments which Germany has made so far merely cover the cost of the occupationary army on the Rhine and, therefore, cannot be put to the credit of reparations. France has paid nearly all, and to meet this we have direct state loans, for which we have created a national credit organization.

"Another method for aiding the reconstruction of the war regions is to permit families or companies ruined by the war to borrow sums for fifteen or thirty year periods, with arrangements for them to issue loans on these duties."

SENATE'S NAVAL HOLIDAY PLANS FACE DISASTER

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., June 7.—[Special.]—By a vote of 232 to 110, closely following party lines, the house sent the naval bill to conference today with no specific instructions to its managers regarding the Borah disarmament amendment unanimously adopted by the senate.

The house members of the conference, however, will go into the parley prepared to insist on the scrapping of the Borah amendment and the substitution of the Porter proposal. The Borah amendment asks the President to enter into negotiations with Great Britain and Japan for curtailment of naval building programs, while the Porter substitute merely concurs in the President's expressed hope of general disarmament.

Porter Plan Pleases President.

Representative Mondell, majority leader in the house, conferred with President Harding today and found him well pleased with the Porter plan. Senator Poindexter, acting chairman of the senate naval affairs committee, also conferred with the President and it was learned afterwards the senate conferees would insist to the last ditch on the Borah amendment. No explanatory statements were forthcoming from administration circles, but it is understood that President Harding, while personally preferring the Porter substitute, will not directly intervene in the controversy and will be content to leave the two houses of congress to work out a solution.

Democrats with Senate.

In the house debate preceding the sending of the naval bill to conference the Democrats made it clear that they will stand almost to a man with the senate and against the Porter plan. They demanded and secured tentative promises of the right to vote separately on the Borah amendment. They expect to have the support of many Republicans if such a vote is obtained.

The Porter substitute was roundly denounced by Democratic speakers. Representative Connally of Texas, called it "colorless, one-half of 1 per cent, and meaningless." He also charged that it was "born in secret conclave of Republicans who at the last session killed a disarmament that had teeth in it."

BOY, 10, SLAYS YOUNG BROTHER AFTER QUARREL

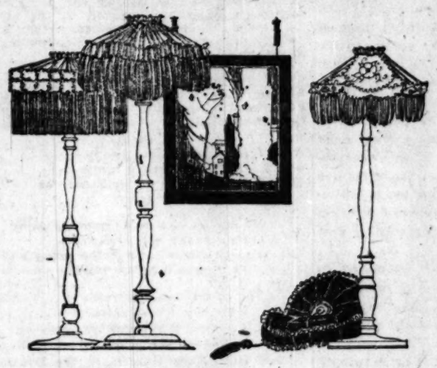

Cedarville, O., June 7.—James Blangley, 10, shot his brother, Virgil, 8, with a revolver this morning at their home one mile from here. The younger brother died a short time later. The shooting is said to have followed a childish quarrel between the brothers. James was arrested following the tragedy and is being held here pending an investigation by local authorities.

PROSECUTE ELECTION CROOKS.

While vigorous action before election and plain warnings undoubtedly headed off some of the more shameless devices of the city hall, its manipulation of the election machinery, trickery, and law breaking were sufficient to call for prosecution and punishment. Plenty of evidence is available to bring guilt to the bar and assure punishment. We trust this will now be promptly and vigorously undertaken. Chicago was rapidly slipping into a condition which is more familiar in the worst Mexican politics than in any Anglo-Saxon community and it is high time to check the descent by a vigorous application of the lash. Prosecution should be pressed with the utmost energy.

THE FARMERS' CO-OPERATIVE PLAN.

The farmers' coöperative marketing plans are to receive federal assistance if the efforts of Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and Secretary of Commerce Hoover are successful. Definite arrangements for improving the grain warehousing system, together with extension of credits to farmers, are expected to be evolved at a meeting with representatives of farmers and grain handlers called for June 13 in Washington.

The plans will be of nation-wide interest in that they will prepare the way for the best possible test of various coöperative marketing schemes, among which is the proposal to supplant the grain exchanges by a direct system of sales by the farmers. If these plans can thus have a fair tryout without first destroying the present grain marketing system, which has taken over half a century to perfect, no individual or group whose thought is for the general good will object.

One chief argument advanced by the farmers in favor of the coöperative marketing system is that it will eliminate excessive commissions and fees. It can also distribute valuable information as to available supplies of staple products and can educate members in the direction of properly diversified production. These possibilities are all to the advantage of the farmer and to the disadvantage of no legitimate interest as long as they are not used to restrict production. The plan for sufficient warehousing and a system of warehouse receipts upon which the farmer can obtain money to help finance the business will be the chief advantage to be obtained from government assistance. This is an advantage which cannot be overestimated.

Against these advantages of the proposed system, however, the wise producer will not fail to put some adverse arguments. In the first place, the absolute loyalty of all members to the coöperative plan must be assured. If a member sells his product individually, either because of attractive bids or because of financial necessity, he will impair the strength of the organization by reducing the volume of its business and thereby reducing the profits on possible economies. If a member speculates, attempting to carry his crop over from season to season, the result would be disastrous. Failure of loyalty thus would spell ruin to the whole plan.

Again, hope of greatly increased profits to the farmer is doomed to disappointment. If the profits of the operators under the present system were so enormous as supposed by some farmers, competition would long ago have cut them down. The idea that these profits in the aggregate are vast and that they will accrue to the farmer through the coöperative plan is an error and means certain disappointment for the coöperator who so believes. Can the organization hold together under such disappointment?

It is desirable that the farmer, like organized labor, should go into banking and business. The outcome of such ventures will teach invaluable lessons in economics. Their success will prove that wise and efficient management is essential. Their failure will be a sad, if effective, lesson. In either event the farmers will be taught respect, rather than enmity, for business management which is a success, whether it be the management of their own or some others' business.

All these possibilities lie within the coöperative marketing plan. We are glad to note the possibility of its practical experiment. But it is, nevertheless, an experiment and, in view of that fact, the wise farmer will not destroy the present system of marketing through the grain exchanges until he has proved the efficiency of his substitute.

THE ETERNAL FEMININE.

There is war on the Rue de la Paix, where, as every woman knows, some dictator is preparing to tell her just what she shall wear on the boulevard, at the theater, the bridge party, the country club or the ball in the season of 1922. It is a well modulated but highly accented war. Billowing curves contend with acute angles. Flowing lines take issue with abrupt curtailments. The past meets the present to determine the future. Freedom, facing confinement in corsets, shrieks.

We recall the shocked, "Why, Miss'ter Mar'shalll!" of the ladylike gentleman who created the gowns which converted Irene from a factory girl into the belle of the ball. There must be numerous such shocked expressions causing some question as to the sex of their utterers along the Rue de la Paix. These are parlous times, but in them we see hope that Paris is coming back to her own, and ceasing to bother too greatly about Silesia or the Ruhr basin.

After all, what is Silesia compared to the importance of seeing our women properly gowned and corseted—or uncorseted? Here is a debate of interest and vital moment. M. Paul Poiret insists that a "woman's body needs sculpturing. If women wear corsets they can wear the dresses of Louis XIV. and Louis XV. Minus corsets that would be impossible."

M. Jacques Worth says: "In the last twenty years several revolutions have occurred in the feminine world. The seventeenth and eighteenth century styles were ravishing, but to revive them you must replace the automobiles with sedan chairs, the fox trot and shimmy with the minuet, and golf and tennis with croquet and ping pong."

Mme. Paquin declares: "Chic women practically have discarded corsets. Modern sport and dancing will not permit the return of that cruel and ridiculous instrument of torture."

Clerical circles are on the side of M. Poiret, seeking to check a tendency which they say is resulting in the elimination of lingerie as well as corsets.

It promises to be a bitter battle. And still women demand the privilege of organizing and attending prize fights. We believe they are wrong. Let them direct their energies to better things. Their battles are better staged on the Champs Elysées than on the Champ de Mars. If it is a moral issue, that is one thing; if it is an issue of art and beauty, that is another. We believe it to be the latter. Therefore we are for a fight to a finish. The lines are drawn. Casting our eyes in retrospect over well remembered figures we know which will be pro-corset and which anti-corset. And in such a contest we feel assured that both sides will win. Each will adopt the form of costume most becoming. Art and beauty will triumph. That is because women are women, and we are made glad by the battle of the Rue de la Paix, which indicates that they will remain so, though the Rhine barrier and all Silesia fall.

THE GRAFTERS' PARADISE.

Millions of dollars in capital investment with potential pay rolls of more millions annually have been driven out or kept out of Chicago because of the crooked operations of some business agents, the conspiracies of some dealers in raw products, and difficulties to be met with in the way of local politics. These disclosures, coming out of the Dailey committee's investigations and attendant inquiries, are of vital moment to Chicago.

The union labor man has been too prone to look complacently upon the wrangles between business agents and contractors or property owners in the belief that at worst it meant nothing to him, even if the agent did shake down some millionaire for a few thousand dollars. The property owner has been equally in error when with his own business prospering he stood aside calmly and watched some manufacturer, theater builder or hotel owner coerced and beaten into submission. The voter has also been wrong when he has submitted to wasteful increase in taxes and the coercion of business concerns by crooked politicians in the belief that he himself was not being injured.

Any union man who has tamely submitted or tacitly approved of such holdups and bribery as revealed by the Dailey committee, whether or not his own union was involved, has allowed a blow to be struck at his own prosperity. Any property owner who has submitted to extortion or knowingly allowed another to be so coerced without a protest has reduced the value of his property and lowered its natural increase.

A recent witness before the committee, a New York contractor, announced that in the matter of graft New York is to Chicago as an infant to a Black Sox player in a world series. Such ideas have been going abroad from this city for years. They have driven out and kept out industries which would have added millions of dollars to local income, attracted many thousands of workers, and in a score of ways contributed to general prosperity and the steady increase of property values. There is no resident of Chicago, with the exception of the grafters themselves, who has not suffered through their crooked dealings. It is every honest man's business.

It is time to clean up Chicago. Every crook and grafter ought to be thrown into jail. Through the Dailey committee and the grand juries we have made a step in this direction. We must go on. The future of Chicago and the prosperity of all its honest citizens are involved.

Editorial of the Day

CHASING SUCCESS IN THE CITY.

[Minneapolis Journal.]

"Shall I stay in my own community or try my luck in the big city?" is a question that most young people sooner or later ask themselves. Of late years the tendency has been toward the city, which holds out the lure of fame and fortune.

Comes Edward W. Bok with an answer out of his own experience. He cries down the big city, and while admitting its necessity, warns youths to consider its greater opportunities only in connection with the greater struggle and the unnatural and even sordid conditions that surround such endeavor. Mr. Bok does not hold that the young man should dodge the hard knocks by which character is molded, but that it is foolish deliberately to seek them, since they will come fast enough unsought.

The shortest road to success in the big city is by way of the country or the small community. Very few of the leaders of the great financial institutions in New York got their training in New York. They were called to those duties after they had made a success in smaller communities. As a rule their training ground has been the producing agricultural districts of the middle west. They have grown up in the small communities where quality counts.

Mr. Bok concludes that it is better to be a large toad in a pond than to be a small toad in a river. Work in the small community gives one a better opportunity to concentrate and to learn the principles of life under the most natural conditions. Cream will rise to the surface anywhere, says Mr. Bok, and the institutions of the big city will reach out for their captains only where they find quality. He says of the aspiring youth:

Let him use the great city as a market in which to buy or sell; to see and profit; let him use it as a place to go for a good time if he chooses. Let him bring back with him the best within it to serve his own community, but leave behind him its turmoil and restlessness that vexes the spirit and makes the young old. Let him think twice and thrice before he raises his children with the ghastly memory of a steam radiator in a city flat.

Which is pretty good advice after all.

UNINTERRUPTED BUSINESS.

"I shall continue to direct our affairs from the jail," said the convicted grafter.

"All right," replied the trusted lieutenant; "maybe in the course of time we can get enough prison reform to remodel jails so that they'll have elevators and telephone exchanges and all the conveniences of regular office buildings."—Washington Star.

WHAT ABOUT AFTERNOON?

A bill has been introduced in congress to require the house of representatives to sing "The Star-Spangled Banner" every morning. Good, as far as it goes. But why not require them to spend the entire morning in singing? It would save us a lot of money.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

WITH RECIPE.

"Carnations are all right for Mothers' day," observed the street car philosopher, "but when the old man's turn comes it were better to say it with dandelions."—Buffalo Express.

VEXATIONS are forever besetting one's pathway in this vale of tears. In addition to losing a collar button yester morn before breakfast, we devoted so much time to analysis of the election returns that we found it impossible to read chapter VIII. of Doctor Laughlin's "Men Are Like That."

I love your Gallic gaiety,
It lifts my weary heart.
Your wine-like wit will ever be
To me a gift apart.

No earthy clay nor wounding thing
Your subtle love of mirth—
Your laughter has a lilting swing
That gives it golden worth.

The guardians of morality
Must play a somber part—
I love your Gallic gaiety,
It lifts my weary heart. J. H.

PAINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Being the Day Dreams of a Dilettante in Chicago.

On a hot Sunday afternoon, the Graham and Morton dock is a cool, quiet place, one might almost say, a meditative place, at least that's all its few lone occupants appear to do. The boards there are softer than the average, judging from the degree of repose attained by the shabby figures stretched at ease, and content to watch the long white reflection of the Wrigley building wriggle in the green water.

Occasionally, a waiter from a near by restaurant saunters down and leans against the ancient dock head, smokes his cigarette—departs. Nothing disturbs the meditators. With exaggerated yawns they turn slowly, shift the bunch of tatters that does alternately for coat and pillow, more comfortably under the right shoulder, and continue—to meditate.

The other day I stopped to watch small lassies sidle shyly along the doll counter in at Marshall Field's. It was wonderful to see their young mother fingers fondling the doll shoes, doll umbrellas, and the exquisite array of doll trinkets, and sighing softly, happily, to themselves over the miniature furniture, wee coal kettles, floor lamps—everything for the doll house. UNDER THE WILLOW TREES.
TO PHAETON.

I want to sit 'neath the willow tree
Close by a deep blue summer lake;
Where I may plan in a jocund glee
My fancies, while my sad cares take
Some sightless wings to a distant shore,
And leave behind but skies of blue,
And skies below that reflect the more
Intensity of summer's hue;
Where I may watch just the dipping gulls
At play, upon delusive waves,
Whose music chants lin a tone that lulls
As antiphones in vaulted naves.

Envoy.

Oh, I could sing to the summer sky,
Or to the clouds that pass before,
To gulls that flit and then soar and fly,
Or waves that break against the shore;
Then I could sing to the languid breeze
That strikes and stirs the waters blue,
Or to the charm of the willow trees—
But best I could sing to you! CYGNUS.

NOT that you or he care a tinker's tink, but, in passing, one wishes to tender the tribute of a salute to the anonymous artist who created The Trib head on the flood story: "Let's Go, Cries Pueblo, Rising From Her Ruin." How to Keep Well.
By Dr. W. A. Evans.

Questions pertinent to hygiene, sanitation, and prevention of disease, if matters of general interest, will be answered in this column. Where space will not permit, or the subject is not suitable, letters will be personally answered subject to proper limitations, and where a stamped, addressed envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease. Requests for such service cannot be answered.

In a desire to co-operate with the Chicago Infant Welfare society, a set of articles and letters dealing with infant care has been provided. These are to run during Baby week and for a few days thereafter. One purpose of the arrangement is to get the public interested for a few days in the welfare of babies. Another is to bring to the attention of the public the merits of this society, one which is doing much to aid the health department in keeping the babies well and in training parents in mothercraft. The babies have never before had so fair a chance. The improvement must be progressive.

WHAT TO FEED CHILDREN.

WHILE it is important to recognize that a child is suffering from malnutrition, it is more important to know what to do about it. But you cannot know what to do about it until you know the cause. Dr. Taliaferro Clark gives the following as among the more important causes:

1. The child does not get enough food.
2. He does not get the right kind of food. By eating candy and other highly seasoned foods between meals he loses his appetite for substantial foods.
3. He eats irregularly. He eats between meal hours.
4. He bolts his food.
5. He drinks coffee and tea instead of milk and water.
6. He does not get enough sleep. A child 10 years old should be in bed at 8. The bedroom should be well ventilated.
7. He is constipated.
8. He gets too much emotional excitement.
9. He plays too hard, too many hours, too intensely. Or goes to shows after supper.
10. He is overworked, in school or out.
11. His teeth are bad or his tonsils are diseased.
12. He may have malaria or hookworm or other disease.

No child labors under the entire dozen handicaps enumerated.

As to food for growing children, he suggests the following:

Two to 4 years old:

Milk is the prime necessity. Also use fruits—baked apples, stewed prunes, apple sauce, stewed peaches, oranges, baked pears, stewed pears. All cereals. White vegetables—potato, rice. Green vegetables—string beans, asparagus, lettuce, stewed celery, carrots, spinach, greens, green peas, beets, chard. Breads—All kinds of bread, macaroni, spaghetti. Desserts—Junket, custard, tapioca cream, apple tapioca, prune whip, cooked fruit, simple jelly, sago, cornstarch pudding, rice pudding without raisins, bread pudding without raisins, ice cream. Protein foods—Eggs, boiled fish, chicken, mutton, steak, lamb, beef. Soups. Fats—Butter, oleomargarine, peanut butter, olive oil.

Among the list of approved foods for children 4 to 12 years of age are milk, meat broths, bouillion, milk soups, all soups, eggs, meat from fowls, all ordinary meats, all ordinary breads and cereals, macaroni, spaghetti, potatoes, rice, oysters, cheese, peas and beans, asparagus, spinach, greens, squash, pumpkin, celery, tomatoes, beets, carrots, lettuce, onions, parsnips, cocoa, puddings, tapioca, sago, blanc mange, ice cream, cooked fruit, raw ripe fruit, figs, apple sauce, grapefruit, bananas, berries, junket, and custard.

The list is long enough to afford selections to suit any taste. Growing children need considerably more food for each ten pounds of weight than adults do. They need considerably more proteid food per pound, both because they play as hard as a ditcher digs and because they grow, and growing is hard work.

It is well to bear in mind the seasonal variation in growth. Children grow rapidly in the spring. They grow but little in hot weather. Let the mothers of young babies remember the latter half of the above statement.

SUNLIGHT MAY HELP.

M. R. writes: "My little girl, 8 years old, was in bed for six weeks with rheumatism. She was unable to walk. She seems to be all right now. Would it do her any harm to take her to the beach and let her go in bathing?"

REPLY.

If the pain and soreness have disappeared it will not harm her. Exposure to sunlight on the beach may be somewhat helpful.

HOW TO FEED BABY.

Mrs. S. writes: "My baby is 6½ months old and I would like to know what to feed her as warm weather comes on. The baby is fed every three hours. She gets a teaspoonful or two of orange juice an hour before her morning nursing and I give her a small piece of zwelback in water in the middle of the day. Can I give her a little well cooked farina daily? She weighs 16 pounds."

REPLY.

It is well to stick rather closely to properly diluted good milk and fruit juice or tomato juice during hot weather. Since you are giving toasted bread you may continue it, but do not give cereal or other new food for the next six weeks and after that add an occasional new food, but be cautious about it.

ALL WRONG.

Chicago, June 4.—[Friend of the People.]—The owner of our flat refuses to put in any fly screens. The plumbing in the building is so old that rats have made big holes along the pipes and they come in the apartment at night. The flat is also full of all kinds of vermin. We have two small children and naturally have a hard time finding a place to live or we would move. Will you please report our case to the proper department for attention? W. K.

An investigation was made by an inspector from this department as a result of which notice has been served on the owner to abate the nuisance of rats and vermin and to provide screens for all the doors and windows.

JOHN DILL ROBERTSON,
Commissioner of Health.

REWARDING FAITHFULNESS.

Terre Haute, Ind., June 1.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—After several years' connection with a large corporation, working under a stipulated monthly salary which has always been paid by check semi-monthly, I am informed that owing to change in business methods my services will no longer be required. To what salary am I entitled? X. Y. Z.

In case of employment by the week, by the month, etc., the relationship can be terminated by either party without notice at the end of any of the recurrent periods. If the employé is discharged without cause during one of the periods he is entitled to pay up to the end of such period, less any earnings that he should have made in some other employment.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

OBSTINATE TENANT.

Chicago, June 4.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—1. I have given my tenant thirty day notice to move. If at the end of that time he does not, can I serve court notice and will it cost me anything?

2. Where must I go to serve court notice?

3. Is it necessary to give written notice on apartment without lease? F. P.

1. Yes, you can serve court notice; there will be some cost.
2. Employ an attorney.
3. It is advisable.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

GENERAL SCRAP HEAP.

Chicago, June 2.—[Friend of the People.]—I wish to call your attention to a shoe repair shop on Irving Park boulevard. It is in a ten flat building, and the tenants try to keep the yard clean but cannot do so when the shoemaker dumps all of his leather scraps and other waste into the backyard. It is in a very unsanitary condition. M. J. S.

An investigation was made by an inspector from this department, who served a notice on the tenant to remove all accumulation of refuse, rubbish, and sawdust from the cellar and rear yard.

JOHN DILL ROBERTSON,
Commissioner of Health.

PROTESTED CHECK.

Chicago, June 2.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Can you inform me what I can do to make my employer make good on a check for $41 which was given me for wages and which was protested by an Indiana bank for insufficient funds? This was given in good faith, and I was told it was a good check. The bank is pressing me to make good on the check. A. B.

Place the case in the hands of an attorney. Statute authorizes recovery of attorney fees on wage claims.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

BY PRESCRIPTION.

Chicago, June 4.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Please let me know if it is against the prohibition law for a salesman to sell whisky in bond to the retail and wholesale drug trade? F. F.

We assume that you know that these people are permitted to handle liquors under certain restrictions. Hence we do not get the point of your question.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

VACATING ROOMS.

Chicago, June 5.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—How much notice to vacate must one give to renters of furnished housekeeping rooms who rent by the month or by the week? L. F.

If the relation is the ordinary one of landlord and tenant, the landlord, having no general right of access, notice of thirty days or one week is necessary, depending on how the rooms are rented. If the landlord has right of access he can terminate the relation at the end of any of the recurrent periods.

BOTANY.

1. What are the six principal parts of all plants?
2. What are four annual plants?
3. Can you name five biennial plants?
4. What are some perennial plants?
5. What is an herbaceous plant?
6. What is an herbaceous perennial?
7. What are four examples of herbaceous perennials?
8. What is the significance of the term "pseudannuals," and what are some examples of it?
9. How may a perennial become an annual?
10. What is a shrub?

ZOOLOGY—ANSWERS.

1. Why does a bee or a fly not die instantly when its head is cut off or the body cut in two? Because the nervous system is so constructed that each segment represents a nearly complete animal.

2. How are the eyes of insects usually constructed? They are usually compound, being made up of hexagonal cones, sometimes many thousand in number, but each a distinct eye.

3. What life cycle do most insects pass through? Most insects undergo a metamorphosis. From the egg the insect, when hatched, is called a larva; then it goes through the pupa stage (sometimes surrounded by a cocoon); after remaining a certain time in the pupa stage it bursts its covering and appears as the imago, or perfect insect.

4. To what class do spiders, scorpions, and the itch mite belong? To the "Arachnida."

5. What is one distinct peculiarity about reptiles? They are air-breathing but cold-blooded.

6. What is peculiar about the teeth of crocodiles? Unlike other reptiles', the teeth of crocodiles are fastened in sockets.

7. Are reptiles carnivorous? Nearly all of them are carnivorous.

8. How are reptiles reproduced? From eggs.

9. What is the order Rodentia? They are characterized by a lack of canine teeth and incisors chisel shaped, adapted for gnawing, whence the name; also clavicles in nearly all, and cerebrum nearly smooth. The mouse and rat, squirrel, beaver, gopher, porcupine, guinea pig, and rabbit are members of this order.

10. What is the order to which the horse belongs? The order Ungulata.

OPPOSING WORTH, PAQUIN, ET AL.

Chicago, June 4.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Enclosed please find a different viewpoint on the necessity of corsets from that expressed this morning in your columns in an article by Henry Wales of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE Foreign News Service.

One important secret of the Parisienne's beauty is that she does choose and wear her corsets with care.

If one is shaped like a reed "n'import"—nothing matters. But most women require the help of the corset. O, the wails one hears over the loss of their figures from those women who mistakenly abandoned corsets.

Returning from a buying trip and consulting the most prominent makers of gowns, lingerie and corsets, we know that corsets as they are today bear the stamp of Parisian approval. They bear no more relation to our old conception of corsets than the golf course to croquet, nor the automobile to the sedan chair. Only the softest, most pliable fabrics enter into their fashioning. Most Parisian dressmakers present the corset suited to the occasion with the gown made for the individual figure and insist that manikins be corseted in their fashion displays. However, the finished effect must show no evidence of corseting, but only the most graceful, supple lines. Different types of corsets are offered for sports, dancing, negligee, evening and tailored wear. From the tailored brassiere to the smallest confiner, each has a mission of grace to the figure. MAUD GARDINER.

DISCOURAGING WHAT THE BOYS LIKE.

Chicago, June 4.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—In today's TRIBUNE I noticed a column given to "Boys Like Silk Stockings, but not Exhibitors," by Floyd Brown, director of the Young Men's club of Lake Forest. I would like to tell you it is not true concerning the boys, for that is the very thing they do like. Otherwise, why is it that the few who girls that there are who never paint, or wear their skirts to their knees are never able to find any nice boys?

Boys go with them once and find out that they do not flirt, then drop them, and these girls are what Floyd Brown mentioned as ideal girls.

So you see you cannot hardly blame the average girl from doing these things for they want men friends as well as other girls. This being the case, friends and I have decided we would rather be old maids than go with the kind of boys. CAROLINE DUFFIELD.

SAVE THE "NORTHERN LAKE PARK."

Phillips, Wis., June 1.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The "Northern Lakes park"—about 7,800 acres forested lake and river region, owned by the lumbermen in central upper Wisconsin, most beautiful, last of its kind, and best between the Adirondacks and the Yellowstone, has been reached by the loggers and, unless promptly preserved, will be, in a that makes it distinctive, destroyed.

Only the state can save it by taking it over as a public park. The legislature is now in session. It will adjourn in about three weeks, possibly more. Another session would be too late. The special joint investigating committee has just gone through the region, down the river and up the lakes, and all the members were enraptured. There is no political or other controversy. It is now a question of the necessary appropriation.

Many of the big outdoor, park, and forestry men of the country are back of the movement. They see the matter in its national aspect, and their responses have been most generous. Among them might be mentioned Stephen T. Mather, director of the national park service; Dan Beard, Robert Sterling Yard of the National Parks association; Stewart Edward White, Emerson Hough, Edward Hagaman Hall of the Association for the Protection of the Adirondacks; Edmund Seymour of the American Bison society; William F. Bade of the Sierra club; Enos A. Mills, the editors of Field and Stream, All Outdoors, and the International Studio; James Oliver Curwood; J. B. Harkin, commissioner of the dominion parks, Canada; Ernest L. Millard of the Municipal Art league, Chicago; Jens Jensen, president, Friends of Our Native Landscape; Mr. Marsh of the American Lumberman, and in fact, many others.

Senator Lenroot and almost our entire congressional delegation are behind it, as well as many other prominent Wisconsin people.

There is no taint of self-interest or misrepresentation. The proposition is clean and straight. The region is a dream of beauty, and it is almost impossible to exaggerate in describing it. The exploitation for its timber or otherwise could begin to compensate us, and pay for its loss to the state and nation. It will be visited, when preserved as known, by hundreds of thousands annually, among them people from all over the middle west, and, if letters from the east and far west mean anything, from all over the country. ASA K. OWEN.

NEW ERA DAWNS FOR ULSTER.

With the formal opening yesterday at Belfast (indicated by an arrow on the map) of the parliament whose members were elected last month, under the home rule act, the six northeastern counties of Ulster become self-governing.

The map shows the position of Ulster with relation to the rest of Ireland. Twelve Nationalist and Sinn Fein members of the new parliament were absent from yesterday's ceremonies.

PULLMAN WAGE HEARING DELAYED BY UNIONS' FIGHT

The right of the Pullman company, seeking to reduce wages to the scale in effect before the increases of July, 1920, were authorized, to bring its case before the United States railroad labor board was challenged at yesterday's session of the board by B. M. Jewell, president of the railway employés' department of the American Federation of Labor.

Massmeetings the company officials had with employés resulted in no agreement on the proposal for wage cuts.

"We have several classes of employés—union, nonunion, and some under our industrial relations plan," G. E. Fernald, counsel for the Pullman company, testified. "Through massmeetings, we dealt directly with 6,172 of the 10,079 employés who would be affected. The transportation act does not specify that employers must deal with organizations."

Jewell Disputes Right to Be Heard.

Mr. Jewell contended the dispute was not properly before the board, since the company, he said, had given his organizations no notice of meetings to be held.

The labor board will consider the question thus raised in executive session. Meanwhile hearings of the Pullman wage dispute will at least be delayed.

Fitzgerald Hall, counsel for the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railway, presented to the board comparative wage statistics that lacked some of the dryness usually attributed to "figgers."

Gives Startling Figures.

"The engineer on the Tullahoma 'accommodation,'" said Mr. Hall, "receives $4,371.92, or just $371.92 more than the governor of Tennessee.'

The railway counsel turned to Former Governor Hooper of Tennessee, public member of the board, for corroboration. He continued:

"Presbyterian ministers, receiving $1,600 annually, get less than one-half the wages paid yardmasters. The yardmasters get $305 a month in Nashville, while school principals receive $250 a month. Full professors at Vanderbilt university of Nashville get $3,750 a year, compared with $5,735.88 the conductor on our Rome branch is paid."

GLOVE PRICES DOWN.

BRIG. GEN. RUCKMAN, WHO FOUGHT IN TWO WARS, PASSES AWAY

BRIG. GEN. J. W. RUCKMAN.

Brookline Mass., June 7.—Brig. Gen. John W. Ruckman, in command of the North Atlantic coast artillery district, died at his home here early today.

He was born at Sydney, Ill., in 1858, was graduated from West Point in 1883. During the world war he held the rank of major general in the national army.

He served in Cuba with the army of occupation and later went to the Philippines, where he was inspector general for two years. He commanded a provisional regiment of coast artillery on the Texas border in 1916.

2 WOMEN HURT, BOY KILLED, IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Two women were injured, one probably fatally, when a taxi collided with another automobile at Monroe street and Michigan boulevard last night.

Miss Sophie Marks, 4316 Grand boulevard, was returning home from a theater in the taxi, which in rounding the corner was struck by an auto in which was riding Miss Iona Rainford, Strand hotel, 63d street and Cottage Grove avenue. Both women were taken to St. Luke's hospital, where it was found Miss Marks suffered a skull fracture, while Miss Rainford received only minor injuries.

Three year old Robert Ahrens was struck and killed yesterday in front of his home, 1522 North Keystone avenue, by an automobile driven by Mrs. Julia Gibson of 1520 North Monticello avenue. Witnesses say Mrs. Gibson tried to swerve the car when the child darted in front of it. She was not held.

John Nelson, 65 years old, 860 Buckingham place, died at Augustana hospital of auto injuries received May 26.

FRANCE HELPS GERMAN EFFORT TO JOIN LEAGUE

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

PARIS, June 7.—"To fortify German democracy against the imperialists I make a motion to admit Germany to the league of nations, as soon as possible, in conformity with the covenant," said M. Aulard, the French delegate to the congress of league of nations societies, now meeting at Geneva. The motion was adopted.

Dr. von Buelow, representing the German peace league, demanded admittance to the congress of the league of nations societies as the first step toward seeking entry into the league of nations. The British and Italians strongly supported the movement, and the French delegate, M. Aulard, sprang a surprise by making a motion for German's admission, but protecting the French attitude through provisions that Germany first conform to the covenant requirements.

Former President Ador of Switzerland spoke favoring Germany's admittance.

—and is, then, Henrici service perfect?

Certainly not. There are many little details which might, and eventually will, be improved. Although more than half a century of careful foresight and vigilance has brought Henrici service to a point hardly approached in any other restaurant of its type, we hope always to see ways to advance the service still further.

A tabulation of all the prices on a Henrici menu, totaled and divided by the number of items, shows an extremely moderate average cost to the patron for food and service of unexcelled quality. That is one reason why Henrici's is a logical place in which to take evening dinner—you may add many side dishes to your main selection without undue cost.

SENATE, HOUSE, DISAGREE OVER UTILITIES BILL

Fight Will Occupy Closing Hours of Session.

Springfield, Ill., June 7.—[Special.]—The public utilities bill was reported today from the senate committee in a condition unsatisfactory to both Gov. Small and the public utilities companies. The house bill has carried sixteen amendments, which are so drawn that it is certain to go to conference. The prediction now is that the amended bill will be passed by the senate.

The governor's and the city hall forces in the house will refuse to accept the senate amendments, and the conference session on the measure will be the overshadowing issue of the closing hours of the legislature next week.

The senate organization broke wide open today, when the administration bill was called in the public utilities committee, of which Senator Turnbaugh is chairman. Senator Barr now stands sponsor for the amended bill. Senator Ettelson, with the city hall votes behind him, broke with Senator Barr and fought the Barr amendment at every step.

Dailey for Present Law.

Senator Dailey, in a spectacular speech, denounced the entire matter as "bunk" and served notice he would oppose any change in the present state utilities law.

Senator Barr's amendment that takes away from the city council the right to initiate "home rule" was the tack that blew up the tire. It was a simple amendment, providing only that a city wanting to exercise its home rule prerogative must initiate it by a petition signed by 25 per cent of the registered voters. With this petition the city council could call an election, and withdraw itself from the control of the state commission. The governor's bill as it was driven through the house, provided that the city council could by ordinance initiate the proceeding. In practice, as the Barr amendment is understood on the inside, the home rule feature is dead, unless the state commission proceeds to a degree so extreme that one-fourth of the registered voters cannot stand for its orders.

Senator Ettelson fought this amendment, and was defeated. Then came Senator Dailey's attack.

"With this so called home rule in the bill," he said, "the state commission, largely increased in the number of jobs and the pay thereof, will have substantially nothing to do except to count the telegraph poles and eat the grass at the grade crossings. We all know this is the bunk. Why are we so childish as to admit as much to our constituents?"

Transportation Bill Hangs Fire.

The mayor's local transportation district bill was not moved today in the house. Three bills, however, came out of the house public utilities committee, all said to be complimentary to the original bill, ineffective unless the proposed local transportation district actually is established.

One permits the consolidation of the surface and the elevated lines, or the sale of one to the other. The other two authorize the Chicago city council to extend existing franchises for a period limited to three years, pending the taking over of the physical properties.

PAY ROLL GUARD ROBBED OF $1,500 AT FACTORY DOOR

Nick Kaiser, messenger for the Schoenberg Brothers Clothing company, was robbed of $1,500 yesterday in front of the company's factory at 2035 Charles street. The money was intended for the employes' pay roll. It was taken by a man who escaped in the taxicab in which Kaiser had arrived at the factory.

Capt. Patrick Harding of the Shakespeare avenue station believes there is "something wrong" in Kaiser's story, and he is investigating.

"Kaiser says the robber had preceded him into the factory," Harding said. "He asserts that as he entered the hallway the robber, pointing a revolver at him, grabbed the money and dashed out the door. I believe Kaiser should have grappled with the man, and I believe he is mixed up in his story."

Lake View also won the regular company review contest, the prize being the Greenebaum cup. Lane Technical High school took honors for the best band, winning a cup donated by Edwin S. Davis, president of the board of education.

Hyde Park High and Crane Technical students came off with even honors for the first prize in the regimental colors contest. The same companies will drill it off this afternoon in Grant park at Congress street. The loser will be awarded second prize.

This is the test rubber experts use to determine the quality of rubber heels. A heel is cut along the side so that a thin strip of rubber is left attached at one end. The quality of the rubber is indicated by the way in which that strip reacts to stretching.

Like an elastic band—

A STRIP cut from the side of an ordinary rubber heel stretches very little and snaps in two. A heel like this is hard and "dead." Like a hard leather heel, it wears down quickly.

A strip cut from the side of an O'Sullivan Heel stretches and springs back like an elastic band.

This test shows clearly the remarkable springiness and toughness of O'Sullivan's Heels. It shows why O'Sullivan's absorb the shocks of walking on hard, unyielding pavements. It shows that there is enough "give" in O'Sullivan's Heels to prevent their grinding down rapidly.

O'Sullivan's Heels are guaranteed to wear twice as long as ordinary rubber heels—they will outlast three pairs of leather heels.

Go to your shoe-repairer today and have O'Sullivan's Heels put on your shoes. Insist on getting O'Sullivan's!

1921 IS REWARDING FIGHTERS

REGULATE, DON'T ABOLISH, PIT, WALLACE SAYS

No Action at Springfield on Lantz Bill.

New York, June 7.—[Special.]—Henry C. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, in answering criticism because of his stand for regulation of grain exchanges and the packing industry, tonight told members of the Standard Farm Paper association that the exchanges and the packers were essential, but that they should be regulated to prevent unfair practices.

"The system of fixing prices on grain exchanges," said Secretary Wallace, "is the best for fixing grain prices today. But while I think it is the best system of fixing prices, I think every one knows they have been guilty of gross abuses in manipulation. Hordes of parasites have developed around the business. I believe they must be regulated to prevent unfair practices, but we must do nothing to interfere with the orderly use of legitimate functions."

He spoke in a similar vein of the packing industry, citing the stimulus which the packers had given the live stock industry.

No Lantz Bill Action.

Springfield, Ill., June 7.—[Special.]—By agreement reached this afternoon there was no test vote today in the house on the Lantz bill that places control of the Chicago Board of Trade within the custody of the state director of agriculture. Each side permitting the bill to be placed on the calendar on second reading without a roll call, so that neither element had to show its hand.

Amendments will be offered tomorrow on second reading and the result is much in doubt. The interests fighting for the Lantz bill will resist any amendment, regardless of type or intention, for the reason that the bill with an amendment will have to go up against another roll call in the senate. It is now improbable that twenty-six votes could be mustered again for the bill in the senate.

State Police Bill Killed.

The state police bill went to its doom in the senate this morning when it failed by two votes to command the necessary twenty-six for passage. Senator Dunlap had to beat down a fire of parliamentary objections before he could get a roll call. One of the promised votes failed to get on record and the twenty-sixth, that was promised if the twenty-fifth was lined up, didn't have to vote. This ends the matter for this session.

The state tax commission bill wanted by the administration went to third reading in the senate after a short skirmish.

Senator Wheeler secured the passage of a resolution that calls upon the department of public works to prepare preliminary plans for constructing "the American Legion highway," from north to south through the state.

The house passed a squad of minor bills and the senate put through a dozen lesser matters.

The senate adjourned until tomorrow but the house recessed until 8 o'clock for a night session.

EQUITY SOCIETY URGES CHANGES IN TINCHER ACT

Washington, D. C., June 7.—[Special.]—Amendments to the Tincher grain exchange bill designed to make it absolutely certain that coöperative associations shall be admitted to grain exchanges were presented to the senate committee on agriculture today by Representative Young of North Dakota. The amendments were sponsored by the equity coöperative exchange, and were presented as a result of statements made by some witnesses that under the bill as it now stands it might not be possible for the coöperative associations to secure membership on the exchanges, although that is the intent of the bill.

Mr. Young was questioned by members of the committee about distribution of coöperative exchange dividends. Senator Kendrick of Wyoming objected to the distribution of dividends to persons other than members of the coöperative organization.

It was explained that after the 8 per cent dividend had been distributed among members of the exchanges the remainder of the profit was divided among those patronizing the equity.

Dempsey was able to put on both gloves unaided by his nurse and Carpentier is training on bread and milk. Dempsey will be impersonated by Miss Frances Weston, 4, and Carpentier by Richard Christian, also 4.

FRIENDS ASSERT LASKER HEADS SHIPPING BOARD

Washington, D. C., June 7.—[Special.]—Albert D. Lasker of Chicago, it was reported tonight in authoritative quarters, has agreed to accept the chairmanship of the United States shipping board.

Although he was reluctant to take the place, after two conferences with President Harding he is said to have yielded. Late today there were indications that Claudius H. Huston, assistant secretary of commerce, of Tennessee, was being considered, but at a late hour tonight Mr. Lasker's close friends announced that he would be named by the President tomorrow.

Official announcement was withheld tonight because the President wishes to announce the chairman and six other members of the board at one time, together with a statement relating to shipping board policy.

$40,000,000 TAX BOOST SCHEME MAY BE KILLED

BY ARTHUR M. EVANS.

Chicago rent payers now have an attentive eye fixed on the city hall's tax bills at Springfield:

One of the economic consequences of the coalition landslide Monday may be the stopping of measures which would unload upon the taxpayers of Cook county a tax increase of $40,000,000 a year.

The bills have been on the skids in readiness to be shoved through in the final days of the assembly, but Monday's defeat may prove to have loosened the grip of the Thompson-Lundin machine on the legislature. The real significance of the tax bills in cold dollars and cents is beginning to penetrate to the consciousness of the electorate, and many a legislator is beginning to grasp that, and when the tax bills for 1921 are shoved over the collector's window his real showdown would be with his constituents instead of with the machine.

Means 44 Per Cent Boost Here.

Forty millions a year tax boost is the estimate of the Chicago bureau of efficiency. In Chicago it means a leap of 44 per cent in the average tax rates.

In other lines deflation is proceeding. Clothing has come down in price; food at retail has dropped 43 per cent from the peak of a year ago; wages have been chopped in many industries—a survey of 562 establishments in twenty key industries given out yesterday showed that since Jan. 1 wage reductions have been made averaging 20 per cent and affecting more than 4,000,000 workers throughout the United States.

High rents are held to have swallowed up much of the decrease in cost of food, fuel, and clothes. With a 44 per cent tax boost in sight, if the city hall bills go through, the effect would not be to reduce rents, but on the contrary to offer ground for further increases.

The Consumer Pays the Bill.

It is a commonplace that taxes are always unloaded on the consumer. The landlord passes it on to the shopkeeper as increased rent; the merchant tacks it on the price tag of his goods; every time the ball is passed it grows, until by the time the $40,000,000 tax increase eventually reached the pocket of the consumer, in rent and in bills for meats, shoes, groceries, and the rest, it would be swelled to at least $100,000,000.

With cost of living comig down, why should cost of local government go up 44 per cent?—that is going to be a hard nut for the rate payers to crack.

How Rates Would Jump.

The bureau of efficiency's figures show that if the proposed bills are passed, the tax rate for the towns of South Chicago, Hyde Park, and Lake will jump in 1921 from $5.39 on each $100 of assessed valuation, to $7.79. This is an increase of $2.40, or 44.5 per cent.

In the town of West Chicago, the rate will advance from $5.57 to $8.10, an increase of $2.53, or 45.4 per cent. In North Chicago the increase would be from $5.89 to $8.23, meaning an advance of $2.34, or 39.7 per cent.

Lake View's tax rate would jump from $5.89 to $8.26, meaning an increase of $2.37, or 40 per cent.

In the towns of Rogers Park, Jefferson, and Calumet, the advance would be from $5.31 in 1920 to $7.67 for 1921, meaning a jump of $2.36, or 44.5 per cent.

BANK OF KINDNESS

Draw a Check on It for the Unfortunate.

BY REV. G. A. MAC WHORTER.

Emerson Settlement House, Ohio and Lincoln streets, is a victim of "high rents," so a benefit to obtain funds with which to build a portable building for immediate occupancy will be held on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Apollo theater. It is called "The Junior Follies of 1921," and is directed and staged by Bozena Gueldner. Little Dorothy Edwards is one of the dancers in ballet, which is under direction of S. Kopiloff, late ballet master of "Mecca" and "Aphrodite." Miss Olga Menn will interpret a mechanical doll; two young lightweights, aged 4 and 5, will put on a society boxing bout with the permission of the entire police force, and St. Philip Neri's choir, will sing children's songs by John Alden Carpenter. The young editors of "Bellevue Special," who first sponsored Emerson House, are acting as press agents for the benefit. There will be many box parties for the children, and with so many children on the program, it will be a children's benefit.

FOR $1.60 SCHOOL TAX

Recommendation that the legislature set the Chicago school tax at $1.60 per $100 of taxable property, instead of the $2 asked by the board of education, was made yesterday in a report issued by the Chicago bureau of public efficiency, of which Julius Rosenwald is chairman.

The bureau declares that by raising the rate from $1.20 to $1.60 the board of education will obtain ample revenue to maintain the present teachers' salary schedule and provide automatic advances.

The bureau also recommended that a special tax rate of 5 cents be granted for use in furnishing free textbooks to pupils of the public schools. Voters approved the free textbook proposal at a referendum Monday.

CHARLES LEVY HEADS GRAND JURY.

Charles Levy, 3932 Pine Grove avenue, was chosen foreman of the June grand jury when it was impaneled before Chief Justice McDonald yesterday. The jurors will hold their first session this morning.

'BURGLAR MAID'S' CASE CONTINUED; NEW RAID BARED

Mrs. Etta Heil of 6169 Winthrop avenue, wife of Joseph S. Heil, wealthy broker, appeared yesterday in Judge William L. Morgan's court and obtained a continuance of charges that she looted many homes after obtaining employment as a maid.

A new complaint was added to those previously filed against the woman, whose friends and relatives say is a kleptomaniac. Assistant State's Attorney J. Leonard Brill requested that her bail be increased to $20,000 after Mrs. Walter A. Scott of 1415 North State parkway had identified Mrs. Heil as a "maid" who decamped with clothing and jewelry valued at $5,000.

Mrs. Heil has been in a private sanitarium since her arrest several weeks ago. Her attorney announced she would go back pending the hearing, which was set for June 14.

"Everything will be straightened out," said Mr. Heil on leaving the courtroom. "No one will be the loser."

COAL INDUSTRY FIGHTS AGAINST U. S. MEDDLING

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., June 7.—[Special.]—All branches of the coal industry declared today their opposition to any regulatory legislation, following a conference with Secretary of Commerce Hoover, Secretary of Interior Fall, and Senators Frelinghuysen and Calder.

In attendance were committees representing bituminous and anthracite operators, retail dealers and wholesalers. All expressed their willingness to cooperate with the government in furnishing information for statistical purposes, but held unnecessary legislation such as contemplated in the Frelinghuysen bills. One of the Frelinghuysen bills provides for investigations and statistical work by the department of commerce and by the bureau of mines of the department of the interior, while the other provides for seasonal freight rates.

Secretaries Hoover and Fall both indicated that compilation of statistics was essential for the growth of the coal industry, and that publication of coal prices was necessary to protect both the coal operators and the public.

Secretary Fall showed displeasure at the attitude of the coal men, and warned that eventually it might be necessary for the government to enter into competition with the coal operators through the sale of coal from public lands unless the industry coöperates to the fullest extent.

Senator Frelinghuysen was also displeased by the attitude of the coal representatives.

J. G. Bradley, president of the National Coal association, who was one of the chief spokesmen, issued a statement tonight dealing with the situation.

"The coal men expressed their readiness to furnish voluntarily all the information desired regarding production, distribution, and prices in the industry," he said. "In view of this readiness there is no necessity for any peremptory legislation and therefore we assue that the administration will follow its announced policy of avoiding regulation of industry and will not countenance inquisitorial legislation.

"We are also entirely willing to permit checking of our data."

Without a marked revival of domestic or foreign business no coal shortage is in prospect for next year, George H. Cushing, managing director of the American Wholesale Coal association, declared today at the annual convention of the organization, in session here.

DEAR MR. MITCHELL:
I was attracted by one of your advertisements and so I ordered a suit from you. To say that I was pleased with the suit does not express it. I WAS TICKLED TO DEATH! Everybody who sees it on me is a regular customer for you, because, I always tell them that HARRY MITCHELL MADE IT. My reason for writing this letter is, I am a great lover of truth, and I want to tell you that I know you tell the truth in your ads. My suit proves it. 2. You may mail your solution (or as many solutions as you desire) any time between now and midnight of August 12, 1921. Solutions postmarked after that time will not be considered.

3. This contest is open to you whether you are a subscriber to Cosmopolitan or not. It is not necessary that you buy the magazine in order to enter the contest.

7. No manuscripts will be returned and we cannot undertake to answer any questions.

IN "Alias the Lone Wolf," a serial by Louis Joseph Vance now appearing in Cosmopolitan, Michael Lanyard, alias "The Lone Wolf," once a notorious Parisian criminal, but now a valued member of the British Secret Service, employing his leave of absence to make a walking tour in the Cevennes of Southern France, meets under romantic circumstances Madame Eve de Montalais, an American girl, widow of a French officer. He rescues her, her mother and sister-in-law, from an attempt at highway robbery engineered by their chauffeur, one Dupont, whom Lanyard recognizes as an apache, and who, of course, promptly disappears.

Escorting the Montalais party to their chateau, Lanyard there encounters a curious assorted party of motorists seeking shelter from a storm, Mr. Whitaker Monk and his secretary, Mr. Phinuit, both Americans and the Comte and Comtesse de Lorgnes. These gentry deftly guide the conversation to the magnificent collection of jewels which Eve de Montalais possesses, learn that the jewels are at the Chateau de Montalais, then go their way.

DUPONT waylays and severely wounds Lanyard. Rescued by Eve, Lanyard is nursed back to health at the Chateau de Montalais, and falls in love with her—hopelessly as he believes.

On the eve of his departure the Montalais jewels mysteriously vanish. Lanyard, knowing that his identity must be discovered as soon as the police are called in, and that no one will ever believe anybody but "The Lone Wolf" stole the jewels, reveals his secret to Eve, who expresses perfect confidence in him and even refuses to avail herself of the services of the police. Lanyard pledges himself to recover her jewels, and the better to delude the real criminals, arranges to "disappear" and to be blamed, under an assumed name he had thus far worn, for the robbery.

LEAVING the chateau by night, he sets out for Paris, and enroute falls in with Dupont, who, however, does not notice him, and who it appears is trailing the Comte de Lorgnes. The latter is traveling alone. On the arrival of their night train in Paris, de Lorgnes is found murdered in his berth and Dupont has again disappeared.

A tour of all-night restaurants leads to the discovery that the self-styled Comtesse de Lorgnes was really Liane Delorme, a notorious beauty of the Parisian underworld, formerly a Quartier Latin model whom Lanyard had befriended. Lanyard follows Liane to her home and secretly enters the house just in time to interfere when Dupont, treacherously admitted by a housemaid, attempts to assassinate Mlle. Delorme.

AT this point, the installment in June Cosmopolitan takes up the story. The chief interest in "Alias the Lone Wolf" centers about the Wolf's infatuation for Eve Montalais, her faith in him and his promise to recover her stolen jewels.

The trail is long—the pursuit fascinating—the plot thrilling—but through it all, the reader wonders if the Lone Wolf, clever as he is, will restore the Montalais jewels to their rightful owner, and how he will do it—if he does.

LOUIS Joseph Vance, author of "Alias the Lone Wolf" has solved the mystery in his own way. His solution will appear in the concluding installment which will be published in September Cosmopolitan.

But you will have your own ideas as to how the jewels might be recovered by the Lone Wolf. It is for your skill in solving this mystery, your talent for writing your solution in the cleverest, briefest, most concise manner that the publishers of Cosmopolitan offer a total of $5000 in cash awards.

"The cleverer the solutions, the more delighted I shall be."

Publishers, Cosmopolitan:

I beg to acknowledge and to accept with thanks your kind invitation to act as one of the judges in the unusual prize contest you are projecting in connection with my ALIAS, THE LONE WOLF. I am honoured by the opportunity to serve in such distinguished company, and I am also extremely eager to read, analyze and ponder the solutions as they come in. It's going to mean hard work, and I loathe hard work, but the interest attaching to the job is going to compensate in this case.

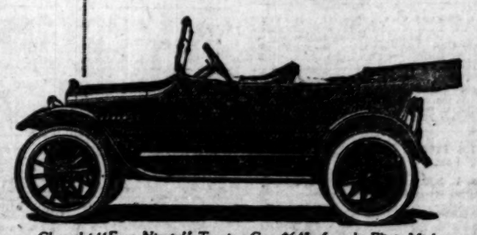

The everyday prize contest has always seemed to me a singularly deadly affair; but the plan you advertise is unique and, taken together with the tremendous facilities at your command for putting it before the public, ought to arouse nationwide interest. And I would be an inhuman author did I find anything objectionable in that? Furthermore, it's sure to stimulate the imagination and inventiveness of one of the most ingenious peoples the world has ever known; so I shall look forward with keenest interest to the results, and also with not a little apprehensiveness. I don't mind admitting I was a bit proud of my way of solving the Lone Wolf's problem and that I am now confidently anticipating the humbling of my vanity to the dust by the wits of your readers. For all that, the more clever they prove in outdistancing my ingenuity, the more delighted I shall be.

Choose Canada for Your Vacation

It is cool, lying north of our northern boundary.

It is beautiful, Nature having formed delightfully its charming landscapes.

It is comfortable, the hotels, rustic camps and provisions for hospitality rising to a degree almost unknown at our resorts. Canada is a Picturesque, Historic, Legendary Playground, full of adventure and interest for tourists, nature lovers, artists, campers, canoeists, anglers, hunters, and mountain climbers.

While it is in no sense a "foreign" country, it provides just the change in manners, customs, architecture and general outlook which give a vacation its full value.

Reduced fares during entire summer season.

Let us give to you, without cost or obligation, Grand Trunk guide-books, with maps and illustrations. These cover the Canadian Highlands—Muskoka Lakes, Lake of Bays, Algonquin Park, Timagami, Kawartha Lakes, etc.; St. Lawrence River country, Quebec, Maritime Provinces, the seashore and the mountains of New England.

State if practicable, what district you are desirous of visiting.

PINK NIGHTIES AND TAX REFORM WAGE TALK DUEL

Dry Goods Delegates Get Both Ears Full.

Excess profits, special taxes, surtaxes, and pink silk nighties were topics of discussion yesterday at the second annual convention of the controllers' congress of the National Dry Goods association, in session at the Sherman.

"The 1918 tax law is unfair in that it discriminates in favor of the rich man who has to spend a much smaller proportion of his income for necessities than does the man with a moderate income," said Carlos B. Clark of Detroit, Mich., chairman.

"Yes," came a sickroom whisper such as invariably aggravates the patient, "the gauzy pink silk nighties, trimmed with tiny rosebuds and hanging from the shoulders by silk ribbons, are being replaced today by French handmade and domestic articles in batistes, lawns, and muslins."

Two Speakers, One Audience.

Miss Iva L. Shull, also of Detroit, one of the few women attending the convention, was at the rear of the hall and was granting an interview. It was difficult, because Mr. Clark has a good voice that was emphatically contending that "our taxes now eat up 21 cents out of every dollar. But Miss Shull continued with a bright smile:

"These less expensive articles are just as exquisite and dainty, and the next best thing to having silk next to the skin. The embroidered importations, with lace fillet and Cluny, are particularly sweet and are appealing more and more to the American girl as she becomes less extravagant in her tastes."

A delegate with mouth open and one hand cupped to his right ear apparently was having difficulty in catching what Mr. Clark was advocating about "elimination of all excess profits, special taxes, and surtaxes, and the substitution of a gross sales tax on all business."

The delegate frowned on Miss Shull, who was conceding that "silk negligee is still being purchased, but to a great extent by men, for it is more appropriate as a gift for a wife, daughter, or sweetheart than one of those luxurious silk undergarments."

Mr. Clark Gets the Floor.

After explaining that the revival of horseback riding is largely responsible for the increased demand for sport suits, she indicated the close of the interview by leaning forward to hear her fellow townsman. Mr. Clark was saying:

"To stimulate business and equalize the tax burden, the committee proposes to increase the exemption on income taxes from $1,000 to $2,500 for the unmarried taxpayer; from $2,000 to $5,000 for married men and women, and from $200 to $500 on each child."

"Don't you think Mr. Clark is enormously interesting?" Miss Shull asked.

INDIANA ELKS MEET.

Evansville, Ind., June 7.—[Special.]—The twentieth annual convention of the Indiana Elks will meet here tomorrow for a two day session. Three thousand visitors are expected.

EARLY END OF BRITISH MINERS' STRIKE IN SIGHT

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

LONDON, June 7.—The miners and owners are engaged in a race to negotiate settlement of the coal strike before the date upon which the government's offer of £10,000,000 to be used in increasing the miners' pay expires. Both sides want that £10,000,000 prize to help out the industry.

The mine owners, through President Evan Williams, took the initiative and invited the miners' executives to meet yesterday morning. It was the first time the opponents had met since the strike without the presence of government representatives. The conference made such progress that the points of disagreement were narrowed as to whether the standard minimum wage would be based on that of 1914 or of 1919. The owners want the former and the miners the latter.

If the owners agree to a 25 or 30 per cent increase on the 1914 standard the miners will probably be satisfied.

If an agreement on wages is reached late tonight or tomorrow, as is expected, the miners will call the delegates for a conference on Thursday and the members of the federation will be asked to ballot on returning to work.

"—speaking of ham-and-eggs"

Thousands of men when they think of real value think of two things—ham-and-eggs and Cinco cigars. A look around any dining car or restaurant will bear evidence of this ham-and-eggs kind of wisdom.

You've seen countless people flounder around for ten minutes over the menu and end by ordering ham and eggs. And when a seasoned smoker stands up to a 20-foot cigar case and gets lost in a confusion of brands, he finally calls for Cinco.

Cinco cigars taste just right. Seventy years' experience and a distribution of hundreds of millions a year has taught us what men like. The quality is in Cinco always, for the fundamental principle of our business is that every Cinco shall be like every other Cinco. Ham-and-eggs common sense is saying to thousands of men in Chicago—"Stick to Cinco—it's safe."

A vagary for a summer day

(and the hotter the day, the better you will like it)—an enchantingly brief dressing-jacket of crepe de chine, bound 'round with ecru val. lace that in turn is bound with ribbon. The colors are three: shell pink, very soft blue, and a pale orchid that is most becoming. 5.95 is moderate for it. Third floor.

Nip and tuck

At the merest pressure of a button, part of the handle slips back and discloses a mirror, powder, rouge and a lip-stick—so Paris demonstrates that Cleopatra lived two thousand years too soon. First floor.

On the road to Mandalay

FRESH SCANDAL WINGS UP FROM STILLMAN ASHES

Banker Named Don Juan by Gotham Husband.

New York, June 7.—[Special.]—James A. Stillman, within the next few days, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE learned tonight, will be named as co-respondent in a suit for absolute divorce by a well known society man.

This suit is independent of the one the former head of the National City bank brought against his wife, naming Fred K. Beauvais, the Indian guide, and questioning the legitimacy of Baby Guy.

The new suit, which will play a leading part in the Stillman divorce muddle, names a former Dutchess county woman, and will charge that the banker had more than friendly relations with the wife of the plaintiff at Newport, R. I., where his villa is located.

Maid and Keyhole Again.

A maid in the household of the plaintiff in the new action will be the star witness, and will tell, it is said, of what she heard and saw through a keyhole of her mistress' room.

Lawyers are now drawing up the papers, which will be filed in a few days, and in them, it is said, some startling information regarding Stillman's summer at Newport will be revealed.

It is learned that attorneys for Mrs. Stillman have had several conferences with the lawyers for the man who is bringing the suit against Stillman.

An agreement to resume hearings in the Stillman divorce action before Referee Daniel J. Gleason at Poughkeepsie Wednesday of next week was reached today by attorneys for Mr. Stillman and for Mrs. "Fifi" Stillman, in the chambers of Supreme Court Justice Martin J. Keough at New Rochelle. Justice Keough issued an order so limiting the stay.

Can Name "Clara."

Attorneys for Mr. Stillman also agreed to accept the amended answer, which Mrs. Stillman had applied for permission to file and in which she will name another woman, known only as "Clara," in addition to Mrs. Florence H. Leeds.

"Clara," is said to have been a show girl. She is described as a Scandinavian, speaking English with a marked accent, blonde and fair complexioned. In Mrs. Stillman's amended answer, "Clara" is alleged to have lived with Stillman at two New York addresses.

POLICE BATTLE WITH MOB; RESCUE TWO DETECTIVES

Policemen fought their way through a crowd estimated at several thousand persons last night to rescue Detective Sergeants Patrick O'Brien and Leonard Bureh, who had arrested Jacob Becker at 1630 South Spaulding avenue. Becker, several members of his family, and about twenty men in the crowd were taken into custody.

The two detective sergeants were beaten by men in the crowd before the arrival of help, in response to a riot call.

The two officers had gone to the Becker home to arrest him in connection with the pawning of some alleged stolen property. While they were taking him toward a patrol box Becker snatched the revolver of Sergt. O'Brien, broke away and fled. Friends of Becker attacked the two policemen, who were cut and bruised. Becker was found later hiding in his basement.

Quartermaster Officers Will Hold Celebration

The Illinois chapter of Quartermaster Officers will celebrate the one hundred and forty-sixth anniversary of the quartermaster corps at the Hotel La Salle June 16.

FARM AND GARDEN

BY FRANK RIDGWAY

START PEST FIGHT EARLY.

There is no better way of getting ahead of insects that start to devour the vegetable garden at this time of the year than to spray the plants with lead arsenate and bordeaux mixtures. Leaf hoppers and potato bugs were all snugly tucked away during the winter and have come out more numerous this season than ever before. The gardener who does not have insects to deal with this summer is hard to find.

Potato growers have been unable to find any spray material that is more effective in controlling potato bugs or the Colorado beetle than lead arsenate. This material, if properly mixed, will not injure the leaves. Paris green has been commonly used instead of lead arsenate, but tests in Iowa potato patches last year proved lead arsenate to be the best. Bordeaux mixture still holds an important place in the list of spray materials. It is especially valuable in combating flea beetles and leafhoppers.

Mixtures can be made that are fairly effective in controlling most of the vegetable pests that are now found on plants. A simple spray used by small gardeners is made by using bordeaux mixture at the rate of two pounds of lime, two pounds of blue vitriol and twenty-five gallons of water. Stir this mixture thoroughly and add one pound of dry lead arsenate. Half of this amount, made in the same proportion, will probably be enough for the average gardener.

For many years potato growers have supposed that the curling up of potato leaves and the yellow foliage was due to blight, but tests have shown that this is due to attacks of the leafhoppers. They work on the under side of the leaves. Spraying must be started immediately for the first of the two broods appear during the next few weeks. There will be another brood to fight in August. Always spray the underside of the leaves to kill the leafhopper.

OPERA SINGER BARES MARRIAGE NOV. 15 TO GOTHAM MUSIC CRITIC

MRS. LETA MAE MORRIS.

While Miss Leta Mae Forsaith, Chicago opera singer, was coaching an amateur performance in New York she sent for Paul Morris, then music critic for the New York Herald, and asked him to give the performance some publicity. He did. For a while his readers heard much of Miss Forsaith. Then he decided to change her name to Mrs. Paul Morris. They were married Nov. 15 in New York. Mrs. Morris did not announce the news until yesterday.

She was graduated from Bowen High school and the Chicago Musical college. Three years ago, after a season with the Chicago Opera association, she went to New York. During the last year she has been doing contract work with Titta Ruffo. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Forsaith of 1538 East 61st street.

RICH REALTOR, A GRANDPA, SUED FOR ALIENATION

Husband Charges His "Friend" Won Wife.

The love affair of a grandfather, who also is a wealthy real estate dealer, with the wife of one of his former friends, was brought to light yesterday when suit for $50,000 damages was filed in Circuit court against Martin Eisensee, 9248 Normal avenue. Eisensee is charged with alienating the affections of Mrs. Florence Lovell, wife of Harry H. Lovell, a well to do contractor living at 8642 Vincennes avenue.

The romance began shortly after the death of Mrs. Eisensee six years ago, according to Attorney Fred F. Weinman, representing Lovell.

For years the Eisensee family and the Lovells had been close friends. Living in the same neighborhood, they had visited each other's homes and had belonged to the same neighborhood social clubs. Lovell had built several apartment buildings for Eisensee.

Visits Become Frequent.

After the death of Mrs. Eisensee the visits of Mrs. Lovell to the Eisensee home became more frequent, according to Attorney Weinman. Her husband often questioned her about her interest there, but she put him off with remarks that "the poor old gentleman needed some one to look after him."

About three years ago the attentions of Eisensee, who is over 60 years old, to Mrs. Lovell, 35 years old, became so marked that a quarrel resulted in the Lovell household. Mrs. Lovell packed her suitcase and departed for the Eisensee home. She told her husband when he begged her to return to him that she was keeping house for Eisensee.

Two Children Born.

During the last three years Lovell has been unable to persuade her to return. In the meantime two children were born in the Eisensee household. One died; the other was baptized with the family name of Eisensee.

Neighbors began to talk, and Lovell, learning of the birth of the children, had the couple taken to the Morals court. Judge Fetzer fined Eisensee $100 and Mrs. Lovell $50. After leaving the court they returned to the Eisensee home. A bill for divorce was filed in the Superior court against Mrs. Lovell a few weeks ago by Attorney Weinman, and yesterday he filed suit against Eisensee for alienation of affections.

Davis Wins New Trial in $25,000 Alienation Case

Abner Davis, wealthy Texas banker and oil promoter, who was ordered last April to pay his daughter-in-law $25,000 for alienating the affections of his son, Abner Jr., yesterday was granted a new trial before Judge Frederick De Young.

CARTIER, PARIS, SOLD GEMS ONLY TO JOYCE DIRECT

No Dealings with Peggy; Bought None Back.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, June 6.—"All our dealings were with Mr. Joyce direct. We never had any transactions with Peggy Hopkins," was the statement of Pierre Cartier, head of the New York branch of Cartier's jewelry shop, who is in Paris for the summer.

"Through professional etiquette, it is impossible for me to state how much jewelry Mr. Joyce purchased and how much he paid for it," continued M. Cartier.

"He bought some beautiful, expensive jewelry, but we have no idea what he did with it or who he gave it to, as it is none of our business."

I asked M. Cartier if Mr. Joyce had paid up the entire bill of jewelry purchased and whether or not he or Peggy had sold back any jewelry to M. Cartier.

Never Bought Gems Back.

"The matter of payment is something I cannot discuss," said the jeweler. "I can assure you, however, we never bought anything back from Mr. Joyce, and, as I said before, we never had any dealings with Mrs. Joyce."

I learned a Chicago bank guaranteed Mr. Joyce's purchases from M. Cartier and the jewelers now are negotiating with the bankers for payment of the large balance due.

The Cartier concern enjoys as high a reputation as Tiffany's and, although high priced, always has been regarded as of the highest integrity. It is located on Rue de la Paix, beneath the Westminster hotel. M. Cartier's vaults contain jewels worth hundreds of millions of francs. The personnel of the establishment are old employés with services of years, including doormen and porters who are wearing war decorations for service in the French army. The clerks are all high salaried and reputable men. The Cartier shop is divided into three large rooms, facing Rue de la Paix, with half a dozen small rooms inside, like manicure parlors, where buyers examine the stock in privacy.

JOYCE HIT ME, SAYS PEGGY.

James Stanley Joyce is worth at least $10,000,000 Peggy Upton Hopkins Joyce, pretty Follies star, declared yesterday in answering her husband's reply to her suit for separate maintenance. By innuendo she charged he was a slacker and voiced doubt that he ever wore a uniform of the army or navy.

Alfred S. Austrian, counsel for Joyce, retorted during the day that his client was more than 30 years old when America entered the war in 1917, was not subject to the draft, and that his lumber business was one of the essential war industries.

Charges Joyce Struck Her.

"On one occasion, while we were living in Miami, Florida, shortly after our marriage," Peggy declares, "I asked Stanley what part he had taken in behalf of his country in the world war.

"He turned the subject, but I was persistent.

"'Were you a marine or a doughboy, or did you ever wear the uniform of either a soldier or a sailor?' I asked. When he did not answer, I said: 'Well, I hope you were not a slacker.'"

Joyce became infuriated, she avers, and struck here in the face, forbidding here ever to mention the subject again.

Tells of "Other Woman."

Months before Peggy met Joyce at Woods' theater in July, 1919, and before the night when they dined together at the Blackstone and he proposed, Joyce had had another "serious affair," she says. He begged her after they were married, she says, to "stick to him," as one Charlotte Johnson was "going to make trouble for him."

It was then she learned, Peggy says, that Joyce was not the ingenuous boy he had pictured himself, but "was well able to cope, as a sophisticated man of the world, with the wiles of the most astute feminine mind."

Denies Suicide Story.

Peggy brands her husband's accusation that an army lieutenant killed himself for love of her as 'ridiculous." She also denies she was unduly friendly with Prince Vlora, Maurice the dancer, the Duc de Durcal, Pani the restaurant keeper, or others named by Joyce.

Attorney Weymouth Kirkland of McCormick, Kirkland, Patterson & Flemming will present Peggy's plea for temporary alimony before Judge Joseph Sabath this morning.

KNOCKED OFF TRAIN BY "L" PILLAR.

L. D. Nicholson, 28 years old, of Toulon, Ill., was probably fatally injured yesterday when he was brushed off a Pennsylvania railroad train at 64th and South State streets by an elevated railroad pillar.

MR. SUDDUTH HAS AN IDEA.

Sallie wanted to protest that she was tired, already, of hearing what people could do for her if she pleased them; but there was no opportunity then and there for any outburst.

She made herself, on the contrary, realize how keen her mother's disappointment would be if the evening produced nothing in results. So, when she was asked to tell some of her dialect stories, she spurred herself to do her best—thinking, the while, of a long Saturday afternoon in the country with Jim, in the little old car, beside the glittering river, under the painted trees.

She did so well that every one was charmed—Mr. Sudduth perhaps most enthusiastically of all.

"I have an idea!" he cried. "We'll get a good show written to fit you, while you're abroad, and have it ready to spring when you come back. Got to center it round this idea, you know! Got to capitalize that. And I know the fellows to do it—Guy Allinson and Larry Quinn. Tell you what. I'll have them meet you, hear you, study you—don't you know! Le's see—Got to have conditions right Here we are! Suppose you, Mrs. Baird, and your daughters, and all the rest of this party weekend at my Tarrytown place, and I'll have Allinson and Quinn there. Give us a couple o' days, and we'll get this thing doped out."

Sallie's face was a study in distress. If expression had been any part of the successful illustrator's work, he might have hastened to ask Sallie to pose for him as a young lady in acute mental anguish. But as the slightest trace of expression on any of his pretty girls would have ruined his business, he was totally uninterested in it. In fact, he was oblivious to it. Faces, to him, were features and coloring and nothing more; just as figures were the stuffing, so to speak, for clothes.

Mrs. Baird was the first to speak in answer to Mr. Sudduth's invitation.

"I—why, we're all kind of speechless, I guess—it's so wonderful!" she said. "What does it feel like, Mr. Sudduth, to be such a—what shall I say? General doesn't seem to be a big enough word! To see a thing so quickly and clearly—to know at once what should be done about it, and who should do it! And then to be able to put it at once into execution. It's like a fairy story. A magician—that's what you are! A magician!"

Sudduth beamed. This was the sort of thing he cared about. Let the other fellows in the head office interest themselves in buying the French government tobacco monopoly, and such affairs. He wasn't anybody in particular down there—just J. T.'s son and the holder of a few hundred thousand shares. But, say! On a job like this, he was a magician.

Most people who knew Sudduth's angelic tendencies jumped to the conclusion that he inclined that way because it gave him an advantage with numbers of pretty girls. But he already had all the advantage any man could crave, with girls of the sort advantages affect—his father had provided him with more than enough of that in the form of shares so that he had rather to sidestep pursuing ladies than to entrap unwilling ones. It was a sense of importance that young J. T. was after. Like the rest of us, he had to get it as he could; and being an angel was the easiest and least harmful way he could have chosen.

J. T. Jr. (Joshua Timothy! both impossible names in his estimation, so that he was called Jay when he wasn't called Mr. Sudduth) was married, and not yet divorced, but in line for it. His wife objected to everything about him, except his money; although everything about him, including his money, was just as it had been when she married him, and as she had known it to be. But Jay took the objections wondrous calm, and was perfectly resigned to the prospect of a divorce.

Nature had not designed Jay for a husband, and he bowed to Nature's plan. There were women who could have made a husband out of him, given him all the satisfaction in that rôle that he had in being an angel; but Mrs. Sudduth was not one of them. Nature had dowered her even less for being a wife, and probably no man living could have made a wife out of her. She was a spender—a licensed spender—without a sense of obligation to any living creature except herself.

Jay interfered but little with her spending, and not at all with her otherwise. It was hard to know why she wanted a divorce. Probably she had seen some one less objectionable in the offing than Jay was. And a man who provides one with a checking account is liable to appear in the offing, now and again.

Thus, Jay's big place at Tarrytown, and his Park Avenue apartment were mistressless. Perhaps he didn't always ask four matrons of impeccable character to dignify and certify his house parties; but this one, at least, was above qualms. So that couldn't be what tied Sallie's tongue.

Everybody broke in after Mrs. Baird's charge of magicianship with appreciative murmurs, and acceptances of the invitation. All but Sallie. If she pleaded another engagement, that would mean the breaking up of the party to which every one seemed eager to go. Had she any right to do that? And yet, had she any right to go on with this plan, to let herself be swept into it, to let two men start blocking out a musical play centering on her and not transferable, when she was by no means sure that she wanted to go on with it; when, rather, she was almost sure that she did not want to?

It was a cruel situation, and Sallie's courage was not equal to it.

"Well, Miss Sallie," Jay Sudduth said at length. "'I have all acceptances but yours."

"Yes, Sallie," her mother interposed quickly, "you're letting Mr. Sudduth take that for granted, dear—and we can't blame you. I know you're overwhelmed—we all are! But, try to say something!"

"I—I—can't!" Sallie murmured. "It's all too much for me."

Her eyes filled with tears, which every one misinterpreted.

Mrs. Colfax and Mrs. Fairweather wept, too—just a delicious tear or two of pleasantest emotion—and hugged Sallie ecstatically.

"You sweet thing!" Mrs. Colfax cried, in a ravished tone. "Isn't she the unspoiledest darling? I think it's all too wonderful for words! And I'm so proud to think that this happened at my little party. Think how I'll puff up, when Sallie's the rage, and tell about my historic dinner—and all."

"They'll just adore you in London, dear," Mrs. Fairweather declared. "They love Americans to be timid and shy, and not think much of themselves. It's the brash and nervy kind, the bragging, blowing kind, that they hate."

Everybody murmured delight and approval.

"You're all so kind, so encouraging," Sallie declared, "I don't know what to say."

"No need to say anything," Corydon replied. "Just go ahead and do it, and keep your head, and get their hearts. We need friendship—our country does—not for sentimental reasons, but for safety and success."

"It's a—large order, for a little girl," Sallie stammered, confusedly.

"You don't have to do it all—do your part. You'll probably be well advertised in certain circles over there. You can set a style for other Americans on the spot. We can cable over here what you've done. There's all kinds of opportunity in it."

"My!" sighed Mrs. Colfax, rapturously, as her guests were taking their leave. "Hasn't it been a wonderful evening? I feel so proud that you all have honored me this way."

Jay Sudduth took out a card and wrote:

"Pass Mrs. Hermon Colfax and party—one lower box, opening N. Y. performance Miss Sallie Baird in the new comedy with music, 'Uncle Sam's Girl.'

"J. T. Sudduth Jr."

Mrs. Baird was in an ecstasy.

"I'm afraid I'm going to cry," she murmured. "It seems like all my dreams coming true."

The Question.

What is your pet superstition?

Where Asked.

Wabash avenue and Lake street.

The Answers.

Dan Dillon, 2831 Shields avenue, chauffeur—I am as superstitious as they make them. A black cat, third on a match, and spilling salt are my favorite goat getters. And believe me, I try to stay clear of them.

Mary Joyce, 15 West Grand avenue, bookkeeper—How silly a question. I am not superstitious. A lot of my friends are, but superstition has never bothered me. I think it absurd for one to believe in such things.

Newton Myers, 1529 South Kedzie avenue, clerk—Walking under a ladder is mine. Whenever I see a ladder on the sidewalk I always cross over on the other side of the street. I walked under a ladder once and I tell you bad luck followed me for a long time.

Harry Boshier, 1608 South Central Park avenue, commission merchants—To stumble and not go back and try to walk ove rthe spot without stumbling has always been a hoodoo to me. But, on the other hand, thirteen always has been lucky for me, so I guess I am even.

Helen Samuels, Willow Springs, clerk—To have shoes under the table after taking them off, and to have three lights lighted at one time in the same room will bring a lot of bad luck, especially on Wednesdays. These things should not be done.

Wife Swings Wicked Milk Bottle; He Gets Divorce

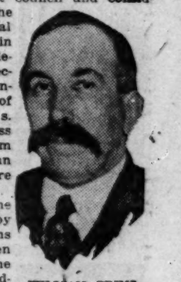

Peter Z. Glembook, 210 South Ashland boulevard, was granted a divorce yesterday by Judge Franklyn Stransky when he told the jurist that his wife always swung a wicked milk bottle in June.

"She wouldn't let me sleep," he said. "On June 5, 1919, she hurled a paint can at me. On June 1, 1920, she hit me in the back with a milk bottle. Always in June she wouldn't let me sleep. If I left she beat me when I returned."

BRIMS, UNDER U.S. CHARGES, OUSTED BY CARPENTERS

Defeated by "Anti-Graft" Candidate.

William Brims, president of the Carpenters' District council and considered one of the most influential labor leaders in the city, was defeated for reelection at the annual election of union officials. His two business agents, William Flynn and John E. Robinson, were also beaten.

WILLIAM BRIMS.

Although the ballots cast by the local unions had not all been received at the council's headquarters last night, it was said the vote against Brim was overwhelming.

The carpenters' election is the first one to be held since the Dailey committee began its investigation of building graft. Revelations of grafting among union leaders, it was stated, was the chief reason for the carpenters' determination to "clean house."

Jensen is Elected.

Harry Jensen, who was defeated for the job at the last election and claimed he was counted out, beat Brims. He conducted his campaign on an anti-graft platform. The business agents jobs were won by Thomas Radcliffe and Mark E. Taylor, who supported Jensen.

The reelection of Daniel Galvin, who has held the position of secretary-treasurer of the council since 1904, was unopposed.

Brims has been a storm center in labor circles since he became prominent in 1919 in the carpenters' strike for $1 an hour. He directed the strike, which the carpenters won.

Brims Indicted by U. S.

Brims ran afoul of the courts in connection with the exclusion of nonunion millwork from the Chicago market. Early this year he was indicted with forty-six others for a violation of the Sherman anti-trust act.

For violation of an injunction issued on behalf of the Anderson & Lind Manufacturing company, a so-called open shop firm, last February, Master in Chancery W. H. A. Rust recommended that Brims be sent to prison.

Thomas S. Kearney, president of the Building Trades council, and Edward M. Craig of the Building Construction Employers' association, will meet again today in an effort to settle the lockout of the building trades.

PACKERS "SANDBAGGED"

Building conditions in the stockyards, an entirely new phase of the investigation, will be delved into by the Dailey legislative committee when it meets here again on Friday. Prominent officials of the packing industries are to be called as witnesses.

Evidence revealing that the packers have been "sandbagged" into contributing thousands of dollars in graft for years through the installation of ice making machines and other machinery is said to have been placed in the committee's hands.

In the meantime many "big fellows" both in the labor world and in the contractors' and material men's associations have been involved in new evidence uncovered. Some of these will be called to testify at Friday's and Saturday's hearings.

Nathan Ascher, Joseph Schaeffer, and several others for whom the committee has been searching have disappeared, and attempts to subpoena them have failed.

Negro Slain by Wife's Kin in Row Over Baggage

Carter escaped after the shooting. He is a cousin of Waller's wife and he and Waller quarreled over the storage of some of his baggage in the Wallers' apartment.

Four valuable oil paintings, including a portrait of Rembrandt by himself, completed in 1643, are being sought by the Chicago police. They were stolen from the museum at Weimar, Germany, in April, and it is thought they will be brought to this country for disposal.

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

Our struggling Cubs righted a lot of their wrongs yesterday by attacking the rather helpless Phillies and coming out with the good end of a free hitting scrap, the count being 8 to 6. It may sound like a victory not worth boasting about, but in these troublesome times of the lively baseball, the Phillies are dangerous, having several fellows with walloping power.

10

Two of the Phils, Mr. Meusel and Mr. Lee, knocked the ball into the left bleacher yesterday, which made it rather distressing for the north siders, though they always were in front after getting a flourishing start with three runs in the opening round. This was Meusel's tenth homer of the season. The Cubs couldn't wallop any homers, but they poled a dozen blows with more or less vigor, knocking the first Philly pitcher off the rubber with only one out in the opening frame.

Cubs Flatten Hubbell.

Alexander Freeman, the youthful cadet of the Cubs' staff, who recently has been the only winner, was on the rubber, going in his usual steady style, though hammered rather hard. He was opposed by Hubbell at the start, but the Cubs flattened Hubbell out during the first inning with only one man out, and Lefty Baumgartner, one time University of Chicago football star, came forth and toiled to the finish, doing nicely except in the fourth, when, with two out, he was smashed for four runs.

A mental faux pas or something by Mr. Wrightstone in the first helped the Cubs. After the Cubs had knocked Hubbell out with four blows which sent two men home and left runners on first and second with one out, Baumgartner came forth and Sullivan bounced to Wrightstone, who had but to step on third and force Grimes or throw to second and start a possible double play.

Four Runs in Fourth.

However, he started to run Grimes back to second regardless of the fact he was compelled to advance to third. Then Mr. Wrightstone flung the ball to second and it was returned to third, but Grimes beat the throw. He scored a moment later on Warner's out.

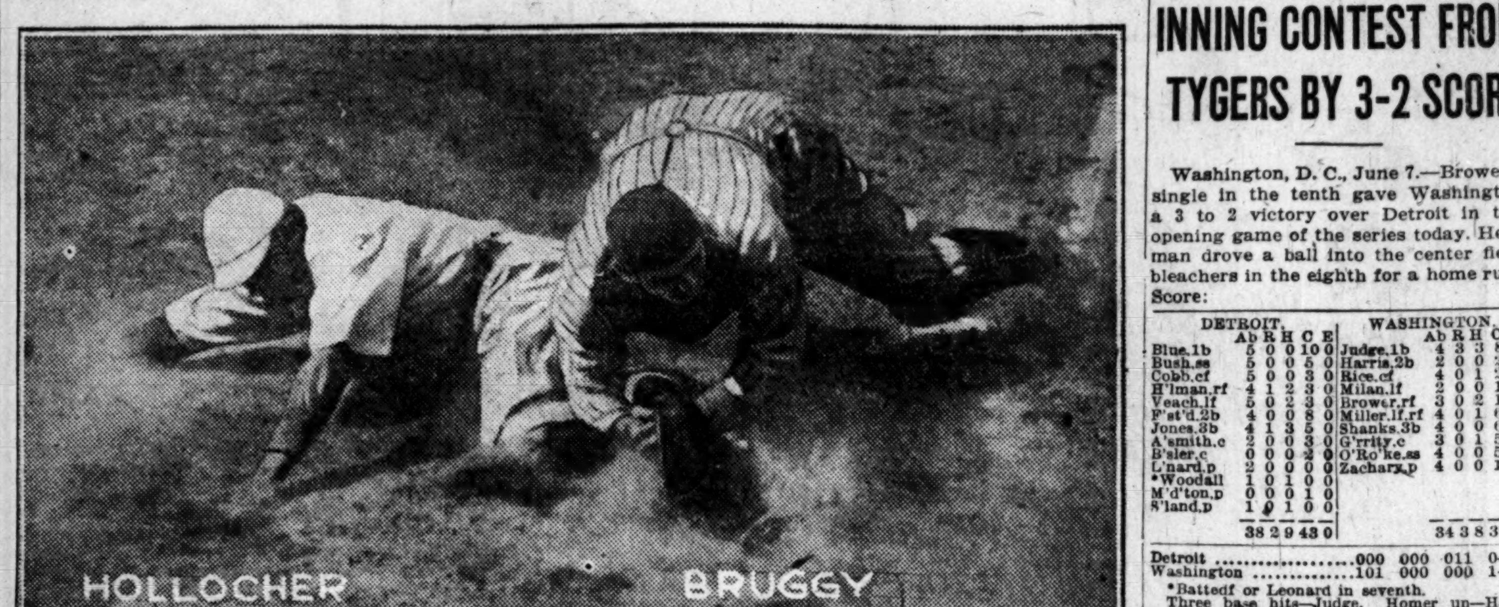

In the fourth with two out, Hollocher singled, Terry tripled, Grimes walked, Barber singled and Sullivan doubled, and the Cubs had a cluster of four, which clinched the game. Daly's double and Freeman's single added one in the fifth.

Wrightstone's single, Williams' double and Stengel's single got two for the Phils in the fourth. Meusel's homer with J. Miller on second produced two more in the fifth. Lee's four baser with none on added one in the sixth, and the final came in the ninth when Baumgartner walked, went to third on Rawlings' double and scored on J. Miller's out.

GASOLINE ALLEY—A LESSON IN SALESMANSHIP

LIVELY PHILS SNUFF OUT CUB TALLY

A lively bit of fielding by the Phillies beat the Cubs out of a tally in the second inning of the contest yesterday. With one out Hollocher reached first base when Rawlings booted a rather hard chance and Zeb Terry followed with a corking drive to right center for two bases. Hollocher started to leg it around from first with the crack of the bat, but Cy Williams gathered up the ball out by the fence, shot it to Rawlings, whose perfect peg to Catcher Bruggy nailed Holly at the plate. He slid in, but Bruggy had the ball, and pounced upon him. Holly never did get clear to the plate. [TRIBUNE Photo (Telescopic).]

SOX-MACK TILT BALKED BY RAIN

Philadelphia, Pa., June 7.—[Special.]—Somewhere the sun may be shining but not on the White Sox, who were all primed to take a fall out of the lowly Athletics today to get even for what happened in Washington, when the weather man intervened.

Intermittent drizzles just before game time failed to stop preliminary practice but at 3:30 Manager Mack called off the game. Connie made a bum guess.

This did not interfere, however, with a little party at the home plate in which Manager Gleason of the Sox was presented with a chest of silver as a token of the high esteem in which he is held by his fellow townsmen.

Three more games remain on the schedule for the Sox here.

GLENEAGLES, Scotland, June 7.—American golf professionals extinguished rather than distinguished themselves at Gleneagles today, as results in the first half of the qualifying stages leave a majority of them struggling for admission to match play in the Thousand Guineas tournament, for which only sixteen can qualify.

JOCK HUTCHINSON. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

The Americans formed a picturesque group of players. The heat was intense, and the Americans did the sensible thing, taking off their coats and playing in their shirt sleeves. The more conventional Britishers stuck to their heavier, warmer garments.

Hutchinson Does Well.

But America didn't shine. Jock Hutchinson finished best for the invaders. He did very well to get an aggregate of 107 for the twenty-seven holes, which put him within three strokes of the joint leaders, myself and Jimmy McKenden, with 104.

Jock had rounds of 74 and 33 respectively. Next of the Americans was Emmet French, who beat me yesterday, with 111, while Walter Hagen, champion in 1919, took 114. Tom Kerrigan was one stroke worse.

Returns for all the Americans follow:

Hutch'n	.74—33—107	McLean	.80—36—116
French	.75—36—111	Hack'y	..80—38—118

Kerrigan	.79—36—115	McLeod	.82—38—120

Hoffner had 42 for the nine hole course, and retired during the 18 hole round in the afternoon.

HOW THE PLAY WENT

GLENEAGLES, Scotland, June 7.—[By Associated Press.]—Two British players, Ted Ray, who holds the American open championship, and James McKenden, led the first day's play of the professional golfers' qualifying round in the Two Thousand Guineas tournament. Each turned in a card of 104 for the 27 holes.

Jock Hutchinson of Chicago and James Braid, the noted British player, each with 107, shared honors for third place. Other members of the American contingent required from 111 to 123 strokes to cover the two courses, the aggregate bogie for which is 116—36 for the Queen's course and 80 for the King's course. Hutchinson may be the only American left after tomorrow.

Same Courses Today.

James Barnes of America, who is suffering from neuritis, did not play.

Tomorrow the players again will go over the courses and the first sixteen players for the two days will be entitled to compete at match play Thursday. Hutchinson started badly today, but later played superb golf, enabling him to lead his compatriots. Following is the way the leading players finished in the day's play:

Ted Ray, Oxley	32	72	104
James McKenden	32	72	104
Jock Hutchinson, Chicago	33	74	107
James Braid, St. Andrews	32	75	107

The Traffic club will hold a family outing at Calumet today, the main golf events being a 36 and an 18 hole handicap.

Edgewater has installed its new practice course, which is being well patronized. The annual Hy Jinx tournament will be held Aug. 16 and 17.

Women members at Ridgemoor held their weekly tournament yesterday, Mrs. F. X. Busch winning the handicap, and Mrs. August Semrad, wife of a former president of the club, taking the putting prize.

Here are the new W. G. A. rules as boiled down by the Olympian: Lost ball—Loss of distance only. Out of bounds—Loss of distance only. Balls on putting green—Ball nearest hole, upon request of either side, shall be lifted or played at option of its player.

Mrs. C. G. Alexander and Mrs. A. L. Mills, who, as Miss Frances Everett, won the women's western championship some years ago, won the foursome at Exmoor with a net score of 52. Mrs. W. A. Alexander and Miss Elizabeth Towner were second, with 53, Mrs. R. Nicholas and Mrs. A. W. Jerrems taking third place, with 58.

J. H. Victor, with a card of 81—10—71, won the second monthly tournament of the Chicago Automobile Golf association at Flossmoor, forty members competing. The course was in fine shape. J. G. Tennant, 96—20—76, won the second flight; N. H. Oliver, 103—30—73, taking the third flight. L. C. White won the choice score for thirty-six holes, with a card of 90—25—65.

DEMPSEY BLIND TO FANS; SEES FOE'S EVERY MOVE

BY ROBERT EDGREN.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 7.—[Special.]—The thing that impresses me most every time I see Jack Dempsey is his supreme concentration. He has this quality to a degree unequaled by any other boxer I ever saw.

Even in training Dempsey has every thought so concentrated on his work that he is entirely unconscious of everything around him. In the house and its vicinity he is an ideal host, nodding or talking to every one who comes back to see him.

At ten minutes to three he disappears. When he comes out of the house just before 3, ready for work, he walks straight across the road toward the arena, seeing no one, eyes straight ahead, the fighting scowl already creasing his forehead.

Blind to Outside World.

Without a word he goes directly to the ring, slips through the ropes and begins his work.

First he shadow boxes for six minutes, in two three minute rounds. Shadow boxing is serious stuff with Dempsey. He skips around and around the ring with no slowing up, turning, twisting, ducking imaginary blows, sidestepping, pulling away, plunging in and driving heavy smashes through the air, uppercutting a phantom opponent in the clinches, his forehead creased with a fighting scowl, seeing nothing outside the ropes.

After that comes immediately the real boxing. From first to last Dempsey concentrates his attention absolutely upon his opponent, forcing, moving swiftly in endless attack, driving in blows, blocking counters, taking instant advantage of openings. He is grimly attentive to every detail. He could not be more grim, or more concentrated on his work, if he was fighting again for the world's title against the biggest champion who ever held the crown.

Great Power of Concentration.

I never knew any other champion who had Dempsey's power of absolute concentration on his work. I've seen Corbett's eyes wander around the ring to see who was looking on, Fitzsimmons turn his head to the press writers to call attention to some little trick he was about to pull—to let them in on the joke—Jeffries look around to wink at Brother Jack after landing a good punch.

But Dempsey never looks around. If the whole crowd got up and walked out Jack probably wouldn't notice it. Being a champion is Dempsey's business just now. And when he's in the ring he has no thought to waste on anything else. It's no wonder he wins fights.

I had a little talk with Jack about this last night after dinner. We had been discussing flying, motor boat driving a la Gar Wood, and other exciting sports.

No Thrill in Fighting.

"But I suppose," I said, "there's no thrill like leaving your corner at the bell with a world's championship at stake."

"There's no thrill in fighting," Jack replied. "That's just bulldog stuff. You see your man in front of you and you don't see the crowd or anything else. You don't think about anything exciting. All you think is, 'There he is—go get him.'

"I don't think of anything else. I may step aside to draw him on or stand and wait a moment for him to come to me or go straight after him, the way it seems best. But the only thought I really have in my mind is to look for an opening and then drive through it. I may be looking for an opening in one place and some unexpected opening may come first. Then I have to be alert to grab that and shoot a punch through.

Hears Nothing Outside Ring.

"When I'm hit I never know it. It doesn't make any impression on my mind. Unless it hurts, of course, and then I just have a sort of a side thought that I mustn't let another punch like that come through.

"I don't see anything outside of the ring or hear anything. It's funny. In the ring at Toledo the only thing in my mind was that I must put that big fellow down. Before the fight I never expected to knock Willard out. I didn't think he could be knocked down. When I dropped him the first time I was surprised, but when he stood up dazed and couldn't cover, so I was able to hit him sweet and clean with everything I had and he kept getting up, I didn't understand it. I thought he ought to stay down then. That's about as near a thrill as I ever had fighting. I was lucky to get him with the first punch. But there was nothing exciting about it. It was just a case of sock till something dropped."

Approves Secret Practice.

The secret practice limits at Carpentier's camp have been extended. Georges is in as fine shape as any man I ever saw. He's on the edge of ring condition.

The Frenchmen are quick and keen and far removed from the ordinary class of fight men and managers.

Their training schedule is strictly up to date and entirely different from the old training. Naturally Georges is not letting the public and Dempsey into his confidence. No one outside of his camp will know how Carpentier will fight until the fight begins.

Criticizes Public Training.

In my opinion, this is the only sensible way to train for a battle with a world's championship at stake. Dempsey's daily training in the ring at a certain hour every afternoon to please a lot of spectators who have paid $1 at the gate and want action is not the best kind of training to put him into fighting condition.

The difference between the Frenchman and Dempsey in condition today is the result. Carpentier is as fit today as Dempsey was one month before he fought Willard. And Dempsey is below that notch. He will need a full month of work to reach it. It's possible he may never be as good again as he was at Toledo. Champions seldom pass the form that won them the championship.

THE GUMPS—FORGIVENESS

AT WORK

Martin Burke is proving to be one of the best punching bags in Jack Dempsey's camp. Here we have the champion exchanging wallops with his sparring partner. The white patch over Dempsey's left eye shows where an old cut suffered at Toledo has been reopened. The picture shows one of the grand little mixups that have been taboo for a couple of days in order to let the cut heal.

AT LEISURE

A lull in Carpentier's training finds him about ready to take a swig from "the old oaken bucket." Not once since the Frenchman came over the last time has he been pictured without a smile, except when boxing. Then he wears a determined look.

GEORGES PASSES UP SPARRING TO TAKE CROSS-COUNTRY DASH

BY HARRY NEWMAN.

Manhasset, L. I., June 7.—[Special.]—Georges Carpentier took to the road early this morning, accompanied by Paul Journee, his first string sparring partner; Gus Wilson, his faithful trainer, and Italian Joe Gans.

The hike lasted nearly two hours, and when the French champion returned, he loiled about the veranda until noon time. The road work for the most part was nothing short of a frolic for Georges, who picks up most of his amusement during the time he is away from camp.

Leaping tall hedges and chasing his dog, Flip, furnish him with plenty of exercise and the challenger is always happy when he can get out in the country lanes to indulge in this healthy pastime.

Lays Off Boxing.

Georges evidently decided that Dempsey was not the only one who could lay off from boxing, for today he did not don a glove except when he punched the bag. As a matter of fact Carpentier never does any too much boxing while training for a fight.

The work on the road is the thing that the Frenchman craves, and every morning he calls for his handlers for the usual constitutional. Journee is also a glutton for the road, and, like his boss, feels that it is the best form of exercise for a fighter to develop his wind.

Why Marcot Felt Glad.

The announcement that Georges would not do any boxing was received with evident joy by Battling Marcot, the demon beef stew and bologna molder of the outfit, who also acts as recipient for Georges' punches in sparring.

Gus Wilson, trainer and handy man for Carpentier, said today that Joe Jeannette would box three days a week with the challenger until the day of the contest.

Secrecy pervades the whole place and there does not appear to be any particular reason for it. The Frenchman is in good shape and boxes well, yet he does not care to have the press or public step in and enjoy his exhibition.

CAN'T KEEP FANS AWAY FROM FIGHT

Joseph C. Horron and Ralph Tudor, two Kokomo, Ind., attorneys, will help represent that Hoosier city at the Dempsey-Carpentier fight at Jersey City. They have made reservations with Doc Krone and will go east on his twenty hour special on the afternoon of July 1. W. E. Anderson, a north side hotel man, also will be aboard with a party of friends.

Judge Elect Thomas J. Lynch, one of the winning judges on the coalition ticket, booked passage on the Bloom and Mullen "boost Chicago special." Others to take up their reservations at 129 North Dearborn were E. M. Reardon, a north side real estate dealer, and Martin J. Healy, who purchased three more seats in addition to what he already had taken.

Eastern fight fans have turned to Chicago for tickets, but without success. Nate Lewis of the Woodlawn Bards' special at 715 Garrick Theater building, turned down applications with the information that the Bards' tickets were for Chicago and nearby fans.

Joe Coffey, in charge of the Coffey special, has received applications for six tickets from Jimmy Clarke of Beloit. Billy Woods, mayor of Worth and a prominent stockyards man, is taking a party of ten.

GEORGES TO BOX FOR N. Y. CHARITY

New York, June 7.—[Special.]—Georges Carpentier will appear in his first public exhibition in the ring Sunday afternoon when he demonstrates his fistic ability for the benefit of the Italian milk fund at the country estate of Frank C. Henderson at Roslyn, L. I.

Tex Rickard has promised to arrange several bouts in which prominent boxers will appear.

Johnny Dundee and Rocky Kansas, the two leading Italian lightweights, will appear, if present plans materialize. Johnny Wilson, world's middleweight champion, also is slated for an exhibition.

Dempsey Sends to Memphis for Husky Sparring Aid

Memphis, Tenn., June 7.—[Special.]—Battling Gahee, a local Negro heavyweight, has left for Atlantic City to join Jack Dempsey's staff of sparring partners. Gahee, who weighs about 185 to 190 pounds, is a clever boxer, and if he can stand the socking, should make a good sparring partner for the champion.

FRENCH THINK JACK IS TRYING TO STALL OFF BOUT WITH CARP

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

PARIS, June 7.—French afternoon newspapers pretend to believe the report that Dempsey's sparring partner had reopened an old cut over the champion's eye is preliminary for the American's alibi if Carpentier defeats him.

Others declare Dempsey is seeking to delay the match, realizing that Carpentier is in "the pink of condition," hoping the Frenchman will go stale if the bout is postponed a couple of weeks.

Friends of the challenger assert that letters received from Manager Deschamps indicate that Georges will reach top form within a couple of weeks and expressing worry whether he can be kept on edge until July 2.

Frank Moran Matched for Go with Bob Martin

New York, June 7.—Frank Moran, Pittsburgh heavyweight, and Bob Martin, A. E. F. champion, have been matched for a fifteen round open air contest here, July 1, it was announced tonight. This will be Moran's first bout since he returned from England, where he knocked out Joe Beckett last December.

WILL CONGRESS ACT ON BIG BOUT?

Washington, D. C., June 7.—Congressman Gallivan, Democrat, Massachusetts, announced tonight that he would introduce a resolution tomorrow to prevent there being any "pugilistic contest in any state of the United States for the championship of the world," until congress has taken some action "as to a solution of the question of adjusted compensation of the men and women who were called into the world war service." The resolution is aimed at the Dempsey-Carpentier fight.

DETROIT SENDS MEE TO PORTLAND

Detroit, Mich., June 7.—Julie E. Mee of Chicago, former University of Illinois shortstop under contract to the Detroit Americans, has been sent to the Portland club of the Pacific Coast league under an optional agreement, Frank J. Navin, president of the Detroit baseball club, announced today.

Jorgenson, Sox Discard, in No-Hit No-Run Victory

Dubuque, Ia., June 7.—Paul Jorgenson, released by the Chicago White Sox after a tryout this spring, hurled a no-hit no-run game while pitching for Guttenberg, Ia., against Prairie du Chien, Wis., Sunday.

Cold Forces Dempsey to Take to Indoor Ring for Workouts

BY RAY PEARSON.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 7.—[Special.]—Out at Champion Jack Dempsey's camp they were breaking all the wishbones that could be found today, because this Atlantic climate isn't what it should be. It's too cold. The old ocean slaps a breeze that is uncomfortable if a fellow is overcoatless, and naturally it has its effect on the training of Dempsey.

Dempsey was at the grind as usual today, at least he did as much as the bum left lamp would permit, which means that he punched the "peax" quite sufficiently, shadow boxed a couple of rounds and topped it off with a few hefty wallops at the heavy sandbag, which folks may be interested in knowing weighs just about as much as Georges Carpentier—175 pounds. He performed before a crowd of about 300 fans and fannettes.

Limit Outdoor Work.

There will be no more outdoor boxing at camp until the sun decides to do its duty and heat up the atmosphere. The aeroplane hangar was used again today, and Dempsey will continue to do his training indoors until Saturday, when it is expected a "break" will come in the weather that will enable the champion to work in the open.

Jack isn't going to take another chance of having the healing cut over his left eye reopened, at least until Saturday or Sunday, and Manager Kearns believes by that time the wound will have sufficiently healed to permit the champion to trade wallops with his sparring partners.

While Dempsey's condition right now is just as good as it should be, it is a cinch that the disappearance of the cold spell would be mighty helpful in assisting him to reach the "edge." Every one in camp is pulling for it to warm up.

Camp Is Businesslike.

There is a feeling around camp that does not fail to impress visitors. It is caused by the businesslike way in which everybody goes about his duties. Business is business, and this fight with Carpentier is purely a matter of business. In this respect it is not like other training camps we have visited.

One might say that confidence sticks out and that the result of the battle is a foregone conclusion, but it is our opinion that confidence isn't exactly the word that fits the case. It appears that confidence has been supplanted by something of greater strength, that while Dempsey is looked upon as a certain winner this battle is figured less a contest and more like a job, a job to be handled just the same as a workman performs a task.

Talk Peeves Kearns.

Listen to Manager Jack Kearns discuss what is likely to happen at Jersey City and a fellow who likes to string a wager, feels like hurrying along to the bookie to get in the jack. Kearns this afternoon had this to say in combating the persistent "noise" that Carpentier will outclever the title holder.

"This talk about Dempsey not being clever grows very tiresome, Kearns said. "One would think all Carpentier had to do to get away with something is to step in, pop Jack, and hop away at his pleasure. Georges isnt going to find Jack standing like a post on which he may advance and step away as he pleases. Dempsey is going to be right there with him as long as this fight lasts.

"For my part, I'd like to see this battle go along three or four rounds, just to show these fellows who think Jack isnt clever that they are all wrong."

MOSQUITO DOPES.

THERE is no end of good mosquito dopes but one has to experiment a bit with them to find the one that turns the trick. A dope that keeps the other fellow free from pests may not work at all for you.

The idea back of most mixtures is to incorporate some oil that mosquitoes, black flies, etc., find distasteful and mix it with some heavier oil to give it body. Citronella, for instance, will keep mosquitoes away but it is too volatile—it doesn't last.

The formula published in this department a few years ago is a favorite with a great many outdoormen who pronounce it perfection. It is made by mixing equal parts pine tar, olive oil, oil of cedar and citronella. Similar is Nessmuk's famous 1, 2, 3 formula: one ounce pennyroyal oil, two ounces castor oil, three ounces pine tar. Still another good one is C. A. Nash's formula quoted by Kephart: one ounce citronella, one ounce spirits of camphor, one-half ounce oil of cedar.

The principal objection to most of the excellent dopes with tar or cedar as a base is that they are dirty. Our own experimental department, Herb Daniels, has discovered a simple dope that is colorless and effective. It is made by cooking down beef suet and while it is still warm adding a goodly quantity of pulverized camphor gum.

MIKE GIBBONS SOCKS ANOTHER

New York, June 7.—Mike Gibbons of St. Paul scored a technical knockout over Silent Martin of Brooklyn tonight when the referee halted their fifteen round match in the tenth round. Martin was punished severely, but succeeded in keeping on his feet. He was groggy in the second and eighth rounds also.

BRITTON-WILSON BOUT ON THE FIRE AT EAST CHICAGO

TRIBUNE DECISIONS

Decisions of Tribune boxing representatives are:
At New York.—Mike Gibbons knocked out Silent Martin [10].
At Philadelphia.—Johnny Gardner beat Kid Powell [8]. Battling Pease knocked out Howard Burke [1].

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

All indications point to Jack Britton being one of the principals in the main bout of the boxing show at East Chicago on June 18. Promoters of the Indiana club already have Britton's word that he will meet the best man available, and if Johnny Wilson, middleweight champion, will agree to suitable terms, this match will be closed.

JOHNNY WILSON. [Central News Photo.]

This bit of news was gleaned along the pugilistic rialto yesterday, and a match between Britton and Wilson would be a choice morsel for local fight fans. Britton started his pugilistic career in Chicago, and will be remembered as one of Packey McFarland's early sparring partners.

Keen for Aurora Card.

Local fight fans are taking a keen interest in Jim Mullen's show at Aurora on Saturday afternoon. Frankie Schaeffer, who will meet Bud Christiana, will take a big delegation to the battle ground, while his opponent will not lack for support at the ringside, according to his followers.

Owing to the caliber of the contests, Promoter Mullen has decided to make the contestants draw for positions on the card.

Principals in all contests went through strenuous workouts at local gymnasiums yesterday. Eddie McGoorty, who will swap punches with Phil Harrison, worked at the Arcadia. Jimmy Kelly, west side Italian bantam, who will be Joe Mandell's opponent, also worked out at Kid Howard's, while Harrison and Christiana went through their paces at the Forbes and Ferretti gymnasium.

Big Demand for Tickets.

Because of the large demand for tickets for the Aurora show, ducats have now been placed on sale at Bloom's cigar store, 129 North Dearborn street; Davy Miller, 3216 West Roosevelt road, and E. P. Oakes, 153 North Clark street. A special train will leave over the Northwestern at 1:40 p. m. city time.

By Mae Tinée.

IN "Reputation," to my way of thinking, Priscilla Dean makes her debut as a great emotional actress.

She's a pretty trick and has done good work before, but she shows flashes of real genius as a brilliant mother gone to the dogs, and as that mother's clean, clever, and beautiful daughter. She drinks to the dregs of degradation—and is a haggard and horrible thing to look at. She knows love and ambition realized—and is a beautiful sight to see. Nobody ever made a dual rôle more—dual—if the expression is permitted.

Here's the story:

Pauline Stevens, a small town girl, leaves her husband and child and runs away to the lights of Broadway. Her extraordinary beauty and magnetism gain her a foothold. Willing "angels" fall beneath her spell.

During a barnstorming tour she visits near the town that was her home. A publicity "stunt" is pulled, wherein the actress personally distributes apples to children of an orphanage. One of these demands a kiss. She makes a remarkable impression on the woman, then known as Laura Figian, who later discovers that the little one is her own. The husband and father has committed suicide.

The actress pleads with the "angel" to be allowed to take the little girl with her. He is adamant and she goes away.

In Europe she becomes famous and notorious. In America the daughter grows up, and, like her mother, goes on the stage. Rather she goes after the stage, for engagements are few and far between, and, unlike her mother, no "angels" need apply.

The mother has a contract finally to appear in a New York theater. At the last moment, as the result of a hideous orgy, a cablegram comes announcing that she will not leave London and to cancel her contract. In despair, the New York people are about to throw up their hands when their eyes light on Pauline, who, desperate for money, impersonates the Figian, whom she greatly resembles.

On the opening night the real Laura Figian returns to New York, determined to make trouble for the one who has stolen her name and reputation. She does stir up considerable of a mess, then, learning that the fake Figian is her daughter, leaves a written confession that clears up matters and turns on the gas jet.

The picture is well done from every angle. It's not a sweet little thing, but, dominated as it is from start to finish by the peculiar and sometimes uncanny personality of the star, it is a production that you will not soon forget.

CLOSEUPS

Viola Dana is wearing pajamas around the studio these days—and many other ladies of the films are following her example, they tell me. O well, the attitude of the London busman grows upon us.

Buster Keaton and—at last!—Mrs. Keaton, who was Natalie Talmadge, are back in California. The wedding's over! May the press agents forget it for awhile!

Carmel Myers has completed her contract with Universal and is said to be about to browse in pastures new.

"The Adams," a new Movie house, will open in a few days. It will be located on Adams, between State and Wabash, and will be under management of the Vista Amusement enterprises.

I wrote you for her, and she awaited with eager anticipation the receipt of one or two, but imagine her disappointment when we received no answer. Since then she has coaxed me for some, which I cannot buy. I wonder if there is some one who would care to give her some of their discarded ones? BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

E. DRUM: YES, IT IS ADVISED that people troubled with gas dissolve yeast in hot water before taking. They call it "killed yeast." The yeast is supposed to be quite laxative.

H. A. L.: DYE IS THE ONLY COLoring that will make gray hair anything but gray. Whether you will or will not is your affair, but I warn you that it is a job you undertake. Once begun, it has to be kept up religiously to the end of your life, unless when you change your mind you are willing to wait a year or two while it is turning back to its original color. Don't try to dye it yourself, though, because one simply cannot do it without it looking amateurish. And in any kind of makeup the sin is not so much in the makeup as in a bad job of it.

A READER: A GIRL FIVE FEET five, 23, should weigh about 128. You cannot exercise with corsets on. No, do them in loose clothing and bare or stocking feet, to get the good of them. They will help decrease the waistline surely, providing you repeat them often enough.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

A Pound of Lamb Stew Meat.

The orientals and the Italians know how to make a bit of meat do heroic duty. In a certain oriental cook book there are scores of recipes for dishes of quantity in which one of the ingredients is a pound of meat only. You and I can rival or excel in just such cookery if we put our minds to the task.

Suppose we take one pound of lamb or mutton. Mutton broth is nice. Or we may call that a vegetable soup which we get as first service from this pound of meat cooked in one quart of water and a full collection of seasoning vegetables.

Your soup plate is full enough if three-fourths of a cup of soup is served in it. The small bouillon cups are full enough with half a cup of soup. That leaves us at least three cups of broth, one cup of which we can use for cooking one large potato sliced, but enough of this vegetable for two.

Now we have two cups of liquid left, with all the meat and the vegetables. There are a number of things we can do with this, but we may easily make it do for a curry sauce to serve with a whole cup of rice put to cook, or enough for four people. A good curry is good enough for company, so the family of two may get parts of two meals and a company dish out of their stew meat if they choose, and the last will be the best.

Skin the meat which the butcher has cut up. Wipe the parts not freshly skinned or cut with a damp cloth, roll in seasoned flour, and put to sauté in some hot fat in a Dutch oven. Turn so as to sear all sides.

Now add one sliced onion, or more if to taste, one sliced carrot, some celery leaves, the whole or a part of a green pepper, and one quart of cold water. Cover, bring to a boil, and cook gently for about an hour and fifteen minutes. If there is a scum of fat, dip down under it and dip up what you will serve as soup.

A MOTHER WITH TEARS IN HER EYES SAID:—
"It's too late now—If my daughter saw this picture—'Some Wild Oats'—two years ago I would have had her with me today. I never told her because I did not know these things myself. Lord knows what has become of her. She must be walking the streets somewhere." "The parents should have their children see this picture—It's worth $10 a seat." This was a remark from a woman who saw this picture.

Thinking of Home.

While on my honeymoon my husband left me in the hotel to keep an appointment and promised to phone me. I was comfortably seated in the lobby and, thinking of the home I had just left and what the future held for me, when suddenly I was attracted by a page calling some one for a phone call. After he circled my seat about four times it dawned upon me that it was I he was paging. I had forgotten my newly acquired name. The lobby was crowded and I lost no time in getting to the telephone booth.

A. O. H.

Such a Pit-y!

I had traveled five hundred miles to visit my fiancée, and at close of dinner while waiting for dessert to be served I was relating what a wretched luncheon I had had en route. I ended my narrative by saying in a tone of disgust, "And to finish up with they brought me cherry pie with the pits in it." Consternation seized me when I glanced down and saw that my sweetheart's mother had just placed my dessert before me, and it was cherry pie—with the pits in it.

Are Chicago Women Slaves to Corsets? Well—Yes and No

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES.

ARE Chicago women slaves to stays?

They don't know; we don't know; their modistes don't know. The best answer seems to be that woman believes in the corset, theoretically, but woman is a practical creature.

Paul Poiret, Paris dressmaker, started it all a few days ago by demanding that women return to the corset. "A woman's body needs sculpturing," was his brutal masculine phrasing. The question, "Why is a corset?" was put to representative Chicagoans yesterday. Many answered, "Is a corset?"

The flapper, it was agreed, can do what she wishes. Modistes, doctors, teachers, corset saleslades, even a few mothers, admitted that the young girl with the athletic figure looks well without a corset.

"Lose her shape? Nonsense," exclaimed a north shore dressmaker, "the young girl has no shape to lose."

French figures don't lie, perhaps. But it is wise for most American figures to do a bit of concealing, according to a fashionable modiste who recommends the corset to the Chicago woman.

"More and more women are giving up the corset," is the opinion of Mme. A. Ripley, "but the middle aged woman, or the stout woman can never give them up. Their muscles sag too much. Young girls? Why, to tell the truth, I don't know a girl who wears a corset.

"Seventy-five per cent of the women should wear corsets, now and forever," declared the advertising manager for a large corset house. A fashion edict cannot change an Amazon into a sylph, believes the gentleman who warns women that unless they wear corsets men will be turning their eyes heavenward when walking down Michigan boulevard.

The head of a corset department in a loop store reminded the women that the modern corset bears no more resemblance to the antiquated stays of their grandmothers than the golf course does to croquet.

Do you wear 'em? The burden of the proof's on you.

France's President, Japan Crown Prince Applaud U. S. Actors

BY D. L. STONE.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, June 7.—The performance of James K. Hackett and Sybil Thorndyke in the Odeon, under the auspices of the French government, was a joint triumph. It probably was the high water mark of their two careers. The audience was the most brilliant, including in the upper left hand box President Millerand, the crown prince of Japan, the Japanese ambassador to Paris, and Mme. Millerand. The box of Ambasador Wallace was visited and also other notables. The British embassy was in an opposite box. The remaining boxholders were from upper French circles and leaders of the American and British colonies in Paris. The remainder of the house was brilliant.

Leslie Faber was a fine MacDuff. John Drinkwater appeared in the part of Banquo. Miles Malleson did some character work in the porter scene. George Middleton and Mary Young Craig appeared in non speaking rôles. The scenery and orchestra were brought from England, and were handled without a hitch by the French scene shifters.

District Deputy of the Illinois Masons Is Dead

Bert E. Uebele, 6330 Greenwood avenue, a member of all Masonic bodies, vice president of the Masonic hospital, and district deputy grand master of Illinois, died Monday night.

DORIS BLAKE'S ANSWERS

Seems to Like Him.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am a boy 18 years of age and I am in love with a girl of 16. I think she loves me by the letters she sends me. She is now in my home town, and seems to like me. But she seems to want to have other fellows and still go with me. What do you advise me to do?

"V. P."

Aw, now, V. P., you mustn't expect a girl of 16 to give you her whole and undivided attention. You should be thankful for the letters and the blessed occasions she does favor you with.

Why Permit It?

"Dear Miss Blake: I have been out several times with a young man for whom I have a great liking. He has always acted in the nicest way possible toward me and I was led to believe that he liked me. Now he does all he can to hurt my feelings. He even insults me in the presence of his friends and also my friends. I cannot understand what the cause of this is. I am sure that there is no other girl.

"QUAINT."

Does he really insult you, Quaint, or is jealousy working ravage in your judgment? Surely, if the former be the case your self-respect would not permit a repetition after one offense.

borrow from a famous cartoonist, have been supplanted by the days of the unreal sports dress. Some of this attire as practiced by the woman whose athletic record never goes beyond tea-ing off on the front veranda is indeed too fantastic to be called real. However, among these specimens there is a variety of practical models from which to choose.

Above we are showing a simple but effective costume combining natural color pongee with jade green georgette. This alliance of fabric is exceedingly popular this year, and often the pongee is touched off by bindings of figured foulard in either of those two colors which go best with the natural color pongee—green or red.

Here the skirt of jade georgette is plaited, and a sash of the same material is further reinforced by bindings of crêpe at neck line and sleeves.

WHEAT AND RYE BULGE; CORN AND OATS TAKE DROP

BY CHARLES D. MICHAELS.

Wheat and rye prices advanced and corn and oats declined. The movement of values was irregular and the finish found wheat unchanged for July and ¼c higher for September. Corn lost ⅞@1c and oats ⅜@⅝c, while rye gained ½c for July and was unchanged for September.

Crop reports were mixed and had considerable effect. Early export business was reported as slow, but improved on a break in wheat, with 500,000 bu sold at seaboard, Germany being a buyer. There were sales here of 75,000 bu for export and 600,000 bu are being moved out on previous sales. Charters were for 1,500,000 bu corn.

The leading factors in wheat were the bearishness of the local trade and the Le Count crop report estimating the winter wheat yield at 550,000,000 bu, the lowest out so far.

Wheat Bulges, Breaks, Rallies.

Traders bought on the Le Count report and got long on the bulge, while the big commission houses and local professionals took advantage of the rise to sell all that buyers would take, and the bulge of 4c was lost for a time, only to be largely regained at the last on export buying for seaboard account. July ranged $1.28¼@1.32¾, with the close at $1.30. September came in for more attention and advanced to $1.19, with the close at $1.17@1.16¾.

The disposition of traders is to sell July and buy September. On all breaks seaboard operators come in, absorb offerings, and create a bulge, which keeps the trade nervous. Good reports from the northwestern crop and of harvesting starting in southern Kansas and Indiana led to selling, but traders do not stand long on their sales when the market turns against them.

Corn Has Heavier Tone.

Corn had a heavier tone and declined more than 1c to 63¾c for July, with the close near the inside. Duluth was said to have sold corn at 2¼c over Chicago July, c. i. f. Buffalo for No. 2 yellow, which is too low for this market. Later seaboard operators sent bids here for round lots. Good buying to close spreads between corn and wheat assisted in absorbing the offerings of local operators and hedgers.

Oats made their highest prices around the start and lowest near the close. July was down to 38½@38⅜c and September to 40¼c, where the latter closed. Selling of July and buying of September by the same leading interests that have been active in that line for nearly a week was continued. A leading cash house sold July and September freely at the start, which filled buyers up, and it took them the rest of the day to unload. Crop reports were favorable and harvesting has started in the south.

Hedging sales of new crop rye were absorbed by seaboard operators. This, with spreading between wheat and rye, furnished most of the business. Cash sales were at 15c over July.

United Kingdom After Lard.

New York reported the United Kingdom after lard, and local packers said there was a little business all the time. Fat backs have been picked up fairly, and the south is taking a little meat. Speculative trading was light, with offerings small, and prices advanced and closed with gains of 10c on lard and 22½@25c on ribs. Prices follow:

CASH·GRAIN NEWS

Export sales of wheat at the seaboard yesterday were reported at 500,000 bu, while Chicago handlers sold 75,000 bu to the seaboard. Charters were made here for 1,250,000 bu corn at 8c to Montreal, and 250,000 bu at 1¾c to Buffalo. A cargo of 250,000 bu wheat cleared from Chicago Monday and there was 350,000 bu loading for Montreal yesterday.

Domestic shipping sales were 12,000 bu wheat, 40,000 bu corn, and 110,000 bu oats, with 250,000 bu oats sold to go to store.

Premiums on red winter at Chicago were unchanged to ½c higher, while hard winters were firm. No. 1 red brought 23@24c over and No. 1 hard 30@33c over the July. Springs advanced 2@10c, with No. 1 northern 28@35c over July. Receipts, 37 cars.

Cash wheat in outside markets was firmer, with St. Louis up 2@4c and Omaha 3@4c, while Kansas City was unchanged to 1c higher. At Minneapolis premiums were unchanged to 3c lower, the latter on the poorer kinds.

Offerings of cash corn were not large and some cars of yellow sold at a fractional premium over the July, while white went mainly at July price, and mixed at ½c under. Sample values were ¼@½c lower. Receipts, 645 cars. Outside markets were generally unchanged to 1c higher.

Bulk of the No. 2 white oats offered in the sample market sold at ¼c under the July. Sample values were ¼@½c lower. Receipts, 265 cars.

NEWS OF THE CROPS

George M. Le Count the Stein, Alstrin & Co. crop expert, took the trade by surprise yesterday in estimating the total winter wheat crop at 558,000,000 bu, as compared with the government May returns of 628,000,000 bu and a harvest of 577,000,000 bu last year. The greatest losses were in the southwest as the result of drought and weak condition of the plant. Hessian fly, hail, and heavy winds also brought deterioration. The Kansas crop is estimated at 100,000,000 bu, Nebraska 45,000,000 bu, Oklahoma 26,000,000 bu, Texas 13,000,000 bu, and Missouri 36,000,000 bu. Practically all of the oats seen have started to deteriorate. Greater part of the crop is up, stand is good, and soil conditions are favorable.

R. O. Cromwell in his report to E. W. Warner & Co. from Edwardsville, Ill., said oats below Springfield were thin and short and below normal, but this is not a large oats section. Logan and McLean counties below average. Northeast of Springfield there is enough moisture, but southwest from there it is very dry. All wheat seen is above an average and harvesting will start in ten days, or about eighteen days ahead of normal. Chinch bugs threaten corn and some oats.

"Eastern Indiana promises a fair wheat crop but not a large one," wired John Inglis to Logan & Bryan from Terre Haute, Ind. "Wabash bottoms thin and below average. Including uplands and bottoms, there will be a possible average of 15 bu per acre. Oats not promising. Heading short. Corn has a good start. Fields well cultivated."

Winnipeg Free Press' crop report on the Canadian northwest shows excellent conditions for wheat and coarse grains. Wheat is well advanced. Very little old wheat left in farmers' hands.

BANKERS' OFFICIALS MEET TODAY.

A meeting of the executive committee of the Illinois Bankers' association will be held this afternoon at the Congress, preceding the annual convention which will open at the hotel tomorrow for three days.

WORLD'S·GRAIN MARKET·NEWS

The June government crop report is due in Chicago at 2:15 o'clock today. The winter wheat crop is estimated at 558,000,000 to 610,000,000 bu, compared with 629,000,000 bu last month and 578,000,000 bu harvested last year. A condition of 80 will show 592,000,000 bu, and will compare with 78.8 last month and 78.2 last year. First official returns on spring wheat are to be given. The private estimates are for an acreage of 17,652,000 to 17,711,000, a loss of 8 to 9 per cent from last year; condition 93 to 95, and a crop of 244,000,000 to 275,000,000 bu. Last year's harvest was 209,000,000 bu and the June condition was 89.1. Oats acreage is expected to show a small decrease, private estimates being 43,100,000 to 43,200,000, compared with 43,232,000 last year. Condition 84 to 87, compared with 87.8 last year, and a harvest of 1,526,000,000 bu.

Many wheat traders were bearish at the close last night, while those who watch the operation of exporters at seaboard were friendly to the buying side. The latter based their operations on the heavy purchases by seaboard houses on the break, which took the surplus off the market. They said so long as the seaboard houses continue to increase their holdings and take the cash wheat there was no use selling on breaks, as they are not expected to hold. In case of the seaboard buying ceasing at any time a break is looked for.

A corn trader figures that 4,000,000 bu July corn have been bought the last two days, against sales of wheat to close spreads. He estimates this buying has been a sustaining factor in corn. With this buying out of the way he says there should be a break. Country offerings of cash corn were said to be lighter yesterday owing to the decline.

There was some selling of September oats yesterday against purchases of September corn at around 24½c difference.

Freight rates on grain from Buenos Aires to Europe have advanced 3s 6d to 5s per ton in the last week. Loading of steamers is in full swing at Buenos Aires, due to the collapse of the port strike.

Italy has abolished all restrictions relative to control of prime necessities such as rationing of bread, etc. It is expected that France will impose an import duty on foreign wheat going into that country, as the food minister has promised to protect the farmer this year.

Some of the corn shippers here are looking for an advance in lake rates to Montreal, believing that congestion will develop at that port shortly owing to the large amount of grain scheduled to be moved out from Chicago this and next week.

Raymond E. Andrews, Victor W. Sterling, Frederick Frohman, all of Chicago, also J. L. Fossett of Normal, Ill., and Claude E. Campbell of South Bend, Ind., were elected to membership in the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday.

LIBERTY BONDS AND THE VICTORY NOTES FIRM UP

New York, June 7.—[Special.]—Trading in the bond market today increased but there was no uniformity to the trend of prices. One bright spot was the firmness in Liberty bonds and Victory notes, where gains of from 10 to about 50 cents occurred, with the exception of the 3½s, which continued under special pressure, selling as low as $87.70 before there was any improvement.

BRIGHT LIGHTS TO GLOW ALONG LAWRENCE AVE.

BY AL CHASE.

Plans to make Lawrence avenue between Sheridan road and Broadway one of the brightest lighted sections of the Wilson avenue district were completed yesterday by C. C. Kennedy of the newly formed real estate firm of Lawrence & Kennedy. Contracts were signed for the installation of ornamental metal posts, topped with 500 watt tungstens every 50 feet on each side of the street. The cost will be in the neighborhood of $4,000. The twelve property owners along the street have agreed to finance the project. Lights will glow within forty days.

In connection with the move to improve Lawrence comes the purchase by Walter G. Young long time north side realtor, from Nicholas Kuhnen of the 150x50 at the southwest corner of Lawrence and Kenmore, improved with a twelve flat building, for a reported $90,000 subject to $30,000, C. C. Kennedy, now of Lawrence & Kennedy, at the time the sale was negotiated with Curto & Co., was broker. Mr. Young intends to remodel the first floor into nine stores as soon as possible and later on, when leases permit, to change the upper floors into offices. He has not yet secured an architect.

5¾% Loop Loan.

Interest rates apparently are slipping. Edgar M. Snow & Co. report having made a loan of $70,000 for five years at 5¾% on the ground under the Hartford building, 50x92½, which is under a ninety-nine year lease from May 1, 1892, to the Hartford Deposit company at a net ground rental of $27,000 yearly.

The eight flats at 4005-07 Grand boulevard have been sold by the Grand Boulevard District Property Owners' association to Adamson & Kapley through Joseph E. Forbich of the Peoples Real Estate, Loan and Insurance company, for $26,000.

Edward I. Hadesman and others have bought from Belle Dimsdale the twelve flats at the southeast corner of Champlain and 63d, lot 60x125, for a reported $45,000, subject to $28,000. Selz & Southman were brokers.

North Side Sale.

Gilman C. Fera has sold to H. P. Clouse of Milford Center, O., through the George W. Stewart company, the eighteen flats at 746-50 Brompton place, for a reported $96,000, subject to $80,000. J. G. Upton represented the seller.

The six flats at 119-21 East 75th street have been sold by Richard Powers to J. C. Smith of Mississippi for a reported $35,000. A. L. Dean and the Stewart company were brokers.

In the sale of the eighteen flats at Dorchester and 54th for a reported $125,000, subject to $55,000, given in this column yesterday, a line giving the buyer and seller was dropped out. Douglas Gunn was grantor and Dr. C. A. Moore of Sioux City, Ia., the grantee. The George W. Stewart company was broker.

NEW U. S. ISSUE FOR 3 YEARS TO AID REFINANCING

BY O. A. MATHER.

The first step in the United States government's plan to refinance its $3,000,000,000 of floating indebtedness by replacing the present short term treasury certificates of indebtedness by longer term obligations will be announced by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon today. This initial move will consist in offering for public subscription an issue of three year treasury notes bearing 5¾ per cent interest. At the same time there will be offered a new issue of one year certificates of indebtedness bearing 5½ per cent interest. The combined offering will be for $500,000,000 or thereabouts.

In this new program of financing the current needs of the government, Secretary Mellon is doing what the foremost bankers of the country long have urged. Heretofore the treasury has met its needs by offering every month succeeding issues of treasury certificates of maturities ranging from three months to a year.

New Plan Aids Banks and Trade.

This practice has had the double effect of periodically throwing a burden on the banks, as the great bulk of these issues have been floated through the federal reserve system, and of taking out of the money market large sums which otherwise would be available for the needs of business and industry. Again, the banks were not able to forecast at any time what sums the treasury might need from month to month, the certificate issues ranging from $100,000,000 to $600,000,000.

The effect of the new program will be to enable the treasury and the banks to place these new government securities with investors just as Liberty bonds and corporation bonds have been placed. It also will obviate the former periodical government refinancing operation, which always has been more or less of a disturbing influence on the money market.

Have Tax Exempt Feature.

Aside from the high interest yield the new treasury notes hold other attractive features. They will be straight three year notes running from June 15, 1921, to June 15, 1924; will not be subject to redemption before maturity, will be acceptable in payment of income and profits taxes payable within six months before maturity, and will bear the same tax exemption features as treasury certificates of indebtedness. Interest will be payable semi-annually and at maturity the notes will be payable in United States gold coin.

The high yield and tax exemption features will enable the new notes to compete successfully with state and municipal bonds, a flood of which has been marketed within the last few months, and has proved attractive to wealthy investors. At the same time the new government issues are likely to prove a bar to any lowering of interest rates on new corporate securities and may discourage somewhat further flotations of foreign government bonds in this country.

Runs Three to Five Year Maturity.

Secretary Mellon in a letter to the bankers of the country said it is the purpose to vary the monthly offerings of treasury certificates from time to time with issues of the short term notes in moderate amounts, with maturities of from three to five years.

Under the plan for issuing three year notes he believes it will be less difficult to handle the refunding operations necessary before the Victory notes mature in May, 1923. By the time the Victory notes, which on May 31 amounted to $4,022,116,555, mature, what remains of the present floating debt of about $2,500,000,000 will have been extended beyond that time. Liberty bonds begin to mature in 1928.

The New York Times.

New York, June 7.—[Special.]—Foreign exchange rates and market prices moved in close accord today; in both a further decline was followed by active buying which reversed the direction of the movement. While stocks closed with irregular net changes, the recovery of foreign exchange was of substantial proportions.

Some early declines in industrial stocks were violent, a few running to 3 and 4 points. This weakness, however, affected only part of the market and presently showed itself to be the result of attacks by large professional speculators for the purpose of covering their own previous sales. These subsequent repurchases were made on a large scale.

The day's business exceeded a million shares for the first time in a month, and in several instances industrial shares which had been weakest in the early hours closed at considerable net advances. Railway shares did not recover from Monday's 2 point decline, but they closed no lower today, despite overnight confirmation of the taking of a "labor referendum" on the cut in railway wages ordered by the federal labor board.

Sterling, reported to have sold as low as $3.76 in London before business opened at New York, started at $3.77 in Wall street, then ran up rapidly to 3.81¾, at which it closed. Apparently sales for remittances of reparations money were suddenly suspended, with a resultant hasty scrambling of speculators for the decline to "cover."

While the pound sterling has been falling at New York in the last twelve days from $3.97 to $3.76, it has been rising at Paris from 46¼ francs to 473. At Berlin the sterling rate had fallen during the first half of May from 262¾ marks to 224, but the indemnity remittances carried it back to 252.

This simply means that a stream of capital has been pouring into London from Berlin and Paris, as well as from other continental points, but has been pouring immediately out of London to New York. The ultimate economic effect, even the effect on exchange rates, must apparently depend on what use the European allies make of their new credit balances at New York.

·CHICAGO·STOCK·TRANSACTIONS·

Interest in Chicago stocks centered yesterday in Union Carbide and Stewart-Warner. Trading in these issues represented more than half the total turnover. Carbide was freely sold and declined to 45, which equalled the low mark of the year, but rallied fractionally and closed with a net loss of a minor fraction. Stewart-Warner responded vigorously to official denials of rumors concerning poor business, advancing 1⅝ points. In general the active shares were irregular, while the balance of the list was lower. Libby-McNeill was firmer, while Montgomery Ward declined a major fraction. On small sales Sears-Roebuck advanced a major fraction, while in New York the price rose 1⅞ points. Peoples Gas declined 3 points and lost a fraction in New York. Wilson and Great Lakes Dredge and Dock were off 5¼ and 5 points respectively, Cudahy and Yellow Manufacturing lost 1½ points each and Orpheum declined 1¼ points. On the curb Ford Motor of Canada rose 20 points to a high of 265, because of the declaration of a 15 per cent dividend, but later yielded to 255. Stearns Motor advanced from 23 to 25.

SANTA FE WILL ECONOMIZE, KEEP DIVIDENDS GOING

New York, June 7.—[Special.]—W. B. Storey, president of the Santa Fé, today said the railroad company expects to continue its present dividends on its preferred and common stocks throughout 1921. This is regarded as one of the most important railway announcements in several months.

Mr. Storey, in New York for the regular directors' meeting, when the semi-annual dividend on the preferred stock was declared, said the company had devised plans by which the dividends could be continued at the expense of rigid economy on upkeep. This, he said, would be accomplished in a manner to meet all traffic demands. Even the railway labor board's wage cut will not prevent the company from continuing its program of curtailment in order to keep the dividends going, he added. Mr. Storey was not able to say how far the approximate 10 per cent reduction in wages will permit improvement work, but was of the opinion that under present depressed traffic conditions it was not sufficient.

Rates will come down, he said, if the increase in business enables the carriers to take business at a lower cost than at present.

To show how the company has economized, he pointed out that since December 16,000 men have been laid off, a saving of about $3,000,000. The number put back, he said, will be regulated by the way business picks up and will not be materially governed by the wage reduction.

C&S Conservative Securities

Located at the edge of Chicago, the Interstate Iron & Steel Company's three modern plants are producing about 400,000 tons of essential products per year.

The good will and trade interest of the Chicago district are behind this Company. Its First Mortgage 20-Year 8% Sinking Fund Gold Bonds are, therefore, especially appealing to Chicago investors.

The Company's average net earnings for 8 years to Dec. 31, 1920, were more than three times the interest charges on this issue. It is a Conservative Security which bears our recommendation.

Buy Telephone "Rights"

Almost always buyers of shares through "rights" have seen a handsome advance in those shares.

This of course applies only to sound Companies.

Six months ago the General Electric Co. issued "rights" which sold at prices to make the stock so bought cost from about $115 to $120 per share. The stock now sells at about $137.50 per share.

This is simply an evidence of the Law of Supply and Demand. When a Company issues a large amount of new stock the temporary excess of stock offered, as compared to normal demand, causes the stock to sell down in price and gives the wise investor his chance to buy a bargain.

The American Telephone & Telegraph Company, whose dividend is at the rate of $9 per year, is offering its stockholders the right to subscribe at par to one share of new stock for each 5 shares now owned. The market price of "rights" varies: but suppose the price is 60c, the buyer would pay for

5 "rights" at 60c	$3.00
Commission	.15
	$3.15
Subscription to 1 new share at par (payable in full or in installments)	100.00
New stock costs, per share	$103.15

This, we believe, is a great opportunity to buy one of the soundest investments, to yield nearly 9% return.

We shall be glad to execute your order for "rights" in large or small amounts, and attend to your subscription for you.

RAILROAD NOTES

The proposal of Secretary of Commerce Hoover that the railroads of the country put into effect seasonal rates on coal and other commodities for the purpose of encouraging those shipments during periods of lessened shipping activities has been received unfavorably by the railroads, the secretary declared yesterday.

The application of the receiver of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway of Texas for authority to issue $450,000 receiver's equipment notes and pledge them with the treasury as security for a government loan was approved by the interstate commerce commission. The commission revoked its orders of October, 1920, approving the application of the receiver for the railroad for authority to issue $675,000 of equipment notes.

Charles I. Sturgis, controller of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad, has been elected secretary and treasurer of the same company, succeeding T. S. Howland, who will continue as vice president. H. W. Johnson, formerly assistant controller, will succeed Mr. Sturgis.

$3,000,000

State of North Dakota

10 to 27 Year 5 3-4% State Bonds

Exempt from Federal Income Tax, Including Surtax

(Also exempt from all taxes in North Dakota)

Interest Payable Semi-Annually in Gold, January 1 and July 1, each year at Chicago, New York and Bismarck

Maturities: 1931, 1936, 1941, 1946, 1948
Denominations: $100, $500, $1000

Full Credit Obligation of State

These bonds have back of them the entire resources of the State, amounting to $3,000,000,000, and constitute a full faith and credit obligation of 70,000 square miles of territory, 17,000,000 acres of which are under cultivation.

Special provisions have been written into the constitution safeguarding the payment of both principal and interest, which cannot be changed or repealed until both have been paid.

Special Real Estate Series

In addition to placing behind the Bonds the credit of the entire State, its full taxing power and its total resources, first mortgages on improved North Dakota farm lands have been filed with the State Treasurer as a direct security. They represent approximately 40% of the valuation of the land, and in no case can the valuation be more than 50%, which is the ratio of the statute. These mortgages are on farms under cultivation and the interest is now being paid. As a consequence, an interest fund has already been created. The interest and amortization payments on the mortgages are sufficient to meet the interest payments on the Bonds and retire them at maturity. A further guarantee of sinking fund is assured by direct tax on real estate and personal property.

Resources of North Dakota

Its population, according to the last census, is 645,730. Approximately 30,000,000 acres are occupied by farmers and 17,000,000 acres are under cultivation.

The value of the cereal crop in 1920 was $192,248,000, and of its live stock and dairy products $56,000,000, a total of nearly a quarter of a billion.

Its bonded indebtedness, including this issue, is less than ½ of 1% of the State's assessed valuation.

The total bond issues of North Dakota amount to but little more than 10 cents per acre. For each dollar there is property to the value of $500. The total indebtedness of the State, after the present issues are sold, will be about 1-40 of one year's production.

Purpose of Issue

The purpose of the issue is to stimulate agriculture by advancing to farmers additional capital secured by first mortgages on their improved farms. This plan of rural credits is followed in other States and is on lines similar to the Federal Farm Loan Act.

Legal Investment for Trust Funds

These Bonds offer a legal investment for trust funds and Savings Banks in New York and most other states.

The present State debt outside of this issue is less than $250,000.00; or less than two cents on each $100.00 of the assessed valuation of the taxable property of the State.

This bond issue has back of it the entire resources of a great State—a State with forty-five millions of acres of fertile farm land with hundreds of thriving cities and towns.

The assessed valuation of all taxable property of the State is about $1,500,000,000.00. The bond issue of $3,000,000.00 amounts to but twenty cents to each $100. of valuation.

Validity of Issue

The constitutionality and validity of the law authorizing the Bonds has been passed upon and approved by the District Court, by the Supreme Court of North Dakota, by the United States Federal District Court and by the Supreme Court of the United States in an unanimous decision. Copies of this decision will be furnished by the undersigned.

The legality of this issue has been passed on by Messrs. Wood & Oakley, Chicago

Price 100, to Yield 5 3-4%

All checks must be made payable to The Bank of North Dakota.

The right is reserved to reject any and all applications and to award a smaller amount than applied for.

Interim certificates bearing the same interest will be issued until the Bonds, dated July 1, 1921, are delivered.

We invite the closest investigation of this issue by the most conservative bond buyers.

There was a further upturn in hog values yesterday, sales showing 10@30c gain, with the general average price highest since May 25, at $8.05, against $7.85 Monday, $7.90 a week ago and $10.00 a year ago.

Heavy and mixed packing hogs advanced the most, forcing the narrowest range of prices between common and best offerings of the year, with the average and top kinds only 20c apart. Choicest 184@200 lb shippers sold up to $8.25. Competition was unusually brisk, with most of the packers in the market earlier than usual. The outside demand was active and speculators purchased freely, which added tone.

Cattle Trade Is Slow.

General cattle trade was slow all day at the low time of Monday. The quality was poorer than usual, the best on sale going at $8.80, averaging 1,183 lbs. Several loads of 676@863 lb yearlings sold at $8.75, with 1,693 lb beeves to Wilson & Co. for the New York kosher trade at $8.60. Butcher stock sold steady and calves advanced 25c.

Slight changes were noticeable in the sheep and lamb trade, with early selling the highest. Some spring lambs sold late at 10@15c decline, with best natives and choicest Californias late at $13.75. Yearlings averaging 93@108 lbs sold at $11.00@11.75, fancy aged wethers at $6.00, California ewes at $5.00, and 85 lb Texas yearlings at $8.50.

Receipts at Chicago for the day are estimated at 9,000 cattle, 21,000 hogs, and 11,000 sheep, against 7,865 cattle, 21,134 hogs, and 4,314 sheep the corresponding Wednesday a year ago.

LIBBY-M'NEILL COMPANY OMITS ITS DIVIDEND

Libby, McNeill & Libby, the Chicago food packing concern, yesterday joined the ranks of industrial companies that have discontinued dividends. The directors voted to omit the semi-annual dividend of 50 cents a share on the $10 par value stock, which normally would have been payable July 1.

"This action was taken in the belief it is to the best interests of the company and its shareholders that the company's resources be conserved," President W. F. Burrows explains in a letter to the stockholders. "The directors expect to resume payment of dividends as conditions improve."

Discontinuance of dividends has been expected in La Salle street for several months in view of the company's annual statement for 1920 and its recent flotation of a $10,000,000 ten-year 7 per cent first mortgage bond issue. Heretofore dividends have been at the annual rate of 10 per cent.

Wisconsin Motor Manufacturing.

C. A. E.—The Wisconsin Motor Manufacturing company never made public much information, except in connection with an offer of $300,000 of 8 per cent preferred stock in December, 1918. It was stated then that in the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1918, this company had earned $224,791 net, or several times the preferred dividend. A steady increase of earnings for the preceding three years was reported. Of course, in the absence of detailed nformation, purchases of stock were based principally on confidence in the house offering it. No financial statement has been published since then, as far as we know, and there has been no market for the stock.

Remington Typewriter.

M. G. O., Fort Wayne, Ind.—The Remington Typewriter company earned over 8 per cent in 1920 on $9,966,000 of common stock, compared with 4½ in 1919. The company suffered a severe setback in the beginning of the war, but recovered rapidly and in 1919 cleared up the arrears on preferred stocks. It was supposed to be making good progress and the recent announcement that the coming July dividend on both preferred stocks would be deferred caused surprise. Until a report of recent earnings is issued the stocks must rate as speculative.

Brief Answers.

L. W. S.—The Rome (Georgia) Railway and Light company has $850,000 of first mortgage 5s maturing in 1946. Last year net earnings were $78,155, covering interest nearly twice. In 1919, $72,455 was earned. The company is small and the bonds have only a narrow market. They appear to be fairly well secured.

F. S., Prairie du Chien, Wis.—Butler Brothers have but one class of stock. It is of $20 par, is paying 12½ per cent a year and sells at about $33 a share. Montgomery-Ward is paying nothing on common.

F. C. P., St. Louis, Mo.—The Sweets Company of America is reported to have operated at a loss in 1920. It is stated that it will issue no annual report for that year. In May of this year it was said to be operating at a profit.

Butter prices advanced ½c for 92 scores and 1@2c for under grades, there being a general evening up. Stock is being withdrawn from storage and sold at a profit. New York and other eastern markets were firmer, with lighter arrivals and a fair trade.

Cantaloupe melons are coming from California and 30 cars were on track here. Standard crates are $4.50. Eleven cars of watermelons were on track and sales slow at $500.00@650.00 per car.

Strawberries were lower, with receipts equal to 21 cars from Michigan.

PAIGE REBUILT

When Bird-Sykes say "rebuilt Paige," they do not mean merely "shined up," "tightened up," and "tuned up." Rebuilt, in the Bird-Sykes shop, means taking apart motor, transmission, and rear axle—measuring or testing parts to determine wear—replacing worn parts with new—rebuilding—adjusting—tuning up—repainting body—refinishing top and upholstery. That is why a Bird-Sykes rebuilt Paige satisfies the eye as a new car and its performance is the same as new.

Guaranteed by Bird-Sykes.

Every Rebuilt Paige is guaranteed by Bird-Sykes to be as represented and in perfect mechanical condition, and if anything turns out unsatisfactory within a reasonable time Bird-Sykes make it good without cost to the purchaser.

Easy Terms—No Brokerage Charge.

We do not ask our customers to pay the exorbitant rates charged by so-called automobile bankers in order to buy of us on deferred payments. You can buy a Bird-Sykes Rebuilt Paige on easy terms, paying only ordinary bank interest rates on deferred payments.

PAIGE 6-42, 5 Passenger Touring, 1920. Same chassis and body as now being delivered in our 6-44, except for ⅛ inch difference in bore of motor. Top and upholstery practically new. Cord tires all around and rebound snubbers; nickel plated bumpers fore and aft. When you see this car you will admit it is the finest car you can possibly get for $1,450.

PAIGE LARCHMONT SPORT MODEL, 6-55. Rebuilt and refinished battleship gray with black trimmings. Has 5 good tires, bumper, spotlight, etc. This is one of the best looking sport cars on the street and is a real buy at $1,550.

PAIGE ESSEX MODEL, 6-55, 7 Passenger Touring. Rebuilt and refinished dark blue. 5 good tires, wire wheels, good top and upholstery. This is one of the roomiest cars ever turned out by the Paige Company and is a wonderfully easy riding family car. Only $1,400.
